French Prepare Reply to British Note On Reparations

REPUBLICAN FORCES PLAN ACTIVE FIGHT

POINCARÉ TO SUBMIT NOTE TO CABINET

French Premier Gives Careful Reading to British Documents.

Views Exchanged

Easier Feeling is Apparent in the Foreign Office at Paris.

(Canadian Press.)
Paris, July 23.—Premier Poincaré, who gave the British reparations documents received from London last week a careful reading on Saturday, began a serious study today of the proposed reply to Germany. He went over the document with Count De Peretti de La Rocca, director of political affairs of the foreign office and Jacques Seydoux, economic adviser of the foreign office, with a view to presenting the whole situation to the French cabinet when it meets at the Quai d'Orsay tomorrow.

Exchanges of views between Paris and Brussels are going on actively meanwhile. The reply to London will probably be made before the week-end and possibly soon after the French cabinet has passed on the question. Poincaré is very anxious to complete the desire of the British cabinet to obtain a prompt reply, cancelled an engagement to go to London today and put off all his other work so as to concentrate upon the reparations question. It is thought in official circles that in keeping with his customary rapidity of action he will have the reply, roughly drafted, ready to submit to the cabinet at tomorrow's meeting, unless the negotiations with Brussels cause some delay.

The premier has succeeded in constructing an airtight compartment around the documents received from London and it seems unlikely that anything regarding them will leak out until Premier Baldwin has received the French and Belgian replies.

The only indication of the trend of the negotiations is the easier feeling in evidence around the foreign office. The optimism shown in official circles generally is offset by the speaker's speech at Villers-Cotterêts yesterday in which he was considered to have made plain France's unwillingness to accept a revision of the reparations commission's estimate of Germany's capacity for payment.

Rector Brands Views Of Anglo-Catholic Conference Traitorous

Toronto, July 23.—Preaching yesterday morning at Christchurch, Toronto, Rev. Canon Woodcock, the rector, entered his protest against the doctrines laid down at the Anglo-Catholic conference which was held last week. This conference, the canon said, professed to be composed of members of the Church of England. But the views it promulgated were contrary to those of that church and might be regarded as traitorous. Those entertaining these views were in the wrong church. The Church of England could enter into no arrangements with the church of Rome, the principles of the two churches being altogether different.

The Church of England was both Catholic and Protestant. It was Catholic in that it was a part of the universal church and it was Protestant in that it had protested against the domination of the Roman Pontiff. In the Magna Charta it had asserted its freedom and the trend of legislation down to the reformation was antagonistic to the claims of authority of the Pope.

MAKE IT BETTER AT UNION AND P. EDWARD COR.

Question Comes Up at City Hall Meeting Over Gasoline Tank Application.

At a meeting of the city commissioners this morning Commissioner Bullock reported that the brick building in Water street, occupied by the Memorial Workshops, must either be repaired or torn down. The C. N. R. had practically said they would not submit to the suggested extension of the tracks there unless the city gave them the street, their offering if the city would tear down the buildings the railway would pay $300 a year. He, for one, would accept any such offer. The building was insured for $4,000, the premium being $88. It was estimated the repairs would cost about $3,000, and this would enable the city to get a fair revenue from the property. It was recommended that the city should report on the cost of repairs.

Five "Widows" Claim Share in Estate of Late Mexican Bandit

El Paso, Texas, July 23.—While five "widows" put in their claims of a share of the estate of a famed bandit from El Paso, Texas, the proceedings officially to investigate the assassination of Gen. Francisco Villa, the retainers of the murdered chief and revolutionary Durango, threaten a war of revenge, according to a special message from Parral to the Chihuahua Daily News. Although most of the people of Canutillo have been occupied with viewing the remains of Gen. Villa, says the correspondent, "certain evidences" have been noted that the Villistas of the general's estate are getting ready for war. Considerable movement is in progress, guerrilla fights having already started out in search of the children's assassins. Some have credited the rumor that Villa's followers will attack Parral in retribution. Parral is most unlikely, in Parral all military precautions have been taken.

Mr. Dunne was critically ill both before and after the operation, his physician said, but is now convalescing and should be discharged from the hospital in less than a month.

Finley Peter Dunne became a public character in 1898 following the publication in a Chicago paper of a series of sketches in the Irish dialect, based upon the opinions of "Mr. Dooley."

The sketches afterwards were incorporated in a book, which was widely circulated here and abroad. Through "Mr. Dooley's" comment on the Spanish War the author made the acquaintance of Admiral Dewey, and became one of Dewey's friends. Mr. Dunne also knew the late Theodore Roosevelt, and was one of the few admitted to the Colonel's bedside during an illness.

His character of humorist has not deserted Mr. Dunne, according to the physician in charge, who indicates his reaction to illness as no departure from his usual "natural" attitude.
