FROM SIAM

This photo and market report from Siam will interest the whole family. Dad may be glad of the information that the failure of the rice crop in Siam has been one of the causes of the sharp advance in the price of that important food stuff, and why can compare her new bonnet with that the Laotian woman is wearing. And think of the laughs the children will get out of it. The Laotians, by the way, form an important part of Siam's agriculture population, the women being notable for their native costumes, which includes the picturesque headgear shown here.

1. The continuation of the twenty per cent war bonus, granted last session.

2. The question as to whether, in granting pensions to widowed mothers, their other resources should be considered.

3. Whether the board of pensions commissioners should be allowed to commute sentences of less than twenty per cent disability.

4. Whether widows' pensions were adequate.

Further, the scope of the committee was broad. Other pertinent matters might be brought up. But the committee, Mr. Rowell remarked, in reply to a question from Mr. Maharg, would deal with pensions of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.
