A Lesson to Lovers.

e her your cheerful service dear; The Lord He love ha cheerful giver. "You will see that my breakfast is piping hot, And rub the clothes to a showy whileness; Make golden butter and snowy rolls, And polish th'ngs 'o a shining brightness; Will darn my stockings and merd my coats, And see that the buttons are sewed on tight! You will keep things cheen;'ul and neat and swe That home's altar fires may still burn bright!

"You will read me at evening the daily news,
The tedions winter nights be guilling.
And never forover that the sweetest face
Is a cheeful face that is always smiling.
In short, you'll arrange in a general way
For a sort of sublumary bearen.
For, home, dar Besen, say what we may,
Is the highest sphere to a woman given."

The lark sang out to the bending sky,
The bobolink piped in the nodding rushes,
And out of the toss lave blooms
Came the sweet. I song of the mead this sheet.
And Basse, lister in: I see awhile,
Then said, with a styling a large at her neighbor
"But, John do you mean—that is to say,
What shall I get for all this labor?

And Bessie gaily went her way
Down through the fields of scented clover,
But never again since that summer day
Has she wun a glance from her rustic lover,
The lark sings out to the bending sky,
The clovers toss in the symmer wind,
But Bersie has lost that chance forever.

We will get out of the willerness if you can stick to me on this line, and will get over into heaven where there is grapes and pomegranates in abundance.
