holiday, and, in the case of those who could do so, to go out of town for the day. Doubtless the failure to have a motable celebration of the day, shoh as would attract people from outside points, was largely due to the fact that there was no disposition to detract from the success of the statistican as an attraction. But there will be no ez-hibition this year, and the Star there-tore begs to suggest that we have in this city a right royal celebration of the national holiday. Several good reasons may be ad-vanced in its favor. In the first place the day is one worthy of special ob-

from the business standpoint there is an argument in favor of a special effort to attract visitors to the city. There are several organizations in the city which could co-operate and provide a spiendid entertainment for the day and eccura PROMOTION FOR A WOMAN. Mrs. Dita H. For example, the Royal Kennebeccasis Yacht club should be able to prepare a programme that would bring yachts here from Digby and the St. Croix. The firsmen should be able to arrange for sports and a procession. The Neptune Row-ing club and the base ball teams and the trotting park could be counted on to provide good sport. The Haymar-ket Square and north and south end Polymorphian clubs could make the event an occasion to display their well known skill as entertainers. While the public taste on such occa-sions runs largely toward amusement, the day and evening. For example there could also be exercises, relating especially to the day itself, and the great event it commemorates. Why should not St. John mark the first year of the new century by a rousing celebration of the nationa holiday?

NORE HYPNOTISTS. (St. Croix Courier.) Trofessor 5' ank Farnsworth and his wife, Fannie E. Farnsworth, are giv-ing good exhli 'lions of the hypnotic art in St. Croix 1 all. On Tuesday evening a subject was made rigid and placed across two chairs, his head resting on the back of one and his feet on the back of the other. Then a large block of granite was placed on the rigid body and broken by blows of a sledge hammer. Subjects are made to per-form many ridiculous feats, and the entertainments are both instructive and amusing. Both Professor Farns-worth and his wife, formerly Miss Fan-nie Jacobs, are natives of St. Stephen, where they have many friends. They mastered the art of hypnotism about five years ago and have since given ex-hibitions in many parts of the United states and with success. is talk of an automobile service during the sum-mer months between Halifax and the beach at Cow Bay. <section-header><section-header> (Toronto Weekly Sun.) The blind Bamson, shorn of his locks, ad grinding in the mills of the Phills nes, is truly a pathetic picture, and has never found a truer modern extines, is truly a pathelic ploture, and ti has never found a truer modern ex-emplification than in the minister of trude and commerce. Touager men, men of less magnitude, who are elevat-ed in the public mind by almost any official position, men of less logical minds and less economic understand-ing, fall naturally into such a posi-tion, and excite no surprise. But why a man of Sir Blohard Cartwright's standing in the dominion should for-felt so much to occupy a seat in the cabinet—a position he might have dig-mined, but which could not add to his reputation as a public man-passes comprehension . . There is no sad-der sight than the moral collapse of a man of intellectual eminence, and it is tr be hoped that the historian of our political development will discover, some other and more pardonable ex-planation of Sir Richard Cartwright's apostacy.
