

POWELL AGREED TO DROP
POLITICS AND GET DOWN
TO BUSINESS THIS MORNING

Mr. Tweedie replied that no money was paid by the government without orders-in-council.

Mr. Pugsley objected to the question. The road had other assets and further he explained that the government would guarantee the company's bonds.

Mr. Pugsley said that Mr. Powell made statements that were not correct. Mr. Powell said that he was not better than they.

Mr. Carvell said that the company had no resources outside of what the government gave them. Mr. Carvell remarked that if Mr. Powell stopped trying to make political capital out of this and got down to getting information they would get along faster.

MRS. HAINS DECLARES
HER INNOCENCE
Says There Was No Excuse for the Shooting.

No Reconciliation Affected Between Husband and Wife—That Automobile Ride Explained.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Interest in the case of the Hains brothers, now awaiting indictment and trial for the murder of Wm. E. Anns on the boat of the Bayville, L. I. Tack, Club, Saturday, centered on the fact that Mrs. Hains, the captain's wife, had never been guilty of improper conduct with Anns.

Frank G. Wild, Mrs. Hains' attorney, issued a formal denial of the allegations made against his client, insisting that she signed confessions to the contrary, notwithstanding, Mrs. Hains had never been guilty of improper conduct with Anns.

Weldon C. Percy, first lawyer called on to defend Captain Hains and his brother, refused to comment in the various statements. In respect to the much-exploited incident of the automobile ride from which Captain Hains took Anns just after his return from the Philippines, however, Mr. Percy threw a new light.

"The captain," said he, "returned with the conviction that the guests from the boat, Anns and his wife, were absolutely without foundation. He studied upon a way to speedily remove the guests from the boat, and he decided that the best way would be to invite Anns to dinner."

Mr. Percy said that the captain was in full possession of his faculties at the time she signed the confession. He said that the confession is ridiculous. Fully twelve hours elapsed between her moral and her written confession.

WOULD BE NEGRO THIEF
WAS NEARLY LYNCHED
Mob of 1500 People Almost Ended Life
Colored Man in Lynch.

LYNN, Mass., Aug. 19.—A mob of 1,500 people, with shouts of "lynch him, lynch him," tried to take away Henry Tyler, a negro, aged 30 years, from a reserve police officer in an alleyway near the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company's building here tonight, and had severely assaulted the colored man when seven police officers came to the rescue and succeeded in getting the prisoner to the station house before he was more badly hurt. Tyler, who was but recently released from state prison, was detected tonight by reserve officer W. A. Crawley. It is alleged in the act of breaking into the second hand store and auction shop of George Lambert, on Oxford street, Officer Crawley was sprung at Tyler, who turned upon the policeman. He is charged, and struck him a heavy blow over the head with a cold-chisel with which the negro had been trying to effect an entrance to the building. Although dazed by the blow, Officer Crawley managed to grapple with the negro, at the same time drawing his revolver. The weapon was discharged, but the bullet missed its mark. Tyler then attempted to hit the officer another blow with the chisel, but Crawley warned it off and the negro broke away and ran at full speed down the street, with Crawley in hot pursuit, declaring his revolver was on three times to attract attention.

As the mix-up occurred within a few steps of a crowd of about 1,500 people, a large crowd joined the officer in pursuit of the negro. In desperation, Tyler dodged down an alleyway between the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company's building, where Officer Crawley caught up with him, and the two men fell to the ground, each fighting hard for the upper hand, and both uttering cries. The crowd, which in this time numbered about 1,500, thinking that the officer had been shot, attempted to get at the negro. Someone started the cry, "lynch him," and the mob, when another police officer and a citizen jumped to Crawley's aid to protect the now thoroughly frightened negro. The mob, however, persisted in its efforts to take away the prisoner, when six additional policemen rushed upon the scene, and bowling their way through the mob to Crawley's side, surrounded Tyler and took him to the station house. There he was locked up on the charge of attempt to break and enter and on a police officer. Crawley's wounds were attended to at the hospital, where he was taken immediately and in a short while he was able to resume his duties.

TRIUMPHAL ENTRY
OF AMERICAN FLEET
Enthusiastic Welcome by the Australians.

Brilliant and Pictorial Scenes at the Landing of the Officers—From Inlet Men Take Part.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 21.—Sydney and surrounding districts were filled with life and color today, as never before, for this was the day set apart for the official landing of the American fleet to the harbor of Australia to publicly welcome the bones and sinews of the visiting fleet, officers and men. It was a triumphal entry of the United States vessels into port was ever witnessed that of yesterday, when the warships pushed through the harbor past the headlands, crowded with a cheering multitude. Today Australia had an opportunity to witness the landing of the ships in safety thus far on their voyage around the world.

From Farrer Cove, where the landing occurred, throughout the lengthy line of march the crowds gave enthusiastic evidence of hearty welcome. Large bodies of men from all the ships were brought ashore in the morning in launches. They numbered close to three thousand. In sections they marched to the outer domain, which adjoins the botanical gardens and formed up on the east side of the harbor, where a guard of honor from the British naval forces was drawn up. They were met by the Prime Minister, Alfred Deakin and the premier of New South Wales and his ministers, the Lord Mayor of Sydney and members of the corporation.

Near Admiral Sperry, commanding the fleet, inspected the naval guard and members of the corporation. The scene was a brilliant and picturesque one. The grand pavilion was surrounded by a great green eagle, flitting in the sunlight at the moment of the salute. The members of the various branches of the legislature and government officials, many of whom were accompanied by their wives, were seen in the distance, with the battalions of the water and air, the uniforms of the guard of honor from the Royal Australian Artillery, and the plain colors worn by the Americans.

Lord Northcote extended the hearty welcome to the American fleet, and his officers and men, and congratulated them warmly on the success of the voyage.

George F. Holloway, the original owner of Germans' driving horses, will appear at the coming exhibition, September 12th to 14th. He is the following interesting story to a New York Herald reporter: When Kate and I were kept in one pasture and their mother in another. A river and a high bluff intervened between them and it was believed that neither could get from one pasture to the other so no fence was built. It was such a pasture to me to know how they got there that I decided to watch King and Queen one day. The marvelous jumping or diving of the two horses resulted in my conceiving the idea of utilizing them in the performance they are now being used for. I took the exits in hand and began to train them in jumping from short distances. The two horses showed considerable aptitude for this class work and on striking the water would swim across for a while and then make for the shore, landing in place. The height of the jump was gradually increased and the most remarkable part of the performance was that the horses came to heel like it, the door of the stable was left open and they escaped from their loose stalls and took the dive on their own account. No whip has ever been used on the horses. The training has always been done by kindness to the horses and words of encouragement. This greatest of all their feats will be seen daily before the grand stand, afternoon and evening, during exhibition week, Sept. 12th to 14th.

SEPTEMBER WHEAT.
CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Most of the gossip last night was about September wheat. A big professional trader with the best source of information as to the position of all operators says there are over five million bushels held by a few strong men. There are a few speculators in corn who say they are unable to trace any concentration of holdings although they exist, but the bulls are not telling how large their lines are and are waiting for the shorts to stampede having completed their arrangements for handling the cash crop when delivered. A new high mark for the season in cash wheat prices was made yesterday, when 5,000 bushels No. 1 hard spring wheat was sold to a local miller at 134. The general demand for cash wheat was moderate.
