THE DEAF MADE TO HEAR.

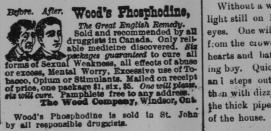

St. Thomas, June 1—A modern miracle was made known today when Mr. Riddle, of this city, announced that he had recovered his hearing. He has been almost entirely deaf, and it borders on the maraculous to find him able to hear everything with great distinctness. As his case is proving of such universal interest, we give Mr. Riddle's own statement. "My hearing was always poor, and not long ago I became almost deaf. It was the result of Catarrhazi Inflammation, but nothing did me good until I used Catarrhozone. It cured my trouble, and I strongly recommend it to the deaf." Fully nine-tenths of the deafness wrought by this remedy in cases of even twenty years standing are really astounding. Among many others, ministers of the gospel testify to the wonderful powers of Catarrhozone, and your druggist can tell of some astounding cases in his own experience. Better give it a trial, if your hearing is impaired. Price $1.00; smoll size 25 cents, druggists of N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S.

nidnight streets rang the sudden alarm. "Fire! fire! fire!"-and past the vicarage house dashed the engine. I threw a cape over my shoulders and joined the crowd gathering in the wake of the fastspeeding vehicle.

A house on fire. Fierce flames, leaping from the burning window, were reflected brightly in the winter sky and poured red ight on the ground, and the eager faces of the crowd watching the scene.

Suddenly above the roar of the flames rises a scream of anguish: "My child, O God, my child !" It is a woman's voice; and there we see her kneeling on the ground, weeping and wringing her hands. the dooned house; but we know, seeing her thus, that her child has been forgotten; we know by the gaze of her eyes that her child is in that burning upper room.

A tremor runs through the crowd. There are brave men and true among that crowd, men whose daily toil brings them face to face with danger and with death; but as they look up to that flaming chamber and see how far short their one ladder reaches, each heart grows sick with despair; what can they do, even though they count their lives as nothing? "My child-O God-my child !"

The poor mother weeps not alone now; women and even men are crying with her. A slight movement causes me to turn my head; and just by my side is that ragged boy, still in the tatters in which I saw nim first. But a strange light is on the pale face now; a strange light glows in his eyes, fixed where the tearful gazo of the mother is fixed; a light like that which must have tilted the eyes of Horatius when ne stood forward to keep the bridge; a light like that which must have glowed in the eyes of the men of the Light Brigade as hey charged into the "valley of death."

Without a word he springs forward, the light still on his face, still glowing in his eyes. One wild deafening cheer rings out from the crowd; and then with throbbing hearts and bated breath we watch the daring boy. Quickly he springs up the ladder an I steps out on the windowledge; and then with dizzy eyes we see him chinging to the thick pipe which runs down the front

Just as the cold gray dawn was breaking, the light of eternity broke upon the spirit of poor little Jim. As I folded his hands and closed his eyes, sightless for evermore to things of earth, I prayed for the same spirit as that which had inspired the heart of that brave dead boy, who knew so little and did so much little and did so much.

The Renewal a Strain.

Vacation is over. Again the school bell rings at morning and at noon, again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all except the most rugged. The little girl that a few days ago had roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health. Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic, which may avert much serious trouble, and we know of no other so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.
