

OBITUARY.

David Brown, Nursery Tree Agent. Woodstock, June 17.—(Special)—David Brown, nursery tree agent, a highly respected citizen, died at his home of nephew, Coun. J. Rankin Brown, Northampton, last night, after a few days illness.

Baruch Tapley. The death of Baruch Tapley took place at Perth, Victoria county, on the 10th inst. Mr. Tapley was a C. P. R. trackman and twin brother of Daniel Tapley of the customs, Madam Junction. His death was due to paralysis and came very suddenly while he was at work. The body was taken to Kilburn and buried there. He was 60 years of age and was unmarried. He formerly lived at Shefford, Sunbury county, but for the past 20 years made his home at Kilburn.

Samuel Butler, Fredericton. Fredericton, June 17.—(Special)—Samuel Butler, one of the most highly respected residents of York county, died this afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Caroline Douglas. Four sons and three daughters survive, among the sons being Contractor W. H. Butler, of Gibson. Some years ago deceased was the foremost builder and contractor in the county. Among the structures he built are the Marysville Methodist church, the residence of Alexander Gibson and the Gibson cotton factory. He was 82 years old. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Dean Hoffman. New York, June 17.—(Special)—A dispatch to the Associated Press from Plattsburgh (N. Y.) announces the sudden death today of the Very Rev. Eugene Augustus Hoffman, D. D., dean of the Protestant Episcopal church. He was in his 70th year.

Mrs. John McFarlane. Woodstock, N. B., June 18.—(Special)—The death took place this morning of Mrs. John McFarlane, after several months' illness from cancer in the stomach. She was aged 60 years and had several children. John McFarlane is a brother. In August last she went to an hospital in Montreal for treatment, but returned home little improved. She was a great sufferer. Her death is a severe loss to a large circle of friends. The body will be interred in St. Andrew's Friday morning.

Mrs. Ellen George. The death occurred Wednesday at 110 Britain street, of Mrs. Ellen George, widow of John George, aged 84 years, and a native of Canada. She was married for the past 37 years a resident of St. John. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Edward F. McNeely, of West East, and Miss Ellen George. The funeral will take place tomorrow.

Mrs. J. J. McCaughrin. The death occurred at Halifax Monday of Mrs. J. J. McCaughrin, of St. John, only daughter of James Mehan, of Halifax. Mrs. McCaughrin, who had been married only 14 months, had been ill for four months. As Miss Mehan she was for years a prominent and most valued member of the choir of St. Patrick's church. Her husband survives.

Capt. Wm. Davis. The death is announced of Capt. William Davis, in Alberta (N.W.T.), last week. Deceased was 70 years of age, a native of Trenton, and well known in St. John. He was a brother of Captain Matthew Davis, of the electronic lab.

Miss Winifred Perks. Friends here of Miss Winifred Perks, of Houlton (Me.), were grieved to learn of her death in New York Monday. During her visit to this city she made many friends. Interment will take place at Fredericton, of which city Miss Perks was formerly a resident.

Mrs. Frederic A. Schofield. Mrs. Frederic A. Schofield, youngest daughter of D. McLaughlin, of St. John (N. S.), died at her home there June 3, aged 27 years. Shortly after her marriage she was stricken with consumption. She spent a year in Boston, where she and her husband took up housekeeping, but last autumn she was advised by her physician that a change of climate would be a benefit to her, and she came to her old home. She had bright hopes of recovering until a week before her death. She was married only one year and seven months and leaves a sorrowing husband, infant daughter, an aged father and mother, and sister, and a large circle of relatives. Many beautiful wreaths were sent, one from Boston, with the word "Wife." At the time of Mrs. Schofield's death her husband was in Boston, having received word a few days previous that she was improving, and funeral was held on the 4th inst., and was largely attended. The service being conducted by Rev. Mr. Trivet, Episcopal minister of Stewiacke, where the interment took place. Mrs. Schofield is a native of Kings county (N. B.).

Prof. Wyatt Johnston. Toronto, June 19.—Prof. Wyatt Johnston, of McGill University, died this morning after an illness of some weeks, brought about by blood poisoning. Doctor Johnston was one of the most prominent of McGill's professors. He graduated from McGill in 1883, and in 1894 took the post of demonstrator of pathology, since when he has risen rapidly. Among other public positions he held was bacteriologist to the provincial board of health and medical expert to the coroner conducting all post mortem examinations. He was born at Sherbrooke (Que.) He took a post graduate course on pathology and bacteriology in Berlin, Germany. He was professor of hygiene in McGill and one of the leading authorities in America on public health. Prof. Johnston was a young man. A wife and family survive.

Sudden Death at Meductic. The death occurred at Meductic on Monday last of George Macdonald, aged 57 years. He has kept a hotel there for many years and was well known. His death was very sudden, he having been about as usual upon the afternoon of the day upon which he died. He leaves a widow and two young children, and one brother, H. H. Marston, of Woodstock. The sudden death has caused much talk in the locality, and suspicious circumstances are hinted at. It is said that the attorney general has been communicated with regarding an investigation.—Fredericton Glenside.

More June Weddings.

In St. Peter's church, North End, Wednesday morning, Rev. Edward Scully, C. S. S. R. united in marriage Frederick L. McCarty and Miss Josephine Walsh. Miss Agnes Owens and Edward Burke attended the bride and groom. The bride wore a blue cloth gown trimmed with black silk, and her attendant wore organdie over heliotrope silk. Many handsome gifts were received.

At the Church of St. John the Baptist Wednesday, Rev. W. C. Gaynor united in marriage George Miller and Miss Jennie McDermott, daughter of George McDermott. The bride wore a gray traveling costume and those in attendance on the wedding party were Miss Maud Drummie and William Shortis. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will reside on Broad street.

At St. George's Church, West End there were two pretty weddings Wednesday evening, one at 7 and one at 8 o'clock. Rev. W. H. Sampson performed. One was the marriage of Miss May McLeod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McLeod, of Carleton, and William Robert Catherwood, of Fairville. Miss McLeod, and Frank B. D. Hopkins was best man. The bride wore white organdie muslin and veil trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a large bunch of pink and white roses. Miss Long wore heliotrope and white organdie and carried white roses. The presents were many. Noticeable was a gold watch and chain set with pearls, from the groom to the bride; a humiliated brass urn from the Ladies' Bible class to the bride, and a gold brooch set with opals from the groom to the bride. The wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, King street. Mr. and Mrs. Catherwood will reside at Lancaster Heights.

At 7 o'clock Miss Sarah Jane Long, daughter of Mrs. Sophia Long, of Carleton, was wedded to George Lee, of Sand Point. The bride was charmingly attired in pearl gray silk and carried a wreath of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Lee will reside at the corner of St. John and Union streets, Carleton.

There was a pretty wedding at St. Paul's church, Oak Point, at 3 o'clock Wednesday, when William A. Seely, son of George E. Seely, was married to Miss Florence, daughter of Daniel Marley, of Oak Point. The wedding took place at 10.30 o'clock and attracted a very large gathering of guests and friends of the bride and bridegroom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Cody, rector of St. Paul's church. The bride looked very pretty in organdie muslin with tulle veil and carried a bouquet of roses. The choir sang the Voice That Breathed O'er Eden. After the ceremony luncheon was served at the home of the bride's father, and the happy couple took their departure by steamer for St. John. They will make an extended tour of Nova Scotia, leaving on Friday evening this morning. The bride was the recipient of a great many handsome presents. The groom's gift was a beautiful gold chain; the bride's father gave her an elegant road wagon, while a silver tea service was also included in the long list.

At the residence of George Pollock, Portland street, at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, his sister, Miss Rose Ella was united in marriage to William R. Mowatt, of Oshawa (Me.). Rev. D. Long of Victoria street Free Baptist church, performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Mowatt left last evening for their future home in Oshawa. Only relatives and immediate friends witnessed the ceremony.

At Trinity church, Springfield, Kings county, at high noon Thursday, in the presence of a large congregation, Miss Olive Blanche Keller was united in marriage to Rothesay Albert McLaughlin by the rector, Rev. R. Coleman. The bride was becomingly attired in a brown traveling suit and carried a bunch of pink roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Clara Keller, who wore a very becoming suit of blue organdie, trimmed with chiffon and carried a bunch of pink roses. The groom was attended by W. M. P. McLaughlin, while little Miss Gladys McLaughlin, of Montreal, charmingly attired in yellow muslin with a picture hat and carrying a basket of yellow daisies, acted as flower girl. The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants, ferns and violets, the altar being a literal bank of flowers. A lunch served at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. William St. Clair Keller, was partaken of by the immediate relatives of the bride and groom, after which Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin left for a trip to the United States. Both bride and groom have many friends in this city who remembered them with a large number of beautiful gifts.

At the cathedral on Wednesday afternoon, Felix H. Conlon was married to Alice Maud Glennie by Rev. F. J. McMurtry. Miss M. Wallace and J. McInerney attended the bridal party. The bride and groom were the recipients of many gifts. They will reside at the corner of Richmond and Brussels street.

The library being erected at Hardwens in memory of William Bennett Gladstone is rapidly approaching completion.

CURRENT OPINION.

Canadian Progress. Steel rails at the rate of six hundred tons a day are being turned out by the Clergue works at the Sault. No wonder the United States manufacturers regard Canadian progress with a jealous eye. And this great sign of national progress would not be witnessed if it were not for the ed, continued and to be continued by Hon. G. W. Ross and his cabinet.—Ottawa Free Press.

British Cable Building. There is a boom in cable building. The British line from London to Columbia to the Orient will soon be open and the American-Philippine line will be in time. There is being discussed in England and Canada the project of a government-owned cable between the two countries. The Canadian complain that British news reaches them in the main through American press agencies and is therefore colored. Some persons think that it is not colored to their disadvantage. The Canadian have said that during the South African war they have frequently had to make a large position of their primary news service. Whether this objection was made necessary by the American writers of the Boer soldiers is not stated.—Washington Star.

English Opinion re the St. Lawrence. We have on many occasions drawn attention to the necessity for increased reliable navigational aids on the St. Lawrence, and are therefore only too pleased to see an opportunity to give credit to those in authority for having taken steps to facilitate the navigation of ocean steamers in these waters. Owing to the need of natural disabilities, some of which can be remedied, Canadian-bound ships have suffered excessively and have therefore been forced to take a longer route, thus effecting insurance. The Hon. Mr. Sutherland, minister of marine, is taking the question up in a general manner, and the press appears to be well satisfied with his efforts, as right as he can. Thus his attitude towards shipping is hailed with considerable elation on the other side, and the press appears to be well satisfied with his efforts, which are the result of conference with shipping interests.—Liverpool Journal of Commerce.

The King of Abyssinia has sent King Edward a dozen or so of Numidian lions as a coronation present. He might with propriety have thrown in a few unicorns and griffins, as the King of the Mandeville type state that the unicorn, the noble brute which helps to hold up the Royal arms, abounds in Abyssinia. Perhaps the King of Abyssinia has a catch and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a constant source of amusement and gratification to the royal children and grand children. It may be noted that the Africans say, "My Majesty, Manu possesses a unicorn, and so has endeavored to make amends for the oversight by throwing in a few zebras, a charming docile beast which will do but very little harm, and a