soner, "I desire to know if you understand the nature of an oath?"

"I don't know what you mean," was the simple answer.

"There, my lord," said the counsel, addressing the bench, " is anything further necessary to demonstrate the validity of my objection? She does not compreend the nature of an oath." "Let us see," said the Judge. . "At-

Assured by the kind tone and manne of the Judge, the child turned toward him, and looked confidingly up in his face, with a calm, clear eye, in a manner so artless and frank, that it went straight to the heart. "Did you ever take an oath?" is quiredthe Judge.

The little girl stepped back with a look of horror, and the red blood mantled in a blush all over face and neck, as she answered, "No sir."

"I do not mean that," said the Judge, who saw her mistake, "I mean were you ever a witness before?" "No, sir; I never was in court before," was the answer.

"Do you know that book?" said the Judge, handing her the Bible open.
She looked at it and answered, "Yes, sir; it is the Bible." Can you tell me what the Bible is?"

inquired the Judge.
"It is the word of God," she an-
