

cepted did not join, and if they did, only remained a few weeks before being discharged. Of the remainder, and excluding the 156 now in residence at the College, some 914 have taken part in the present campaign and of these 141 have made the supreme sacrifice. 398 Gentlemen Cadets have been granted Commissions or enlisted direct from the College since 4th August, 1914, in other words, every Cadet since that date has taken a Commission or enlisted with a view to obtaining one.

Of the five original Canadian Divisions three have been, and two now are commanded by Ex-Cadets as follows:—

1st Division—Major-General Sir A. C. Macdonell, K.C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.

2nd Division—Major-General Sir H. E. Burstall, K.C.B., C.M.G., A.D.C.

5th Division—Major-General G. B. Hughes, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.

Prior to the present war and since 1877 Ex-Cadets have served in practically every Campaign and Expedition that the Empire has engaged in. To quote only two—in the North West Rebellion 37 participated and four were wounded; in the South African Campaign 74 participated and seven were killed or died of wounds.

No wonder, therefore, that the Ex-Cadet has such a splendid reputation throughout the Country and has no difficulty in obtaining lucrative employment, for the habit he has acquired of controlling other men and the discipline he has gone through are exceptionally valuable assets.

The esprit de corps which exists among the Ex-Cadets is particularly strong. There is an R.M.C. Club to which all Ex-Cadets belong and which,
