2 "I'll spread you a couch, upon which to recline
When evening shall call us to rest,
And, also," said she, as she laughed with glee,
"A Washer and Wringer—the best."
"Then so shall it be, love, and good ones at that;
We'll get them from England's far shore."
"Oh, no," she exclaimed, "they have elegant ones
At ALLAIRE & COMPANY'S STORE."

4 "But, Mary, a'as! I must sad'y confess,
My means ar' but slender as yet;
To buy a Machine of the very best kind
Would certainly run me in debt.
A common one for you, it would never please,
The best you must have, and that sure "
She said, with a smile, "you may purchase on lease,
At ALLAIRE & COMPANY'S STORE."

5 "To-morrow then, love, let us journey along
To the popular place Fabrique street.
We'll see there Washers and Wringers and Sewing
Machines;
I as-sure you 'twill quite be a treat.
How many fond souls might be severed for years
From those they so fondly adore,
Were't not for the system of payment they have
At ALLAIRE & COMPANY'S STORE."

6 We went, Happy day! Can I ever forget
The pleasure that beamed in her face,
As she gazed at the Washers and Sewing Machines
In Allaire's most wonderful place,
We bought one of each, and the best of its kind;—
Been married a twelve-month or more,
And Mary is singing this song to her babe
Of ALLAIRE & COMPANY'S STORE."
