

To the Subscribers to, and patrons of, the Scribbler.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

Having at length, by dint of exertion and perseverance, succeeded in restoring the SCRIBBLER to circulation, in defiance of all the attempts made by its enemies to suppress and injure it, I beg leave to offer you my most grateful thanks for your patronage hitherto.

The present number completes the first volume, for which a title-page, preface, and index are preparing, to be delivered gratis to those subscribers who have had the work from the commencement; but for which, nine pence will be charged to others.

The second volume will commence with No. 53, and a weekly number, containing 16 octavo pages, and sewed in a blue cover, will be published in Montreal, distributed as usual, and sent free of postage to all parts of the British dominions in America. Price 9d. per no. or 9s. per quarter, or 17s. 6d. for 6 months, or seven dollars per annum, payable quarterly, in advance. On the blue cover it is proposed to print all such advertisements as I may be favoured with, upon the following low terms, viz.

Six lines and under, first insertion	2s.
And each insertion after,	6d.
Ten lines and under,	3s.
Each insertion after,	7 1-2d.
line, and each insertion after	1d.

To subscribers, only half price will be charged for advertisements.

When, in addition to the low rate, it is considered that the Scribbler has at least as wide a circulation in Lower Canada as any paper, and is besides sent all over Upper Canada, and into several of the States of America, the public will perceive the advantages to be derived from advertising in it.
