PROGRESS OF THE WAR

In this section British, French and Belgian troops have gained much ground from the high patronage of the King and Queen of enemy; and while all have behaved with the Belgians. Further to the east, between the Meus and the Moselle, the French have recovered the whole of the Forest of Le Pretre, and are much nearer the realization their aim of driving the enemy from his position at St. Mihiel. Elsewhere the lines in the western arena, from th Vosges Mountains to the sea, are changed but little from the previous week. In the eastern theatre, the tide of con bat, which for two weeks had flowed steadily in favor of the Teutonic Allies, was turned and is now beginning again to flo in favor of the Russians. In the Baltic Provinces the Germans hold Libau, but their advance eastward has been checked The Russians have retired somewhat in Russian Poland, and in western Galicia have had to straighten their lines to th east of Tarnow, which is now held by the Teutons; but in the south-east of Galicia they have been more successful, and are driving the Austro-German forces back. Only brief and contradictory reports are available of the fighting in the whole of this eastern field, but Petrograd seems to part of the Straits is cleared of mines and follows: the forts on both sides, to the Narrows, are silenced. In the Naval operations on May 13 the British battleship Goliath was torpedoed and sunk, with a loss of over 500 men. A submarine made the entire passage of the Straits and entered the Sea of Marmora, where it torpedoed and sank two Turkish gunboats and a transport. The town of Minos has been destroyed by shell fire of the Allies. The advance Provincial Secretary—Valentine Winkof the Allies on the Peninsula is slowly reaching effect. The turn of German East Africa is now to come. And a good thing it will be, for natives and whites alike, when the last vestige of German rule disappears from the Continent of Africa. However good Germans have individually as colonists as a coloniment Committee appointed to investigate inution of the activities of the submarine "blockade" of British ports, consequent, perhaps, on the horrors of the Lusifania crime.

The outstanding feature of the week has been the note of the American Government, written by President Wilson and signed by Secretary of State Bryan, addressed to the German Government in the matter of the loss of American limited and the mass of the Lusifania and other ships sunk by German submarines. The note is all that it should have been and was expected to be—dignified in tone; clear and explicit, and leaving the way open to the German Government to satisfy the American nation without involving the two countries in war. That the Germans will cease from, or abate in any degree, the inhuman methods they have introduced of believed. Their brutality is ingrained in the third rature, and the words "chivalry" and "humanity" may as well be omitted from their wocabulary.

Another important feature of the week was the publication of the report of Lord Bryce's committee to investigate the alleged German outrages in Belgium, The report is conclusive and damning. It is to be translated into the various European and Assiatic languages, and to be circulated the throughout the world. The whole world will then know what a hideous monster Prussian militarism really is. The monster must be destroyed for ever.

The anti-German riots in Great Britain ave subsided, but drastic measures have been taken either to deport or to isolate and intern all enemy aliens in the country.

Throughout the Empire, but more especially in South Africa, where the provocation has been greatest, violent feel-ings have been displayed against Germany, and much property of Germans destroyed. This is undignified, and worse than useless; but the Lusitania atrocity has aroused the indignation of people throughout the world as has no other crime since Cain slew his brother. Outside of the fighting in Europe, that in German South-West Africa has attracted most attention in the past week. Gen. Botha has at last reached and taken possession of Windhoek, the capital of the Colony; and as the railways are now practically all in the hands of the Union forces, the subjugation of the whole Colony may now be regarded as nearly complete. The importance of this campaign is not easy to gauge, but it will have a farreaching effect. The turn of German South-West Africa, and the losses on both sides great. It is said that besides seven cabinet ministers three other Conservative members have resigned their seats, these including E. L. Taylor and Dr. Orok. These seats will be filled by acclamation in favor of the new government and election contest will thus be avoided, which was deprecated by the leaders of the present cabinet. The new government ment had decided to intern all male aliens of the enemy nationality, and, also, to protect with every force at its disposal, naturalized aliens or those who have applied for naturalization. Africa. However good Germans have been, individually, as colonists, as a colonial governing power the German nation has not been a success. The present war has made manifest the real reason for this—the domination of everything by the State, and the complete subjugation of individuality to police and military regulations and control.

In the past week there has been a diminution of the activities of the submarine "blockade" of British ports, consequent, perhaps, on the horrors of the Lusitania and control that the investigation are considered as probably the mass of evidence now submitted the report of the committee to Premier Asquith. The document is considered as probably the most severe arraignment thus far made of the German military aweep across Belgium, mainly because of the position of Viscount Bryce as a historian, and also because of the care with which the investigation was made, the great number of witnesses whose testimony was examined, and the mass of evidence now submitted the result of an injury received about a year ago.
