It is no longer necessary to forge your small parts, these can be cast to shape and treated, producing results equal to carbon steel at from 10c to 12c per pound.

A feature of this exhibit which should be most interesting to plumbers contractors and machinists, is the Dickson Automatic Wrench, manufactured by the Canadian Tool Steel Company. Limited. This wrench is very unique in its construction. It is strong and durable, instantaneous in its action, and insures perfect safety to the user, as it is impossible for the wrench to slip on the shaft. A demonstrator is constantly in attendance showing the advantage of the Dickson Automatic over other pipe and nut wrenches.
