Seasoned Securities

With many investors security comes first and yield next. No matter how high may be the yield it is no attraction to such investors. The first questions they ask are "How is the issue secured?" and "What have been the earnings over a period of years?"

Such issues are known as seasoned securities. We offer a number of issues of seasoned securities of companies that have been in business a number of years and have an excellent record, both as regards earnings and surplus assets. Do you want our list? Just drop us a line if you do. Better still, if convenient, drop in and see us and let us talk over your investment.
