LOCAL

Mrs. Melish has returned from Toronto.

Dr. Gray, of St. Catharines, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pike, Murray street.

Remember the Children's Aid home cooking sale on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 27 and 28, at H. A. Andrew's grocery store.

Mrs. M. V. Seward, Amelia street, leaves on Thursday for Missoula, where she will visit relatives.

She will also visit in Mason City, where she formerly taught school for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Bohart and Mrs. (Dr.) Gray, of St. Catharines, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pike, Murray street. They arrived in the city yesterday in Mr. Bohart's big touring car.

On account of the funeral of the late A. H. White taking place tomorrow afternoon, the special prayer meeting of the Ladies Missionary Society of the Park street Methodist church has been postponed from three until four o'clock.

County Treasurer Fleming has received from the Ontario Government the general grant for the rural separate schools of the county. Several inquiries have been made for the grant, which was delayed this year, and Mr. Fleming is now in a position to pay all comers.

Messrs. McDonald and Johnson, of Wallaceburg, are in the city today preparing evidence for an appeal on the equalized assessments of the county. Wallaceburg has appealed against the assessment, and for three weeks they have been preparing their case, which will come up on Tuesday next before Judge Bell.

Lost, lady's gold chain and locket, with picture outside of girl blowing trumpet; one side bright gold, while the reverse is in a dull finish. Was lost on the Fair Grounds or on Lorne avenue and West street. Finder will be rewarded by leaving same at Planet Office or at Baxter's Printing Office.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mills left the city yesterday morning for their new home in Berlin. Their many friends were sorry to see them go, but they hope that they may see them often in the future. Before going, they were presented with a handsome stein from the employees of Stone's store, where Mr. Mills was financially interested during his stay here. The gift was a very handsome one, and expresses in a small way the universal esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Mills are held in this city.

A Word To The Smoker

TRANSIENT TRADER LAW

The Brody Appeal Did Not Come Up This Morning

Particulars of a Legal Mix-up Which will Cost Somebody Money

The Brody transient trader case, which was to have come before Judge Dowlin in the Division Court this morning, was adjourned, as the parties concerned were not ready to go on with it. Mayor Stone is out of the city, and while Ald. Austin was there, there is important evidence which could not be given this morning, and it was decided to adjourn the case until both sides were ready to proceed.

There is considerable interest in this case, the matter involved being practically the testing of the city's transient trader by-law. Brody came before Judge Houston charged with breaking the Transient Trader Law. He was dismissed, as the magistrate claimed that the by-law was "ultra vires," and could not be enforced. It seems, as far as The Planet can make out, that the Panmout charged for the transient trader license is too high. The object in charging a license is to lighten the burden of the taxes, but it must not be so high that it will be impossible to find people who would do business under it. The license fee in Chatham at one time was $15. Some time ago the license fee was raised to $100, and since that time it is learned that no licensees have been granted. The steepness of the fee makes business practically impossible.

Deciding that the by-law was not workable, Judge Houston has since refused to make convictions under it, as he claims that it would only place the city under expense fighting appeals, which the defendants would be sure to win.

The Council took the stand that the Magistrate is not appointed to investigate by-laws, and that he should have made a conviction. They appealed his decision in the Brody case through the city solicitor, O. L. Lewis, and this is the appeal which was to have been heard this morning. It is not known when the hearing will now come up.

The object of the appeal seems to be to determine whether or not Judge Houston has the right to investigate by-laws. If the city wins the appeal, Brody will no doubt appeal against a conviction under the present by-law, and then the merits of the city's by-law will be determined in the Courts.

WAS KILLED FOR REVENGE

Factory Owner Victim of Shocking Crime In New York

Struck Down By Unknown
Hand—Employee
Arrested

New York, Sept. 24.—Eppanico Arcara, proprietor of an East Side ladies' skirt factory, whose love affairs had been the gossip of his thirty men and women employees, was shot to death in his factory on Sunday, and the body subjected to revolting treatment. His enemy, not satisfied after inflicting 16 stilette wounds, any one of which would have caused death, slashed the lower limbs and removed vital organs. The police clue is two clearly defined prints of a thumb and forefinger on the jamb of the factory door. It is possible also that missing organs, as well as the prints, may be discovered, but no one of these have been found. Arcara's bookkeeper and his foreman have been detained by the police. From these and other employees some information as to the man's life may show a motive, it is expected.

Arcara was in the habit of going alone to his factory on East 107th street Sundays to plan the week's work. An employee, dropping into the place on Sunday last, found him dead on the floor of his office. There were 20 stab wounds in the breast, seven near the heart, while the subsequent mutilation was frightful, according to the coroner's physician.

When Arcara's wife died a year ago she left three children. Soon afterwards Arcara went to Palermo and married his wife's sister. Of the many stories told the police one was to the effect that the skirt-man was engaged to a girl here, but was induced by his family to marry the woman in Italy. They also learned that a woman known only as "Wife," who had been Arcara's bookkeeper for years, suddenly left his employ after the second marriage. Arcara's bookkeeper is one Castagna, and his foreman, Francesco Stiliotis. The police say that the direct motive was unquestionably revenge.

RING AND MANDOLIN

They Are The Cause Of Curiosity At Police Station

Chief Holmes Comes Out In Two Entirely New Roles

Chief of Police John Holmes is commencing to move on style. No longer accused the big-hearted chief of ever being loud in his dress or sporty in his manner, yet it is hard to remember a hitherto faultless record when appearances so strongly point to its destruction.

When The Planet reporter arrived at the Police Station this morning he noticed that the chief looked a little prouder than usual, and when his hand was extended for the accustomed cordial greeting the mystery was solved. The spruce, bluish, rubbed his eyes and blinked again. There were really no grounds for doubt—the chief was actually wearing a ring! On his "little" finger, too! A dandy new opal ring, which the chief privately assured the reporter cost all of five cents!

It turned out not to be as bad as it seemed, for the chief volunteered the information that he didn't buy it himself. It was a present to him, and he is now keeping it in trust for the owner who, he hopes, will soon arrive and claim it.

The ring is part of the goods found on the person of the young man who was arrested the other day for stealing. Until the owner arrives, the ring is going among his friends as a real sport.

The reporter's heart had another narrow escape. Just as he was about to announce with all of his judicial sobriety that the Chief was considering the advisability of establishing open air concerts on the roof of the Police Station. After seeing the ring, the reporter was ready for anything from the Chief, and he was for a moment almost taken aback. The story was strengthened by the production in Court of the mandolin—case and all.

The instrument, however, was left at the station as security for a fine, and it, like the ring, is still waiting for the owner. Judge Houston's story about his concert aspirations are groundless, and the Justice, who, for the past number of years has been providing the music for wrongdoers to dance by, is still the whole orchestra.

LAUNCH EXPLODES

Wallaceburg, Sept. 23.—The gasoline launch, the property of Messrs. Wilson, Delome and Buterman, was almost destroyed by fire on Sunday morning, caused by a spark from the sparking plug igniting the gasoline tank.

The boat was in the middle of the river at the rear of the English church, when the accident took place, and was brought to a nearby dock, where six gun holes were inserted, causing the same to sink, thereby saving the same from utter destruction. An alarm was given in the town, and the brigade responded with its usual promptness and assisted greatly in saving the dock of the launch. The boat will be brought to the surface to-morrow.

CIVIC OUTING

His Worship Mayor William M. Stone and a happy, care-free bunch of aldermen and reporters are enjoying themselves on what is known as the Mayor's annual outing down the river to-day. This important and select body of pleasure-seekers embarked via W. W. Seane's launch at the hour of seven this morning, with the prow set for the light-house, where no doubt a feast of unsurpassed magnificence has been done ample justice to ere now.

The day will be spent in fishing, hunting and sight-seeing—principally sight-seeing. Speeches, song and story will help to enliven the day's proceedings, and it is said that the Mayor has ordered a fish dinner at the lighthouse which heretofore has never been equalled.

THE BAND PLAYED

Fred Trudell, of the firm of The 2 T's, of this city, was the originator of a unique display in Hamilton on Saturday last. The 2 T's are opening up a fine new branch store in that city, and for some time they have been getting their new store in shape. The stock was all purchased and ready to be moved in, and it was moved in. The place will be opened for business on Saturday next.

Mr. Trudell engaged a band and loaded his $30,000 stock on ten big Hendrie drays, and decorated the drays with banners telling pedestrians that the stock belonged to the new 2 T's store, and then a parade was held over all of the principal streets of the city.

The crowd gathered in large numbers and for twenty minutes the street car service was stopped.

There is no doubt that this firm will do a great business in Hamilton when they get started.

Some men are going to be surprised to find that the Recording Angel has such a good memory.
