DAYLIGHT SAVING

The New Year's Day referendum in several Ontario towns in favor of daylight saving during the coming summer is a welcome assurance that the movement to make good use of the long hours of summer daylight is still alive. The St. John Globe thinks no reason exists why there should be the slightest conflict between the city and the country on this issue. Daylight saving during the months of June, July, August and parts of May and September gives the city dweller opportunity for the enjoyment of many pleasures that would otherwise be denied. The use of daylight time by the cities need not in any way interfere with the time of the country dwellers. A great mistake of the past has been the effort to get city and country to agree. Far better is it for each to go its own way. The daylight saving decision of several Ontario towns and of many towns across the border is an assurance that daylight saving in the cities will be quite general this summer.

WHEN LOW IS HIGH

(From Set Square, Toronto.) "Let me have sleeping accommodations on the train to Ottawa," I said to the man at the window, who didn't seem at all concerned whether I took the trip or stayed at home. "For a single passenger?" he finally said. "No," I replied, "I'm married, but I'm not taking anybody with me. A single shelf will answer." "Upper or lower?" he asked. "What's the difference?" I enquired. "A difference of fifty cents," came the answer. "Our prices to Ottawa are $2.50 and $3." "You understand of course," exclaimed the agent, "the lower is higher than the upper. The higher price is for the lower berth. If you want a lower you'll have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. It didn't seem to be so, but we found everybody wanted the lower. In other words, the higher the lower." "Why do they all prefer the lower?" I broke in. "On account of its convenience," he replied. "Most persons don't like the upper, although its lower, on account of it being higher, and because when you occupy an upper you have to get up to go to bed, and then get down when you get up. I would advise you to take the lower, although it's higher than the upper, for the reason I have stated, that the upper is lower because it is higher. You can have the lower if you pay higher; but if you are willing to go higher it will be lower."

AN INTELLIGENT ANTI-SUFFRAGIST

Lady Astor told in London a story about an anti-suffragist. "Anti-suffragists are all alike," she said. "Once I was canvassing for signatures to a petition about Lord Milner, the Viceroy to India at that time. When I called on Mr. Boggs, the grocer, he read the petition carefully and then said: "Who is this here Milner, ma'am?" "Our Indian Viceroy," I said. "Wot's a viceroy?" said Mr. Boggs. A pro-consul, you know," and I explained Lord Milner's position in detail. "Mr. Boggs, satisfied, dipped his pen in the ink, then he looked up anxiously. "You're not letting the women sign this, are you?" he said. "Oh no, indeed," said I. "That's right," said Mr. Boggs as he slowly traced his signature. "That's right ma'am. Women don't know nothin' about these things." Happiness is not a matter of events; it depends upon the tides of mind.

MUST WE LOSE TO FIND?

Must we indeed lose our life that we may find it again? Yes, that is the law of life; with the wheat and with the soul. It is the fact of life in us. But how? We must lose our life in our fellow men. We must plant it in the life of others. Only that is kept which is given away. We then meet it again invested in hearts that show it in what it has wrought for them and in them. How enriching is this contemplation to the Christian who would do good but who is lowly in heart! Even that candle was made to be lit, the life of what Christian to invest itself in others.

There are many justifications of silence; there can be none of insincerity.
