I feel that I can claim to have acted consistently and in such a manner that while conserving the interests of the Province, I have also assisted in securing for my County her full share of consideration in the distribution of public patronage.

It has so happened that I have in the main supported the Government of the day. I did so because I considered that course the best in the interests of the Province as well as of Northumberland, and also because I had no desire to aid in effecting changes of administration simply for the sake of change—and without the prospect of thereby securing either local or general advantages.

Emigrating to Canada abou years ago he was settled at Spence fille, Ontario, where he remained for 2 years until the union of the various Presbyterian bodies in 1875, when with the view to the consolidation o Presbyterian interests in that place he at a great personal sacrifice resign ed his charge. After laboring as an ordained Missionary in various sections of the Church he was settled a Bass River, in this Presbytery, in October last. Here his ministry gave every promise of being long and fruit ful when it was suddenly terminated by his death at the comparatively earl age of 47 years.

Mr. Taylor, who had been only very short time in the Presbytery, en deared himself to every member by his brotherly disposition, gentlemanl manners and ministerial gifts. SUPERANNUATION. Another plan of providing for political supporters at the expense of the public was adopted with boldness and success, in the matter of Superannuation. The provisions of the law for superannuating public officials whose age or ill health made a continuance of their service impossible or detri-mental to the public service, were taken advantage of with a reckless disregard for common decency, which is really astonishing. We append the follow-ing figures of the expenditure on this 1873-4. 64,400 77,300 101,600 1876-7. 104,800

If, as Dr. Tupper shows, and as anyone will readily admit, the mea-sure of the public debt must be the measure of public taxation, then the present government ought really never say another word against the Opposition for any alleged desire to "In-crease the taxation;" for the present government certainly have been grossly guilty in this respect. The Opposition Policy.

The following resolution, which was moved in the House of Commons by Sir John Macdonald, represents the commercial policy of the Opposition :-"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a national Policy, which by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff, will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Domin "ion; that such a Policy will retain in "Canada thousands of our fellow countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of the employment denied them at home; will restore prosperity to our struggling in-"dustries, now so sadly depressed; will "prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market; will encourage and develop an active inter-provincial trade and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of a reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the varied interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this country, eventually, a reciprocity of trade.' The Strength of Parties in Quibec. The "Canadian Illustrated News," an independent journal politically, states that after a close investigation it finds the relative strength of the Joly party and the Opposition is as follows:

-Opposition, 34; Government, 31.
It adds:-"We have waited two weeks in order to present a correct list of the members elected in the Province of Quebec. That which we print above is strictly accurate, being based upon a comparison of the pretentions of both parties and finally determined by the declarations of the members themselves. There are only four seats about which there has been any difference-Three Rivers, Maskinonge, Montcalm, and Rouville. But all doubts have been set at rest by the emphatic declarations of the four members since the election. "Letters from them attest beyond quibble what their stand is." This is what an American working man said to the New York Herald's travelling commissioner:-There was only one thing that worried them, and that was the fear of free trade. "We must have some protection," he added, "you gentle-men in the East have not the least conception what it is to have free trade in a manufacturing district like this. I well remember 1840, and I never want to see the like again. For four years we had free trade, and I saw the grass grow in the iron mill where I had men previously employed." The man who spoke this is a hammerman, and an excellent specimen of the American mechanic. One of those excrescences on life, a female slanderer, went into a neigh-bor's house the other morning with her tongue loaded with new venom. There were several women present and the slanderer's eyes glistened in anticipation. Throwing herself into a chair she sighed and said:—"One half 'the world don't know how the other half lives." "That ain't your fault," quietly observed one of the company. The slanderer turned yellow. * NEW YORK, May 16.—A statement is printed here that Lord Leitrim, in Ireland, was killed by three men for the seduction of a young relative, and that his killing had no connection, whatever, with the land troubles.— Two of the men who killed him are now in this country, and the third will soon be here. None of them were or are suspected.

She was a very modest girl, just from Boston, and when the observatory astronomer said, "Take a glance through the telescope, Miss, and you will see Venus in all her glory," she frigidly drew back, and replied:—
"No, thank you. Sir; I have no desire to look at any member of my sex who dresses as she is represented to do."

The Woodford (Kentucky) "Sun" ays.-" It is said that one hundred and fifty marders were committed in Kentucky during the last year, and only one man hung for that offence."

The coins of Spain and Spanish America for many years were only distinguished by the mint mark, or initials of the mint, generally found on the legend.

The originator of binding in cloth was R. E. Lawson, of Stanhope street, Blackfriars, London, and the first book covered with that material was volume of music.
