

A DESIRABLE CHANGE.
The city vote Tuesday, although not large, was of sufficient importance to show the feeling of the people on the proposed change in the city charter. Scarcely one half the vote usually cast in a mayoral election was polled Tuesday, yet the proportion of the figures undoubtedly shows to the electors the popularity of the proposed reform. And here we may correct an error into which the St. John Record has fallen in discussing the result. Our contemporary says there were 1700 persons qualified to vote, but it has got its figures mixed. The number of qualified electors for Tuesday's election was less than 1100. The 1700 represents the number on the new provincial voting list for the city.

The Herald takes considerable credit to itself for the result of Tuesday's vote. It was this paper that first started the agitation for the reform, and stirred the Council up to make a move in the matter. Others followed and the result reached, we hope, will prove of considerable benefit to the city. With the entire electorate of Fredericton voting for ten candidates for the City Council, the election of aldermen of the Macpherson and Duffy stamp ought to be impossible. The next move of the citizens should be to get capable and respectable candidates to stand in all the wards, and the meeting out process which will take place next March, should give Fredericton a City Council for which the citizens will never have reason to blush.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING.
A local paper, which from political and personal motives never loses an opportunity to stab the Fredericton Electric Light Company attempts to draw a comparison unfavorable to Fredericton, in discussing the new contract proposed at Toronto, but the dishonesty of the article is apparent. The paper in question does not state the amount of the tax per light at Toronto, nor mention the amount paid by Fredericton, showing that its only desire is to mislead the public and prejudice the Fredericton company. As a matter of fact the Toronto tender is $74.82 per light, while Fredericton pays only $59 per light. It may be urged that the Toronto service is to be an all night service, and according to the moonlight schedule, but anticipating that answer, The Herald has authority for saying that, give the Fredericton company the Toronto figure, and they too will furnish an all night service. In Fredericton there are only fifty lights; in Toronto there are to be thirteen hundred lights, and everybody knows when quantity is increased, light or any other commodity, is relatively cheapened by the producer. The Toronto figures only prove the excellent bargain made by the Fredericton corporation. If the people want to pay for an all night service they can have it as cheap as Toronto, and the Herald is heralded abroad as the cheapest electric light service ever offered in Canada.

A NICE JUROR HE.
At the W. C. T. U. meeting in the Kirk last night, Rev. Dr. McLeod prefaced his address with the now rather stereotyped remark that he is still in bonds, and not free to speak as he would like to on the temperance question. For the benefit of those who may not have understood him, we may say that Dr. McLeod meant he had not yet finished his work on the prohibition question. He was yet a juror who had not rendered his verdict, but the doctor did not keep the audience long in suspense. Before he was on his feet five minutes, the juror had given his verdict for prohibition, and the bonds were forfeited. Further than that the doctor imposed on the credulity of his audience by announcing the Scott act a howling success in Fredericton. There are not many men who would care to place their lives or their property in the hands of a juror of that description. If the doctor was not so extreme in his views, and ludicrous in his gestures, his oratory would increase considerably in effect.

THE NEW YORK GOVERNORSHIP.
The New York Republicans have nominated ex-vice-president Morton for the governorship, and his opponents say that his selection is because of his immense wealth, the Republicans adopting the same course which usually guides our Conservative friends in making their nominations for parliament. But notwithstanding his "barrel" Mr. Morton has poor chances for success. New York is very strongly Democratic. As a matter of fact since 1866 that State has had only two Republican governors, Dix in 1872 and Cornell in 1873. The Democratic majorities have varied from 10,000 to 192,845 in 1882. The Republicans are hoping that the miserable record of the Democratic congress will have its effect on the electors, and that with Mr. Morton's money bags they may succeed this year.

A GREAT CATHEDRAL.
The Roman Catholics of London, G. B., are building a Cathedral, that exclusive of the site will cost a quarter of a million dollars. It will be near Westminster Abbey, and will be the most important church built since the erection of St. Paul's Cathedral. It will, moreover, be the first church in England since the Reformation, in which the full Roman Catholic Cathedral service will be daily celebrated in its splendor. The accommodation of the Cathedral will be for 10,000 people, and a lecture hall attached to it will be built to accommodate 2,000. In addition a monastery, adjoining, will be erected for 30 Benedictine monks and 45 lay brothers, who will conduct the choral part of the daily service.

Col. Breckinridge whose immoral private career has been the talk of the continent, has been defeated in the primaries for the Democratic nomination to congress in Kentucky, but has not yet given up the fight. The campaign has been the most bitter and exciting ever witnessed in the State. The women of Kentucky took an active part in opposition and brought about Breckinridge's defeat.

THE PATRONS' PROGRAMME.
The Patrons of Husbandry who carried some seventeen seats in the recent Ontario local elections, and form an organization to be reckoned with in the prospective federal elections, met the other day at Toronto and formulated their programme for the Ontario legislative session. As representatives of the order hold the balance of power in that body, their utterances command the respect of the politicians. It is for them to say whether Mowat or Meredith shall reign, but it is surmised that the wily old Premier knows his ground and has little fear of his bucolic friends. The Patrons however allege that they will be an entirely independent party in the legislature. They have elected as their leader a gentleman with the appropriate name of Haycock who represents Frontenac and have unanimously resolved that the united influence of the Patrons party be used during the coming session to secure, among other things, an enactment to render it a violation of the independence of Parliament to accept a pass from any railway, steamboat or any transportation company; that the payment of any sum for Lieutenant-Governor's clerk hire or servants' fees by the Ontario Government, or for the furnishing of a free residence or supplies of any kind to that official, be heretofore prohibited by legislation; that beyond the salary attached to any office, there should be no allowance or gratuity to any employe of the Government for living expenses or for any other purpose; that the amount of fees retained by public officials should be fixed by a fair remuneration for the services rendered, and that the balance of fees be paid into the treasury of the municipality and treated as general revenue.

Mr. Haycock, the new party leader, is a prominent market gardener near Kingston, and has had long service with the municipal council. He is said to be the best speaker in his county, and formerly stumped for the Liberal candidates in that constituency, which for six years returned Conservatives to the legislature. In an interview after his election as leader of his party, Mr. Haycock said he would rather be the head of Patrons in the legislature, than sit as the chief of either political party in the local or federal legislatures. "I tell you," said he, "the Patrons are true men, and I know we are backed by the great mass of the agriculturists and laboring classes in Canada. I predict great advancements for our party and reforms that have long been desired. We will fight for the principles laid down in our platform, and the other political parties need not look to us for support for we will work independent of them both."

HIS NATIVE HEATH.
His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Fraser leave on Tuesday for a trip to the North Shore, the first time they have visited that locality since His Honor's appointment to the chief magistracy of New Brunswick. Northumberland is the Governor's native county, but he left there when a young man, and Fredericton has claimed him ever since. We are sure that the hospitable people of the North will give His Honor and Mrs. Fraser a warm reception.

Hon. Francis Woods whose death is announced at Wainford was prominent for some years in provincial politics. He sat in the Assembly and was a member of the Legislative Council when that body was abolished. Personally he was a gentleman of kindly disposition, a good neighbor and a faithful friend. He achieved an honorable position in life by energy and industry, and leaves many friends in both political parties in Queens County who will long cherish his memory.

News from the Oriental war this week brings the record of two triumphs for Japan. In a two days battle on land the Chinese troops were very severely handled and after many thousands were killed, the remainder surrendered. Japan has also won a great naval battle.

OUR SOLDIER BOYS
Amuse General Herbert and a Select Company at Lewis.

The Quebec Chronicle says that under the auspices of Major General Herbert, a very delightful "Sing Song" was given by the men in Camp Lewis, Saturday evening. The spot selected for the performance was striking and picturesque, and added much to the pleasure of the evening. The audience consisting of ladies and gentlemen of Quebec, the guests of the commanding officer, sat on the hill, while below an impromptu stage was erected. A large space was kept open, and outside the ropes, the soldiers of the Royal Canadian Infantry were grouped. Some men from the British warship "Tourmaline," assisted. The master of the ceremonies was Major Denison, who announced the various items of the programme. The concert was capital one. The first part was a minstrel performance by dandy dandies from the South, the performers being members of the Fredericton Company. They kept the audience in perpetual good humor by their singing, jokes and sallies of ready wit. The voices were all excellent, and many of the selections were quite new. The tattoo was effective, and pleased everyone. The second part of a variety performance of much merit. Lieut. MacLean, in full Highland uniform, distinguished himself by regaling the audience with a couple of airs on the bagpipes. The dancing, banjo and guitar playing, and the singing and gymnastics, were frequently applauded. The choruses were admirable. In every respect, the Sing Song proved a brilliant success. At ten o'clock it was over, lusty cheers were given for the Queen General Herbert and the navy, and the guests repaired to the officers' mess-room, where a bountiful supper was served.

Mr. Blair at Moncton.
The proceedings in the light and water arbitration ended on Saturday with addresses of counsel. Mr. Britton spoke three and a half hours, putting the city's case in a very clear and argumentative manner. Attorney General Blair followed, speaking for four hours. The Sun reports says he made one of the most brilliant and forcible speeches ever heard in Moncton, and was warmly congratulated at the close. The arbitrators will make their award on October 4th.

Says the Moncton Transcript: Quite a novel contest between the tongue and the pen was witnessed at the arbitration proceedings on Saturday afternoon. During the course of Attorney General Blair's address, Mr. Blair, whose time was limited, made a surprising burst of speed and those present watched with intense interest Stenographer Fry at work. It is computed that for five or ten minutes, Mr. Blair spoke an average of 275 words a minute, and notwithstanding this fact, Mr. Fry took him verbatim.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME.
Rev. Willard Macdonald to the W. C. T. U. Meeting last night.

An Original and Outspoken Expression on Timely Subjects.

Rev. Willard Macdonald delivered an address of welcome to the W. C. T. U. delegates at their meeting in St. Paul's church last night, speaking as follows: "I have been asked to speak for a few minutes to-night, but the trouble I know what to say, and how to say it. I have no subject other than to welcome you, and to hope that your deliberations at this convention may be for good, in that cause which I suppose is dear to your hearts. I do not imagine any person doubts that the cause you are upholding and advancing is a good one; even the devotees of the cup acknowledge its ruin, they cannot help seeing it, if not in themselves, they can in others. And it is just about as true with them in that particular, as it is with us in other parts of the world. I have read a good deal of temperance literature in my life, and have seen a good deal of temperance work, and I confess I am not so ardent in the cause as when I was younger. I had more fire then than fuel. The difficulty seems to be how to work. Therein lies the point of difference in the manner and method of working. I do not believe in making temperance, or total abstinence, a passport into heaven.

I know no drunkard shall inherit the Kingdom, and I know no liar or extortioner, &c., shall enter therein, even if he did not drink a drop of liquor in his life. Second, I do not believe in the violation of the Sabbath day for the purpose of solely advancing the Temperance reform.

I have sometimes thought perhaps that is one reason why this cause has not advanced as might be expected, from the numbers in it who are pushing it forward. I have sometimes wondered why those prayers, on days set apart, have not been answered. I give no solution of it.

We have then, moral suasion and legal sanction, moral suasion including persuasion, home training, Sunday school and day school training, literature and things of that description. I think I read somewhere that moral suasion was dead fifty years ago. Here is a difference of opinion. I do not think it is dead, or ever will die. At our last Synod, the report on temperance concluded that the advance of the last twenty years was due to moral suasion and education in temperance principles. Legal sanction, here again has been, still is, a difference of opinion, high license, no license, prohibition. You do not believe in any license at all. Prohibition is your strong point, the platform upon which you stand. Did you ever think of free liquor, sell it as you would sell dry goods. It would make a great sweep and end perhaps in the survival of the fittest.

Unrestricted, it might wake up the people to put it down. Like a fire in the woods, tending to burn, people might rise in their might and put it out. Probably in your addresses during your convention you may give some greater light and greater impetus to most of the methods employed for the advance of this cause.

In regard to the work of the W. C. T. U. it is pronounced good. Like all good works it has been criticized. Some have supposed that you have been merely sellers of cake and ice cream, and good at that. Others have wondered if you are a mutual admiration society. I should hope not. Others have wondered if you do any rescue work. You see you have been criticized, but who has not? The Union of this city.

Has Done Good Work.
Such is the opinion of those competent to know. Probably it is the same brought out the Maritime Provinces, which you now represent, and no doubt many of your good deeds are unknown, except to the recipients of your bounty. Why then should we not give you a welcome, even if some men do not agree with you in all things? You do not expect all to agree with you in all things. The second name of your title, Christian, is a great one. Followers of Christ. That is what makes men noble and women noble also. To follow Christ is to be a Christian. Remember, apart from him you can do nothing, no more than could his followers in the days of his flesh. But, pardon me, I am not here to give you advice. We are not to look upon you as martyrs but as followers of the meek and lowly Jesus. Followers of Christ, united, by His help, under His direction, with His wisdom; united to help blot from His earth one of the most monstrous evils, if not the worst, that politics is. May you have success. May the Lord reward your labors. As co-laborers in this Reform, we welcome you, and we hope that in your deliberations in this convention you may be guided by Him, who does all things well.

The women are making most earnest and active politicians in their first campaign in Colorado. The latest sensation was sprung this week when Miss Mary C. Bradford, candidate upon the Democratic ticket for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, issued a challenge to her opponent, Mrs. A. J. Fray, to meet her in joint debate to discuss the issues of the campaign. What a struggle they will have of it.

Its neck had been hacked with a blunt instrument, and it had died of blood loss. There is yet no clue to the cruel and unnatural murder. The verdict of the jury was that the child came to its death by violent means at the hands of some unknown person.

Herbert J. Beaman who is suing J. Fraser Gregory for alienating his wife's affections, arrived in St. John Monday, from Boston, and is now among his friends in Queens Park. He told a Telegraph reporter that efforts had been made by the defendant to effect an amicable settlement, but he was not satisfied with the inducements offered.

Asked concerning the nature of his suit, Mr. Beaman said it was in connection with certain bonds directly bearing on the impending suit, which will come up for trial at the November sitting of the St. John circuit. "I am as determined as ever to push this thing to a finish. It was with an idea of getting justice that I began the suit, and such I will have. The great surprise to me" he continued, "and his face, which had grown hard, broke into a smile, "is the statement made by Gregory that the case in one of blackmail. If he viewed it as such, why did he send his father to Boston to endeavor to settle it?" "Did his father visit you in Boston for that purpose?" was asked. "Why, yes, he did, about four weeks after."

"What offer did he make you?" "Well, perhaps I had better not state that, but suffice to say that it was not such that I could think of for one moment."
