A PIOUS LOVER.

Rev. John Brown of Haddington, the author of the self-interpreting bible, was a man of singular bashfulness, but the following story is almost incredible. His courtship lasted seven years. Six years and a half had passed away, and the reverend gentleman had progressed no further than in the first six six days of his acquaintance with the lady. One day he decided that a step in advance must be taken.

"Janet," he said one day as they sat in olemn silence, "we've been acquainted now six years and mair and I've ne'er gotten a kiss yet. "D'ye think I might take one, my bonnie lass?"

"Just as you like John, only be becoming and proper wi' it."

"Surely, Janet; we'll ask a blessing." The blessing was asked, the kiss was taken, and the worthy divine, overpowered with the blissful sensation, most rapturously exclaimed :

"Heigh, lass, but it is gude. We'll return thanks." Six months later this pious couple were
