The object of this article is not to point out the great cost of juries so much as to advance some reasons why the system of trial by jury had better be abolished altogether, not only for its expensivenes, but chiefly for its inefficiency, and because we have at hand in our experienced, trained and impartial Judges an instrument ready to replace fully, as they have virtually to a great extent, the admitted incompetency, and so far as relates to intricate or legal cases, the absolute imbedility.
