Telegram ads. Give Satisfaction

On the Impossibility of Forgetting.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

Two good friends had quarreled. One, who is of a passionate disposition, completely lost her self-control and said many unkind things. When the thundercloud of misunderstanding finally passed over and the sunshine of reconciliation began to struggle out again, the quick-tempered woman told her friend she was sorry for her bitter words, and then added cheerfully, "And now you'll forgive me and forget all that I said, won't you?"

Whereupon the other woman answered, "Forgive you? Yes indeed, I'll do that with all my heart, but I cannot promise to forget because that is beyond my power."

The first woman called that an ungracious and relentless attitude. "Do you?"

I don't. To me it was simply a truthful answer. Perhaps it might have been kinder for the woman to say that she'd forget all about it and things would be just as they were before, but it probably wouldn't have been true. In one of his essays Stevenson says, "I hate questioners and questions; there are so few that can be spoken to without a lie. 'Do you forgive me?' Madam and sweetheart, so far as I have gone in life I have never yet been able to discover what forgiveness means. 'It is still the same between us?' Why how can it be? It is eternally different, and yet you are still the friend of my heart." It seems to me he should have added that other question, "Will you forget all that I have said or done?" for surely no other question that we foolishly and hopefully ask each other is quite so impossible to answer without a lie or a very cruel truth.

The woman called her friend relentless. That was not fair. It is not the person who cannot forget that is relentless; it is life itself and the laws of life that are inflexible.

I may no more promise my friend that I will forget anything than I may promise her that a deep cut in my flesh will heal and not leave any scar. I may promise that I will put soothing medicine in the cut and bind it up and keep it from irritation, and do all I can to make it heal without a scar, but I cannot surely promise what will be the result.

Hearts and souls are quite as sensitive as bodies. We would not easily allow ourselves in a flash of temper to scar our friend's body; why, then, be so careless with his heart.

Why? Because we think that such scars can be easily obliterated; because we think we can say, please forget" and let that end it.

But we cannot.

And the next time you lift the javelin of an unforgetful word to cast into your friend's heart, suppose you stop just one moment before you speak, and say this sentence over to yourself. "Of the unspoken word I am a master, but the spoken word is master of me."

Are You Blue and Worried?

Nervous? Some of the time really ill? Catch cold easily and frequently suffer from biliousness or headache? The reason is that your system does not rid itself of the poisons in the blood; just as impossible as it is for the grate of a stove to rid itself of cinders. The waste does us exactly what the cinders do to the stove; make the fires burn low until enough cinders have accumulated and then prevent the fires from burning at all. Your liver is sluggish—you are dull and heavy—sleep does not rest, nor is food appetizing. In this condition illness develops. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery eradicates the poisons from the body—a glyceric alternative extract made from bloodroot, golden seal and mandrake root, stone and queen's root, without the use of alcohol. No matter how serious the constipation the stomach is apt to be "out of kilter" at times; in consequence the blood is disordered, for the stomach is the laboratory for the constant manufacture of blood.

Miss Blaine, of Fort Dover, Ont., Box 85, writes: "I have been a great sufferer for years from chronic catarrh, indigestion, biliousness, female troubles, bloating, constipation and nervousness—at times I would be unable to get up in the morning, and my head would be so dizzy that I could not see, and would get better for a little while, then I would go down with poison in my blood. After trying everything I got worse. I read in The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and I have taken the Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets, and have used five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Cathartic Remedy. I am now able to do my work and walk with pleasure. I feel like a new woman. I enjoy everything around me and thank God for letting me live long enough to find something that makes me well again."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver and bowels.

Household Notes.

A dish of water in the oven will keep cakes, etc.

All housekeepers' stores should be plainly labeled.

Buttermilk is usually the best cure for sunburn.

When peeling and slicing egg-plant, use a silver knife.

Chemical wrung out of kerosene make good dust cloth.

Poison bottles should have pins stuck in their corks point up.

Dry cut glass with soft tissue paper if you want it to be brilliant.

Sifted wood ashes and mild soap will give a fine polish to tinware.

The lighter the bread pan the lighter and whiter your bread will be.

A good, sweet sandwich filling is made of dates, stoned and powdered.

To keep a silver teapot sweet when not in use, put a lump of sugar in it.

A bouquet of lavender placed near the bed will help to drive away mosquitoes.

Wash silk handkerchiefs in tepid water with a little borax in it. Iron while damp.

Every kitchen should have its diary of books on cooking and household affairs.

Put a little bluing in the paste you use on white tennis shoes if they are growing yellow.

When an article is scorched in ironing, wet the spot with cold water and put it in the sun.

Make aprons, underwear and children's rompers of cotton crepe if you would save ironing.

To clean delicate slender vases partly fill them with water and uncooked rice and shake well.

Fine china can be safely packed for transportation in paper if you crumple it and use enough of it.

One tablespoonful of ammonia to every gallon of suds will keep flannels and woollens as good as new.

Flush piazza floors with water and let the water evaporate if you wish to cool the air on a hot day.

A dustless duster is a great help for wood floors. This is a mop made of oiled waste, which eats up the dust.

To remove the grease from coal stove or gas range, before blackening or washing it, newspaper is excellent.

The outlets of laundry tubs should be probed occasionally with a long handled buttonhook to remove the lint.

Flannels should be covered with soft old muslin to prevent the ticking from showing through the pillow case proper.

Sweaters and the coats of summer suits should be put on clothes-hangers to dry, thus retaining the shape of the shoulders.

A handy pocket for ironing holder, wax and sponge can be made on the ironing board where the sheet turns back.

Slip a kid glove finger or a thimble over the end of a small curtain rod if you wish it to go easily through the material.

Articles that have been cold-starched require a hotter iron than those that have been stiffened in cooked starch.

When repairing your rooms, remember that self-toned papers are among the most lastingly satisfactory to live with.

When you draw threads for hem-stitching, rub dry soap on the material first and the threads can be drawn more easily.

Strong-flavored vegetables, like cabbage and onions, should not only be boiled in plenty of water, but the water should be changed.

Lost Control of His Temper

Once there was a man whose liver was not working right. When dressing in the morning he had trouble with his collar. Then he lost the collar button. Then he said something.

By the time he got to breakfast he was so irritated that he had no appetite and quarrelled with his wife. He went to the office with a headache, and when he had some important business to transact he bungled it.

When you find yourself easily irritated and lose control of yourself and your temper, look to the condition of the liver, and take one of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills at bedtime.

The dark-brown taste will not bother you in the mornings, the tongue will clear up, digestion will improve and you will not have the tired, worn-out feelings which accompany a sluggish condition of the liver. Mother.

What is home without a mother? Who so well a home can grace? Ah, that sacred name! No other can usurp its honored place! Mother makes the home a charming happy—when she's there, when she isn't gallivanting, doing campaign work somewhere. To uplift the land she wishes, politics she'd purify; and there's none to wash the dishes, none at home to make a pie. Willie has a broken smeller—he was fooling with the cow; Lizette fell into the cellar and she's screaming down there now; little Myrtle calmly scratches all the furniture with wire hair's playing with the matches, and we'll set the house afire. Little sister, little brother, raise the dickens with their curvies. What is home without a mother? It's a place to jar your nerves. Mother's at some cheap convention, wearing father's shirt and tie, arguing her firm intention to secure a vote or die. She must have a hand in making laws that suit the female mind, and at home the kids are breaking all the wishes they can find. She will be no longer brooking tyranny that's known no change and at home poor dad is cooking prunlets on a smoking range. What is home without a mother? Watch the suffrage ladies hike! When they've won their fight, my brother, you will know just what it's like.

A Sour, Greasy Upset Stomach

"Pape's Diapepsin" regulates your stomach and ends indigestion in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in revolt, if you're gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astounding. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

The Lundenburg schooner Mary Dawson, arrived in port yesterday from the Grand Banks to get a squid baiting. The Mary Dawson has 700 qts. of fish on board and has landed her first catch, which was 800 qts., at Lundenburg. With a hurried baiting the crew of the tanker are in hope of doing well as at present cod are very plentiful on the Banks.
