Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day.
Sir Horace Plunkett noted for his advocacy of agricultural co-operation and technical education, whose fresh opinions carry great weight with all parties, outlines a novel plan for settling the Ulster problem. He is firmly opinion the passage of the Home Rule Bill as it stands will lead to serious sectarian riots, and perhaps civil war in Ulster, and to avert such a disaster proposes that Ulster Unionists should accept the Bill upon three conditions: first, that a clause should be inserted enabling it to be decided by a plebiscite after a certain number of years whether any section of Ulster desired to continue subject to the Irish Parliament. Second, that both sections of Irishmen should be invited to suggest to the Government any amendments which could be incorporated in the Bill by consent; third, that Ulster volunteers should be given an opportunity to become organized as a territorial force with the double object, (1) adding a valuable body to the Nation's defensive forces, (2) preserving intact for Ulster Unionists an ultimate safeguard which rightly or wrongly, they can rely on for the preservation of their liberties. Sir Horace contends the acceptance of this scheme would furnish a valuable experiment for various sides of the Home Rule difficulty.

LONDON, To-day.
The full fighting forces of the various British political parties in response to urgent demands of leaders arrived in London to-day for the opening of Parliament which promises to be one of the most exciting for many years. Practically every member will be present. A serious illness is the only excuse accepted by Whigs for non-attendance. A larger number is also expected in the Lords since the fight against the Home Rule measures is to be carried on simultaneously in both Chambers. The Unionist leaders who decided to make Ulster's opposition to Home Rule a paramount issue, according to current reports, will refuse to allow discussion of any other subject, in hope thus of forcing the Government to dissolve Parliament, and refer the Home Rule question to the people. Both in the Commons and the Lords, amendments are to be moved to the Address in Reply to the King's speech. These will express regret that nothing has been done to satisfy the demands of Ulster. Should these amendments fail to move the Government, the Lords will send an address to the King in support of an appeal to the country, will withhold their consent to the Army and Navy Bill and the expiring laws continuance Bill, thus generally playing havoc with the normal process of Parliament, leaving the country without any authorized armed force, and with many of its laws in suspense. While Asquith has not disclosed his intentions, moderate Liberals have advised him to make immediately after the opening of Parliament, a statement explaining what concessions he is prepared to offer to Ulster, and asking for a candid reply from the Opposition as to what they consider satisfactory.

Twenty-Fourth Performance.

OF SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN DWARFS.
Last night made the twenty-fourth time that Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs were shown. The house was crowded, and the private box sold out, to see this favorite pantomime. Everyone enjoyed it last night just as much as at first, and more so, because there are some improvements and many new costumes. There is some fine songs in this show: Miss Louise Arkandy rendered some beautiful selections on her violin and was encored again and again. The hit of the show is the troupe of little White rabbits. The Forest fairies are great in their new dance. It's a delightful show and only runs to-night and to-morrow night.

PROSPERO HELD BY STORM.—Messrs. Bowring Bros. received a message from Capt. Keen, yesterday, saying that the Prospero was at Hr. Breton, and was detained there owing to a southeast gale, accompanied by snow squalls. The steamer will have to remain there until present weather conditions improve.

Tug Potomac Disabled.

The United States tug Potomac was drifting in the Gulf-ice yesterday and was apparently disabled, according to a message received by the Marine and Fisheries Department.
The Potomac had been doing service among the American fleet in Bay of Islands and Bonne Bay and on Wednesday last while trying to free two vessels frozen in at Woods Island found the ice too heavy and put back to Lark Harbour. She was to have left there on Thursday last, and it is thought she became disabled while forcing through the ice on her way home. Yesterday's message stated she was drifting past the south entrance of Bay of Islands. Another U. S. revenue cutter has been sent to her relief.

Hockey Match.

FEILDANS WINS.
The Feildans defeated the St. Bon's in last night's hockey match by a score of 3 to nil.
During the first half Winter scored No. 1 goal for his team, and the St. Bon's after repeated efforts failed to score an equalizer up to the time the half-time signal sounded.
The second half opened rather lively and for a time some clever individual play was exhibited on both sides, but very little combination was in evidence. After thirteen minutes play, Winter scored the second goal. This called forth a renewed effort on the part of St. Bon's and for a time the game was exciting. A delay of ten minutes was caused by Strong receiving a blow in the mouth from an opponent's stick. Upon resuming play a struggle took place near St. Bon's goal and in the scrimmage which followed, Winter shot and the puck bounded off one of the St. Bon's players and found its way into the net. No further scoring was done and when the final whistle sounded the Feildans were victors by 3 to 2.
Mr. C. Parsons was referee, and the line up was as follows:—

N. Hunt goal

CHARLES LAMB born 1775. One of the most delightful of our essayists. His "Essays of Elia" are characterized by great felicity of expression, much genial humour and an ardent love both of rural life and London life. He was a clerk in the office of the East India Company for thirty-five years.
LORD CHARLES BERESFORD born 1846. The most popular man in the Navy and has occupied all the important commands possible to his progressive rank. He retired from active service in 1903.
LORD LISTER died 1912, aged 85. He achieved renown for his discovery of the antiseptic treatment which has accomplished so much on behalf of the science of surgery.
SOBRAON 1846. A village in India, opposite which Sir Hugh Gough put an end to the first Sikh war by his victory on this date.

Sale of Work Coachman's Cove
A bazaar was held at Coachman's Cove on Jan. 6th by the Misses Burke and Hearn. The grand sum of $165.58 was realized, which they presented to the Rev. J. S. Kavanagh a aid of his new Church. This was remarkably well, considering the bad shery here last season. No doubt the people of Coachman's Cove deserve great credit for the unity which prevailed among them. Owing to inclement weather the neighboring villagers could not attend, if they had, we would have no doubt, done much better.

Reformatory Destroyed by Fire.

Boys Worked Valiantly and Saved Much of the Contents.
Vergennes, Vt., Jan. 31.—Nearly 130 boys whose ages range from seven to nineteen years were made homeless to-day by a fire that destroyed the main building of the Vermont industrial school, a reformatory institution, of which they were inmates.
Although there was no systematic fire-fighting the boys worked valiantly and through their efforts practically all the contents of the building were removed before the flames could reach them. The loss is about $75,000.
The fire, which is believed to have been caused by a spark from an electric wire igniting gasoline, originated in the tower of the north wing of the building. Low pressure hampered the firemen.
The structure was of brick, three stories in height. The smaller buildings of the school were not damaged.
None of the boys or the keepers were injured, although a thick snow storm and falling temperature caused them considerable discomfort.
The lads are kept on their honor at all times, and have attempted to leave the grounds while the fire was burning.
They were given temporary lodgings for the night in the city hall.

Brotherly Love.

It was quite a small country town, which only made it more remarkable that two brothers, both strangers to the place, should have chosen to settle there—one as the vicar, and the other as a doctor.
However, they did not interfere with each other in the course of their professional duties, and both prospered and became popular with their neighbors.
One day a man who had been absent from the place for some years, called at the doctor's house and asked for Mr. Johnson. The doctor, who had opened the door himself, answered:
"My name is Johnson. Did you want to see me?"
"Well," said the caller, "I have been away for some time, and I thought I would come and look you up, as I have only run into town for a day or two. But," he added, "you have changed an awful lot. Why, surely, when last I heard you preach you had a beard?"
"I expect it's my brother you want to see," answered the doctor. "He does all the preaching in this town; I do all the practicing!"
