And heard me bang the kitchen door, An' laughed at me right to my face; For Spite of everything I've said, Or threatened when I've had my say Of what I'd do, she's gone ahead And generally has had her way.

So with the youngsters. I could shout Until my voice would shake the wall And dance the chandeliers about And never frighten 'em at all; They knew that all they had to do Was rub my cheek or stroke my chin An' wait until my rage was through An' to their pleading I've give in.

What good's it done to storm an If all my rage was just a sham? didn't want 'em finding out The soft and easy fool I am; An' after all is said an' done I knew I had no chance to win.
I've said my say an' had my fun
An' ended up by givin' in.
