Paroled Men Prove Appreciation by Few Violations Reported To Board.

Employers in Province Are Thanked For Success Co-operation Made Possible.

Economic conditions have made the work of parole unusually difficult for the last twelve months, says the report of the Ontario Board of Parole for the year ending October 31, 1921.

Employment is essential to parole. The conditions have prevented the parole of a few whose parole was authorized, but it is a gratifying fact that employers have been so willing to co-operate in the re-establishment of offenders that in nearly every case where it was decided to give an offender his opportunity, work was forthcoming.

That this was appreciated by the paroled men is proved by the fact that out of 229 whose parole was authorized, of the 221 whose parole became actually effective, less than 20 broke parole. This shows a success of 92 per cent, which in this most difficult year is a much more favorable result than was expected.

706 Cases Investigated.
Seven hundred and six cases were in all investigated and considered. In 206 of these cases it was decided to take no action. The number recommended to the governor-general for clemency under the ticket-of-leave act was 101. The parole of 229 was authorized. The remainder were deferred for further consideration.

The increase in the number of paroled men is due to the increase in the number of indeterminate sentences given by the judges and magistrates of the province, which, says the report, is in accordance with the best modern practice in dealing with criminals.

"The question has been raised in some quarters," proceeds the report, "as to the justice of paroling men who have offended against the law to take employment when so many men, who have never been before the courts, are out of work. It is urged that if there is any work available for a paroled man, that work could be done by others who had the greater right to it."

"The board feels that there is much in this contention, and it has endeavored to place no parole man where the work could be done by a free man, unless the circumstances clearly justified it. Sometimes employers are willing to take a man because he is a prisoner whose reformation they believe in, and they desire to assist. In a number of cases, the conditions of the family are such that if the offender were not placed on parole, so that he might support his family, the latter would be dependent upon the public, and in many cases the effect on the children's future would be exceedingly injurious. It is not a wise step, too, to parole men who have gone wrong, if thereby they will almost assuredly be placed on their feet and become an asset to the community."

Find 15 Gallons of Wine in Reformer's Cellar.

DETROIT, July 10.—When Michigan troops Monday resumed their down-river cleanup activities, begun Sunday, they called at the home of several agitators for reform in Lincoln Park.

In the home of Ira Griffin who, with his wife, has been an earnest member of the Lincoln Park Betterment Association, they found fifteen gallons of home-made dandelion wine in the cellar. Ten gallons of it were destroyed, the remainder kept as evidence.

Griffin admitted he had made the wine. Mrs. Griffin attributed the troops' visit to spite work.

It was the urgent plea of the association, among other things, which resulted in the cleanup.

SPEEDS MERGER OF RAIL LINES

Hon. W. C. Kennedy Determined To Solve Railway Problems of Dominion.

Believes Systems Will Make Splendid Showing For Remainder of Year.

OTTAWA, July 10.—The personnel of the reorganized board of management of the Canadian National Railways will, Hon. W. C. Kennedy stated this morning, be announced "in due course."

The minister of railways, who returned last evening after a week's absence from the capital, refused to say anything more definite on the subject, but the impression conveyed is that it will be some considerable time yet before the reorganization is consummated. In the meantime, however, Mr. Kennedy states physical co-operation of the system is proceeding rapidly.

The rumor that Hon. George F.

Centenarian Sorry She Lost Her Taste For Smoking Three Years Ago

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., July 10.—Mrs. Amelia Hinkle, Beaver Valley's most venerable citizen, celebrated the 100th anniversary of her birthday today. One of "Mother" Hinkle's chief regrets is that she has lost her taste for the pipe, which she learned to smoke 54 years ago.

"Three years ago the taste for tobacco left me, and since that time I have not smoked," said Mrs. Hinkle.

Mrs. Hinkle is enjoying remarkable health. She knits the finest kinds of laces the greater part of the day. One thing that she takes pride in is that she makes her own clothing and does the sewing by hand.

"None of these fancy sewing machines for me," she said.

Mrs. Hinkle was born in England. She became the bride of Joseph Hinkle on June 24, 1845, and came to New Brighton more than half a century ago.

Mrs. Hinkle never wore a pair of eyeglasses in her life. She takes a stroll along the street every nice day. She thinks nothing of walking a mile to England Hill to visit her son.

Refuses to Comment on Probable Appointment

WINNIPEG, July 10.—Norman P. Lambert, secretary of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, had no comment to make on Monday's dispatch from Toronto regarding his probable appointment as secretary of the present management should be given a chance to make good, and that complete physical consolidation should be brought about before reorganization of the board takes place. Perhaps this is the reason why Mr. Kennedy is hastening slowly.

There are other reasons, however. The new minister realizes, no doubt, that the reputation, not only of himself, but of the government of which he is a member, depends very largely upon the solution of the railway problem, and that such solution depends in turn very largely upon the ability of the men at the head.

This applies not only to the governing board, but to the various divisional managements which it is proposed to bring into force under the program of the King government. Divisions will be established probably at Montreal, Moncton, Toronto, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver, and the divisional managements will carry on a competitive basis, subject, of course, to the dictation of the general board policy laid down by the central board.

eastern and western divisions as well as the federal body, likely to be known as the National Council of Agriculture, with headquarters at Ottawa.

He intimated that the matter would be discussed at the meeting of the council to be held here on July 31 and August 1.
