Crowds Boo Landis As Game Called At 10th Inning

Resent Second Game Ending 3-3 Tie When the Players Were Not Yet Affected By Gloom

DOUBLES BY RUTH AND MEUSEL IN 8TH TIE UP GIANTS' 3-RUN MARGIN

Meusel's Giant Brother Had Put His Team Ahead With Homer and Two On in First-Yanks Fight Dogged Uphill Battle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 .- The Yankees and Giants fought furiously, but to no avail today in the second game of the world series. They had the score tied at three runs each at the end of the tenth enning, when the umpires, seeing the approach of twilight, called an armistice. When the hostilities break out anew tomorrow the teams will be in the same position as before today's game, the Giants having one victory and the Yankees none.

After the game thousands of fans gathered in front of the press box and the stands and gave a demonstration against the action of the officials in calling the game. Thousands gathered in front of Commissioner Landis' box and jeered him continuously for several minutes. It was a scene unparalleled in world series history. The fans claim that it was a pure move to get another 40,000 into the park for an extra game, and that at least two more innings could have been played. Visibly Uncomfortable.

Landis was visibly uncomfortable, but he would not answer the questions hurled at him by the fans wanting to know what he was going to do about it. The mob increased in front of the commissioner's box and defied the special police who tried to get them to leave the

The mob of enraged fans surrounded Judge Landis and followed him, hooting and yelling at him across the field and out of the park.

Landis, with two or three special policemen fighting to keep back the crowd, was jostled and buffetted by angry men. He stopped several times and faced the mob, shouting back at them and flourishing his cane over his head.

The commissioner's hat was off and his tousled gray head towered above the sea of hats as he defied the throng.

Yells of "O, Judge," and "What are they framing now, Landis?" together with boohs and groans, drowned the words Landis Landis finally left the park through the players' gate with the crowd still surrounded him. By that time a number of free fights had developed as fans rushed to the commissioner's assistance, crying: "That's no way to treat an old man."

They hurled mean words yith good eyes could see it was still light enough to keep on playing. They ushed to the box, where Baseball commissioner Landis sat with Mrs. Shawkey pitched 146 balls, while Barnes they rushed to the box, where Baseball commissioner, and the chorus behind them booed with vigor.

The other thousands who went straight home seemed to feel that they had seen one of the most remarkable battles in the second after Stengel and Snyder of a charley horse, was left on third when Bancroft filed out.

Barnes, spotted to a three-run lead before he even walked into the box, was often in trouble. With perfect support, at all times, he would have won as the Yankees earned but two of their runs, while the Giants cleanly hammered all three of their counters across the plate. Both Groh and Frisch had got on base with singles before Meusel's single homer sent them across the plate.

BENTON HURLS ST. PAUL 2-1 VICTORY

Holds Hard-Hitting Orioles To But Three Hits.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.-Mainly because of some wonderful pitching by Rube Benton, former big league southpaw, the St. Paul Club evened up the series with Baltimore by capturing the second game this afternoon 2 to 1. Benton held the hard-hitting International League crew to three hits, and after McAvoy had driven in Baltimore's only run in the second inning with a short single to right, was never in

Tom Sims Says:

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Aug. 5.-Well, the second game of the world's series went 3 to 3 in favor of the box-office.

Giants played the Yanks and Yanks played the Umps.

First two innings the fans played "Seat, seat, where is my seat?" Either all the fat people had wrong seats, or all the people in wrong seats were fat people. Section 6 got the decision in this; it had 98.765,432 corns smashed to section 9's 23,456,789.

They called it the grandstand be-cause everybody was standing.

In the third inning, when the ball game was first noticed, a lady said: "Look, Honey, the score is 30 to 10.

Mr. Ruth has made only one touchdown." She probably thinks the Gants won by over two million.

Gate receipts about $110,000, but the price of several lost balls must be deducted.

No one knows where one foul ball went. The only clue is that Irvin Cobb had his mouth open. The score was tied in the eighth-stood: Giants 3,000,000 and Ya 1,010,001.

Then Ruth came up, and one man said: "That big bum can't hit a flock of barns." And Babe hit, and, "Whee! Go on Babe—I knew it was in you!" After that event the one-eyed men got their money's worth.

Our real national sport is yelling.
