It would be bad enough to broadcast such warnings were they true, but when they are not true it is nothing short of plain slander on the Dominion of Canada to make capital for the Conservative party. Canada has no desire to hide the fact that she is paying her share for an honorable and outstanding participation in the world war, but Canada resents the use of this burden for politigal exploitation.

From a source far removed from Canadian politics-the chancellor of the British exchequer -we take the following comparison of per capita taxation in English-speaking countries: 1913-14

Of the two English-speaking countries with a lesser rate of taxation than Canada, one, South Africa, has such a large native and colored population that the per capita figures mean very little. The other, United States, was very appropriation in any way. much later in entering the war than Canada, and did not incur anything like the per capita obligation from the source that Canadians did.

The facts about per capita taxation in other service. lands were readily available had the local Conservatives cared to use them. Instead of Canada government is able to bring before the people, being the highest taxed nation, her standing and it is high ground from which to appeal for is among the most favored, her per capita rate a renewal of the people's confidence. being exceeded by Australia, New Zealand and Great Britain, taxation in the latter being more than double the Canadian rate.

It is conceivable that in the heat of an elecof men and parties, but an effort to slander the dominion in the eyes of the world can come under no such exemption.

A Very Old Method.

Mayor Richardson of St. Marys addressed Conservative rally in his own town, and in the course of his remarks said he had "just learned cut? of an important industry in town that had been offered certain inducements to move over to United States. The company was waiting to see how the election came out next week; if the vote went in favor of Mackenzie King then the company would be compelled to accept the offer."

That New Immigration Policy.

The advertising material which is being used by the Conservative party has special reference to a new sort of immigration policy. By it the country can be filled up with people in a week or ten days. Here is the formula: "Increase our population-start a big imminouncement that Canada is the highest taxed matter of course! Easier said than done? Not country in the world, and the sanction of Frank at all! All we have to do to start the tide of White, the Conservative candidate, is given to immigration flowing through our ports is to hold that statement by the use of his name on the hoord. The same statement is made in Contens of thousands."

The reference is of course to immigrants for

Sad But Very True By ARK.

Some folks we meet they spend their time on talkin' what they used to do, they boast about their family tree and of the blossoms which it grew.

One chap I'm thinkin' of just now he tells me time and time again about the time when he was young and beat up sixteen wicked men. How they come at him for a fight, and heaved at him tin cans and rocks, but in them days he was a giant and had the sinew of an ox.

Another chap he pauses too to tell when he was twenty-one, he split ten cords of wood a day and reckoned it a bit of fun. "I mind the time I took my gun and went unto the bush one day, I saw six bears behind the barn, I never let one get away. And farther on I met a wolf and well nigh shot the brute in two, before I quit I caught a fox and killed a wicked bobcat too."

But this old world may pause to hear such yarns as folks be passing by, but all the same it grins a spell and winks a meaning

It may be thrillin' like to say you killed the bear that ate your cow, but this old world it measures folks by what they can produce right now.
