Majority Rejects Proposal to Send Address to Emperor William

FURTHER SEVERE REMARKS

Emperor Receives Telegraphic Report of First Day's Debate

Berlin, Nov. 11.—The most exciting debate in a long time in the Reichstag was concluded this evening with the rejection by the majority of a proposition to send an address to the Emperor, calling attention to the danger of His Majesty's personal intervention in foreign politics.

The discussion brought forth strong expressions from the representatives of most of the parties. The displeasure of the house was concentrated principally upon Chancellor Von Bulow. Members of several of the groups refused to accept the Chancellor's explanation with regard to the Emperor's interview in the London Daily Telegraph as satisfactory, or as offering guarantees for the future.

But when the proposition of addressing the Emperor formally on the subject was put to the house, the government majority did not hesitate in voting against it.

Chancellor Von Bulow listened unmoved, virtually throughout the whole afternoon, to personal attacks against him, only leaving the house for a short time to attend the sitting of the Prussian cabinet. It was generally expected that he would speak again today, but the Chancellor disappointed the members.

Baron Von Kiderlein Waechter, the acting foreign minister, in his maiden speech, and amid constant applause, defended the Emperor's conduct. He declared was overworked and lacked sufficient staff. His defence of the foreign office, which was so closely identified with the Emperor, was received with loudly expressed derision by the Socialists.

The Reichstag was again crowded when the Emperor's private interposition in the foreign affairs of the nation was discussed. Chancellor Von Bulow and all the ministers, including Baron Von Kiderlein Waechter, the acting foreign minister, were present, and the diplomatic and other galleries were crowded.

Baron Gamp, conservative, said he thought that the answer and bitterness shown yesterday by Herr Liebermann Von Sonnenberg, the agrarian anti-semiter, was no way to treat such a sovereign with so many admirable qualities should find himself in such a plight. His Majesty's trouble ought not to be increased by the presence of advisers, who since the time of Bismarck, never have been able to tell his Majesty plainly his constitutional duties.

Konrad Hausmann, Bavarian radical, attacked the conduct of the Chancellor throughout the entire incident of the Reichstag. He said that the Emperor had been misled by the Chancellor and the Emperor severely, as did several other speakers.

The debate was concluded and the Emperor's reply was read. The proposition of the address and adjournment.

Donaueshingen, Baden, Nov. 11.—A telegraphic report of the proceedings in the Reichstag yesterday was telegraphed to Emperor William. The last installment was transmitted to the castle at 9 o'clock yesterday evening. Three hours later the telegraph office was busy with the Emperor's replies to the messages from the castle to Berlin.

Charles Haines, Old Resident of Naas District, Dies While Indian Wife is Absent

Vancouver, Nov. 11.—The sudden death of Charles Haines, for ten years a settler in the district north of the mouth of Naas river, is reported by arrivals by steamer to Vancouver today. Haines with his Indian wife had been for nine years living on their farm. Last week the Indian woman left for Port Essington with farm produce for sale, leaving Haines alone with his five-year-old son. In a storm Haines' small boat got adrift and he swam out to tow it ashore. He succeeded in doing this, but took a chill and next day died of pneumonia. No one who saw him who happened along, the half-breed son declared that there was a man lying on the bed with a mask on—referring to the dead body of his father. It was unfortunate that the boy was rescued, for his mother had not intended returning for several days, and as a husband was raging he would certainly have been frozen to death without a fire.

Haines was well-known all along the Northern coast. He had a brother somewhere in British Columbia and a sister at Parry Sound, Ont.

To Save Chinese Pride

Peking, Nov. 11.—In order to establish the pride of the Chinese people, the official newspaper controlled by Grand Councilor Shai Mat, explains the fact that only half the American battleship fleet, that is to say, six vessels, visited Amoy as the guests of the Chinese Government, by declaring that the fleet was dispersed by a storm on way to the Chinese coast. The fate of the other eight vessels it asserts is unknown. Only half of the fleet reached Amoy.

The foreign legation accepts this statement with complacency. The United States legation was not consulted prior to its publication.

CRIME OUTBREAK AMONG BEGGALS

Attempt to Kill Lieutenant-Governor Followed by Murder of Detective

MUCH ALARM IN CAPITAL

Many Cases of Weapons Said to Have Been Imported From America

Calcutta, Nov. 10.—The city of Calcutta is terrorized by an outbreak of political crimes. The danger, but unsuccessful, attempt made three days ago on the life of Sir Andrew L. Fraser, the lieutenant-governor of Bengal, was followed by a murder yesterday evening. A Bengal detective, who had been active in trailing the revolutionists, was shot down on a crowded street by three men.

The people fear to give information concerning the criminals, lest vengeance be visited upon them. The police are powerless.

One of the two natives who was found guilty of murdering a man named Gossain last summer, was hanged today. All the police reserves of the city have been ordered on duty to prevent sympathetic demonstrations.

In the course of a trial at Midnapore, Bengal, in connection with a discovery of arms and explosives, a police informer testified that one of the accused had told him that many cases of rifles and revolvers had been shipped from America to Bombay under the guise of sewing machines and cotton goods.

The attack on Sir Andrew Fraser was particularly daring, and was the third since his appointment in 1903. The lieutenant-governor, accompanied by the Maharajah of Burdwan, an important division of Bengal, and Secretary Barber of the Y. M. C. A. attended a lecture given by Professor E. D. Burton of Chicago university at the town hall, which was crowded with an audience that included many of the most prominent residents of the city.

Just as the lieutenant-governor stepped upon the dais, a young man, who afterward gave the name of Khowbur, rushed up and fired a revolver within a few inches of Sir Andrew's body and killed the trigger twice, but missed the target.

Barber, who is an American, flung himself upon the Bengali. The latter struck savagely at the secretary with his revolver and wounded him severely on the head, but was eventually overpowered.

In the meantime the maharajah and a group of great nobles, who were called the lieutenant-governor and flung him bodily through a door out of their way. A group of Bengalis occupying chairs in the hall, rushed to their feet and rushed out of the hall. They escaped during the commotion. It is believed that the secretary was in order to assist Khowbur, but took alarm at his complete failure to carry out his plan.

British Honduras Satisfies Hindus

Delegates Will Advise Countrymen to Accept Offer of Government

Vancouver, Nov. 11.—The Hindu delegates will report favorably on the proposition to transfer the island of British Honduras. This is the advice received by cable from J. B. Harkin, private secretary to the minister of the interior, who is now in Belice, the capital of the Central American colony.

It is understood that Mr. Harkin and the East Indian delegation will leave next week for Vancouver. On their return here the Hindus will present many reasons why the offer of the imperial government to locate them in British Honduras should be accepted. The cost of their passage from British Columbia to the colony will probably be borne jointly by the imperial and local authorities. The Hindus will be employed on railway construction work and on sugar plantations at a rate not exceeding one dollar per day.

It is expected that ninety per cent of the East Indians resident in British Columbia will accept the terms respecting employment guaranteed by the government of British Honduras. Those who refuse to emigrate and who are found out of work during the winter months will be deported to Hongkong.

Prince Albert Election.

Prince Albert, Sask., Nov. 11.—Sixty-five polls were held last night of the 10th grade Rutland Liberal 25 majority. The four polls in this morning gave Rutland a small majority, increasing his lead to 49. There are 60 polls to come in, a few of which are expected in this afternoon. Seven polls will be heard from for one or two weeks. The balance of the polls should be in by tomorrow noon. It is considered by the Liberals that the Rutland is without doubt elected and that the balance of the polls to hear from will only increase his majority. The Conservatives claim that the election will be very close, and they still expect Mr. McKay to win out.

GRAVE IN LABRADOR TAKEN FOR ANDREW'S

Discovery by Fishing Skipper Causes Vain Report to Be Circulated

Copenhagen, Nov. 11.—There is reason to believe that the body of Professor S. A. Andrew, the Arctic explorer who in 1847 made an attempt to reach the north pole in a balloon, has been found on the coast of Labrador. The American pilot of the Conception Bay, Newfoundland, discovered in northern Labrador a cross named Andrew's cross, which is marked beneath this cross he found a box and a box of documents.

St. John's, N. F., Nov. 11.—Captain James Chalkers, master of the fishing schooner Pilot, of Brigues, Conception Bay, said tonight that while his vessel was out making a cruise to the north coast of Labrador about August 15, he started over and across the cape to Black Duck Bay, three miles distant from the main coast, and there he discovered a cross bearing the inscription "Andrew Anstey, Nov. 7, 1847." The lettering was very faint, and it was difficult to read. He said that the cross was about a mile from the shore. Captain Chalkers says he could locate the grave again very easily, if required.

WANTS CABLEGRAMS AT A PENNY A WORD

Father of Imperial Penny Postage Idea Attacks Cable Monopoly

London, Nov. 10.—Henrick Heaton, the father of the Imperial Penny Postage idea, addressed a big audience in the Royal Colonial Institute this evening, and advocated the transmission of cablegrams at one penny a word. He declared that an immediate ought to be put to the present cable monopoly at any cost, and that the cable companies should be bought out at the market price by the civilized governments of the world.

He said that the first step to be taken would be a conference of the postmaster general of Europe and the establishment of the penny a word rate in this hemisphere. He said that he would be a conference with the postal authorities of America. The carrying capacity of the cable lines between the continent and America, Mr. Heaton declared, was twelve times greater than the amount of business at present handled and a majority of them were unscrupulously kept idle by the cable monopoly.

Civilized governments should and would abolish frontiers for telegraphic purposes. Mr. Heaton urged a universal tariff as the best way to clear up misunderstandings and bring peace in touch with the nations, the influences that makes for war.

Bulgarian Republicans.

Sofia, Nov. 11.—The national assembly today was the scene of a notable Republican demonstration during the debate on the address in reply to the royal message. The cabinet failed to control its own supporters, and several members of the government's majority delivered the most violent attacks upon Emperor Ferdinand ever heard within the walls of the assembly. The growing influence of the crown was denounced as disastrous to the liberty of the people, and the ministers were warned that the nation was in no mood to pay so dearly for the new crown or to suffer its interests to be jeopardized by the gratification of monarchial ambitions. There were frequent interruptions and calls of "Treason, treason." The presiding officer and several other members were obliged to silence the speakers, but the house gave a sympathetic hearing.

PASSENGERS DIE AMONG WRECKAGE

Errors of Trainmen on Louisiana Road Costs Lives of Eleven Persons

RUINS OF CARS TAKE FIRE

Vain Efforts of Rescue Force to Release Little Boy From Debris

New Orleans, La., Nov. 11.—It was a heavy price in human life that was paid for the error of railroad trainmen today when a Great Northern express crashed into the rear of a New Orleans and Northeastern local train at Littlewood station, twelve miles from New Orleans.

Eleven dead and many more injured, some them fatally, the record of the wreck which was attended by unusually gruesome scenes.

The wreck caught fire and only the head end of the Great Northern train prevented the cremation of those perished in the debris.

Between Slidell and New Orleans the Great Northern railway trains run over the track of the New Orleans and Northeastern railway, and there was a misunderstanding as to which train had the right of way at the time of the accident. No one on the Great Northern express was seriously hurt, about those aboard the Northeastern local were thrown right and left, or crushed by the express locomotive, as it tore through the two rear coaches of the local.

Among the sights that greeted the rescuers was that of a small boy apparently unable to extricate himself from the wreck which was fast settling down upon him. A score or more of men made a heroic effort to get about those aboard the Northeastern escaping steam from the damaged locomotive interfered, and they were forced to stand helplessly while the child futtled for help until he died.

This child proved to be Wm. Attaway, three years old of Slidell, La., his being taken on board the local train several hours later, horribly mutilated.

A partial list of the dead follows: Alton, La., Wm. Martin, 38, home in Slidell, in coal business in New Orleans; Geo. Edinger, 44, Slidell; B. Lowry, Chicago, drummer for the American Crockery Company; Wm. Attaway, the little child.

Mr. Hazlett, pastor, and a friend of the deceased at the church. There was no sermon or address by the rector, but the simple burial service of the Anglican church was read.

STANDARD OIL WINS A POINT

Petition For Rehearing of Appeal Against Fine Is Denied By Court of Appeals

ARGUMENTS OF COUNSEL

Government to Bring Case Before U. S. Supreme Court at Once

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The petition of the United States Government for a rehearing by the circuit court of appeals of the appeal in the Standard Oil case was refused by the court today. This is a defeat for the time of the government's action, as at the hearing the court set aside the fine of $28,000 imposed by Judge Landis.

The government in its petition for a rehearing intimated that if the opinion of the judges of the appellate court were allowed to stand it would nullify nearly every order of rate reformatory legislation accomplished by the Roosevelt administration. In summing up its position, counsel for the government said that the opinion of the court of appeals as it stood erroneously stated material portions of the records, did injustice to other side, and that the government would appeal the rule of law to be applied as to knowledge upon the part of the shipper that he was accepting an illegally low rate, and did not make it clear what was to constitute an offence, a trainload, a car lot or a whole series of shipments for which the settlement of freight charges had been made.

It was further alleged that the language of the appellate judges appeared to be in conflict with the language of the supreme court and with the language used by the president, Judge Grosscup, in a previous similar case. The petition closed with a statement that if the opinion of the court of appeals were allowed to stand unmodified, it would tend to encourage disobedience to law, to impede the enforcement of statutory enactments and largely to defeat their purpose.

To the Supreme Court

Washington, Nov. 10.—It was stated at the Department of Justice today that the Standard Oil case had been taken to the supreme court at the earliest possible date. This will be done by an application for a writ of certiorari. Notice of an application of this kind must be given by the defeated party in the case, and as opportunity afforded opposing counsel to file their brief in opposition.

The supreme court announced that it would take a recess commencing on Monday next, until November 30, the application, therefore, will probably be submitted to the court by that time.
