WOULD RUIN THE FRUIT INDUSTRY Mediterranean Fly Which Has Devastated Hawaii Would Bring Disaster to This Province if Allowed In

The following account of "one of the worst fruit pests in the world," as the Minister of Agriculture for British Columbia lately termed it, is quoted in extenso from the San Francisco Chronicle...

California faces a new yellow peril. It is the Mediterranean fruit fly, known in entomology as Ceratitis capitata, a small, oblong-headed insect...

Wherever it goes it wreaks havoc wholesale, few fruits withstanding its onslaughts, and it holds science and all other man-made methods of relief at bay.

The Mediterranean fruit fly does not confine its operations to the fruits alone. In Hawaii and parts of Australia where it has gained root it attacks the bean, tomato, cotton, melon and kindred soft vegetables.

Wide Range of Attack The Mediterranean fruit fly does not confine its operations to the fruits alone. In Hawaii and parts of Australia where it has gained root it attacks the bean, tomato, cotton, melon and kindred soft vegetables.

The pest already has permeated Hawaii, and Mosley proposes to transplant them in this State.

When I started to go through the baggage conscientiously, when I got to the last piece she repeated her mild reproachful protest. "Haven't you gone far enough to be convinced I wouldn't lie to you?" she asked.

Her manner was so gentle and honest that she made me feel like a boor and a clown, but I went through the baggage conscientiously.

Once established, the pest seems to have proved permanent wherever it has appeared. Poisonous sprays on the trees and all other methods of pest extermination have failed to kill it or check its spread.
