

wound about half a dozen times round his throat) in the hall, took his umbrella and turned out into the open air, when he ran straight up against Miss Chichester, who had walked for exactly sixty minutes by the stable clock.