

in 1892, and about 300 Copies, were bound and circulated among the Indians. The History of the New Testament followed, but no more than 16 or 32 pages were issued on the Mimeo-graph, when photoengraving was adopted for the printing of the Wawa; and mimeographing was discarded, as too slow and too laborious for the number of copies required. So the History of the Old Testament was reedit-ed, and the History of the New
