

deed, I was never tried so much as when pressed upon by them to show in what does a saving faith consist, and how was the heart interested in it; and if I have failed, it has not been because I have not been willing, but because I have not been able. Yet I know that I have come far short of my duty, for which I now implore the divine mercy and forgiveness.

I cannot close this letter without adverting to the place in which I live. Since my last letter to you, the Lord has blessed us with a few conversions: eight have been baptized, and added to the church, and I hope others will follow before long. Things appeared favourable before I left; but I fear they are rather low again. Yet the thought that "the Lord's hand is not shortened that it cannot save, nor his ear heavy that it cannot hear, and especially that heart-cheering promise—"Lo, I am with you," reanimates us with renewed vigour to go on to the conquest of the world.

Your's, in the kingdom and patience of our common Lord,

D. M'PHAIL.
