

To Manufacturers.

All manufacturers who are readers of THE CANADIAN DRUGGIST are requested to mail one of their more recent catalogues to the American Catalogue Bureau, Cleveland, Ohio. It is the intention of this bureau to open free business libraries in several of the more important cities of this country and abroad, and by complying with the above request our readers will not only benefit themselves, but assist in imparting some valuable information.

"Elixir Anti-Gastralgique—Liqueur Hor."

We call the attention of our readers to the "Anti-Gastralgique Winckler," of Montreal—Sous-Bois, near Paris (France).

The success of this elixir lies in the effective mixture of "Cocaine, Narceine, and Pepsine."

The dose is one or two tablespoonfuls ; it may be taken before meals.

It is designed to cure not only gastralgia but also indigestion, dyspepsia, œsophagysm, vomiting after eating, above all, among tubercular troubles, a first-class tonic ; it stimulates the appetite.

The "Narceine" makes the anæsthesia, produced by the cocaine upon the mucous membranes in the bowels, more lasting and general. The "Pepsine" changes the nitrogenous food into peptone.

The "Anti-Gastralgique Winckler" contains, therefore, real medicinal and more strengthening value than any other remedy in the market to-day. It acts quite rationally.

The two alcaloides remove the irritation of the stomach, the pepsine acts only after relief is first obtained.

This elixir contains a very small quantity of alcohol, and consequently proves to be a very reliable pepsine remedy.

Besides this worthy specific for dyspepsia, Mr. Winckler has discovered a new first-class stimulating and refreshing tonic. The new medical discovery is called "Liqueur Hor," Kola, Coca, and Lime Glycerophosphate, a perfect specific for general "Debility," "that tired feeling," "moral exhaustion." The "Liqueur Hor" purifies and vitalizes the blood, and cures catarrh, chronic bronchitis, etc. ; it strengthens the system during pregnancy and nursing, and the other female diseases ; it consolidates the bones and cures Rickets. Dose : One tablespoonful after eating. It does not constipate nor weaken the stomach. It justly merits the claim of being one of the most worthy tonics in the world.—[Advt.]

Ransom's Hive Syrup and Tolu and Trask's Magnetic Ointment.AN OLD REMEDY.

There are few druggists on this continent that are not acquainted and that have not sold quantities of this article. Mr. Francis U. Kahle, of 127 Bay street,

Toronto, is putting forth special efforts in the way of advertising these remedies. In another part of this journal there appears a letter to the drug trade calling attention to a new family recipe book that is being published, and we would ask the special attention of the druggists to this notice, as it will be well worth their while to send forward their names and addresses for this book.

Books.A New Book by John Uri Lloyd.

"The Right Side of the Car" is the title of a new book by the author of "Etidorpha," a work which has received everywhere the most flattering encomiums.

It is the intention of the author to have a special limited edition of this new work published, each copy having a special inscription and gotten up as a souvenir volume. It is also intended that the fund derived from the sale of this edition shall be devoted to the raising of a monument fund in honor of the late Prof. John King, M.D., who is well known to our readers as the author of several works on materia medica, and was also a leading teacher amongst the eclectic school of physicians.

This is not intended, and it is to be hoped will not be looked upon, as a "charitable" act, but done in kind remembrance of one intimately connected with much that was beneficial to pharmacy generally. The edition named will not be on sale in book stores, and no subscription will be received after a limited period. Those desirous of obtaining the volume should forward their subscriptions at once, as copies will be printed only for those who remit the price ($2) with the order. Letters to be addressed to John Uri Lloyd, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Magazines.

As the result of the development of our public school system and the cheapening of books, there has grown up a large class of men and women who seek broader education, or desire to extend their knowledge along special lines. Their duties in life, or lack of means, exclude them from the universities. The Cosmopolitan Magazine has undertaken the task of bringing liberal education, in its broadest sense, within the reach of those who have the aspiration, but are deprived of the opportunity. Doctor Andrews, late of Brown University, has undertaken the presidency of The Cosmopolitan's educational movement. The work thus begun is not intended to take the place of regular university work, but to supply a gap in existing educational facilities. Those who are really in search of knowledge will find direction and aid. It can do nothing for those who have not the desire to study. An intending student sends to The Cosmopolitan, New York, his name, occupation, previous courses of study, studies desired to be pursued, objects and purpose for which course is designed, and the number of hours, daily or weekly, study which can be given. No charges of any kind will be made to students.

An Interesting Number.

The interior of one thousand of the most attractive homes in the United States have been photographed by The Ladies' Home Journal. One hundred of the best of these pictures are reproduced in that magazine. The first article of the series—"Inside of a Hundred Homes"—appears in the October Journal. Bed-chambers, reception and dining rooms, bath-rooms, halls and apartments of every kind are pictured just as they are in daily use. Each picture contains dozens of suggestions. Every woman is interested in taking a peep into the most attractive homes in the land, to see how they are furnished and arranged. She wants to get practical hints and new ideas for furnishing her own. The houses photographed by the Journal are those occupied by persons of moderate incomes. Their interior arrangement shows what perfect taste can accomplish with a little money and the touch of a woman's deft fingers. Homes in every State in the Union—from Maine to California—were photographed for the Journal's unique and useful series.

Leslie's Monthly for October.

The Hawaiian Islands are well described and well illustrated in an article by George H. Johnson in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for October. It gives in an attractive manner the history and customs of the people of this future territory of the United States. "Some Kentucky Women" is a brief paper on the belles of the "Blue Grass," made particularly attractive by numerous portraits of beautiful women. George Willis Bardwell contributes a pleasing sketch of the Breton peasants, which is illustrated by beautiful reproductions of paintings by Henry Mosler. Another article which contains entertaining reading as well as important information is "Salmon-fishing on the Columbia," by Joseph William Collins, giving a graphic picture of the work and methods of those engaged in the securing and canning of salmon. Other articles in this number are: "The Island of Marcken," "Old Coaching Inns," "Some Paintings by Modern Artists," "The Last Duel in the Place Royale"; there are a number of short stories, the continuation of the serial, a department for boys and girls, a poem by Louise Chandler Moulton, and an illustrated Hallowe'en poem by Minne Irving. —Frank Leslie's Publishing House, New York.

Arsenic cigarettes are proposed as a means of administering this drug in a pleasant manner.
