OUR LADY'S SYMBOLS. December snow is white— We think of thee; December skies are blue—, We think of thee.

December stars are bright, And all the world is light. When thy moon gracefully Gildes out for thee.

The snow thy symbol is, The blue thy symbol is— In hope we wait.

The moon and stars are thine. Gifts of thy Son divine. Thou, from all sin-stain free, Come, take our hearts to thee!

HOUSE AND HOUSEHOLD.

GOOD TASTE IN GHRISTMAS PRESENTS. Good taste discriminates between the needs of country and town, and does not send an opera glass or the party-bag to the farm-house; neither does it give the boy a book which he ought to like, but tries to select one to complete his favorite series. Children's stockings are sometimes filled from the standpoint of maturity. Utility and not suitability governs the choice of their contents. There has been many a disappointed, sorrowful heart on Christmas morning because the powers that be, forgetting their own childhood, had catered to the tastes of forty instead of those of four. So youth sometimes confounds age. The young girl who "adores olives" perplexes her plain old auntie by the presentation of a queer little dish for which her domestic economy finds no. use. It is wise not to consult our own preferences, but to discover and gratify the individual fancies and fads of others. On the principle of like attracting like, the most valuable gift too often finds its way to the one who needs it least. In some cases good jugement dictates the giving of money as the kindest thing to to be done. How often some poverty-straightened one has sighed over the expensive gift." If I only had the money this cost." No field affords a wider opportunity for the exercise of common sense than Christmas giving. Women, by exercising jugdment, not only benefit themselves but are a positive blessing in their example to the entire sex, and the Yule-tide of 1890 will be a happy one indeed if common sense is more employed in Christmas gifts:—Helen Jay, in Christmas Ladies' Home Journal.

SENSIBLE GHRISTMAS HINTS. Buy no more than you can afford. Give no gift where you do not delight

Shop no more than you have the strength for. Entertain only within your means.

Keep your Christmas nerve, and muscle, and heart, and hope, and cheer, first for your own home, your own fireside, your dearest, your closest, your sweetest—and then for the homeless, the fireless, the unloved, the "undeared," and be true, true, true to let the last Christmas card that goes to your post-office, or the last "Merry Christmas" that crosses your lips?

We are generous people, and a happy people, and a Christian people, and we must keep our festival with sincerity, honor, intelligence and good sense, if we would keep it alive and "in His name."— ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS, in Christmas Ladies' Home Journal.

A CHOICE CHRISTMAS CAKE.

One of the best authorities on the editorial staff of The Ladies' Home Journal gives the following of thrones or diadems. Every phase of excellent receipt for a Christmae cake in the December number:

Cream one pound of butter and add one pound of soit white sugar. Beat fourteen eggs very light, the yelks and whites separately. Sift and warm one pound of flour, and add it by the handful to the sugar and butter alternately with the yelks and whites. Stir in one tablespoonful of mixed essence of lemon and one tablespoonful of mixed spices, beaten very fine and sifted. Have ready two pounds of stoned and chopped raisins; two of currents, picked washed and dried; two of citron, cut small; two pounds of almonds, blanched and pounded with rose-walter, and one gill of sweet cider. Mix the fruit and cider thoroughly into the cake, and bake it very slowly and carefully.

The Irish Church.

Certain eccentric persons having asserted that the ancient Celtic Church did not owe allegiance to the Holy See, are dealt with as follows by the editor of the Catholic Times:

That the whole Celtic Church believed in Papal Supremacy we know from the "Canon of St. Patrick." That canon—a copy of St. Patrick's autograph is preserved in the Book of Armagh, the actual copy of which is now in existence—was written before A.D. 727. Here it is:—
"Moreover, if any case should arise of extreme difficulty, and beyond the they invited the faithful to flock into the knowledge of all the judges of the nations cathedral. The day of a 39th anniversaof the Scots (Irish), it is to be duly referred to the chair of the Archbishop of the Gædhill, that is to say, of Patrick, and the jurisdiction of this Bishop (of Armagh). But in such a case as aforesaid, if a matter at issue cannot be properly disposed of by him with his counsellors in that investigation, we have decreed that it be sent to the Apostolic seat, that is to say, to the chair of the Apostole Peter, having the authority of the city of Rome." Those monks of Iona were born laity, who could be seen filling the church and trained in Ireland, where that canon and trained in Ireland, where that canon at an early hour of the day, spoke most was in force. The Church of Iona formed a portion of the Irish or Celtic true love in which the venerable prelate or cleaning house with ordinary soap is like rolling a heavy stone up hill: it takes main strength and agood deal of it. The same work done with Pearline is like rolling the stone down hill-it's easy; quick; true; goes right to the mark; and with very little labor.

All dirt must go before PEARLINE. It robs woman's hardest work of its drudgery-(2. praiseworthy theft, by the way). The question is—does it or does it not hurt the hands, clothes or paint? We tell you it don't

But better yet-get a package (it costs but a few pennies, and every grocer keeps it) and try it for yourself-your gain will be larger than ours.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline," IT'S FALSE—they are not, and besides are dangerous.

The Patriarch is on important business in England with regard to his dominion. He has had an important interview with Lord Salisbury. Last week His Beatitude was the guest of His Excellency the Turkish Ambassador. While on his way to England he was received by His Holiand important interview. The Pope, who has amongst other things promised a col-lege in Rome for the Chaldean students, has already founded one at Mossul, where the ruler resides. Peter Elias XII., who claims an unbroken patriarchal succession from St. Thomas for stantinople and Rome. In 1865 he was to represent the patriarchal office at the centenary of SS. Peter and Paul. In 1874 he was consecrated Bishop of Gar Zezira, and four years later was made Patriarch of Babylon. His Beatitude, who can write and speak in seven languages, is an authority on theology, philosophy and science. He rules a vast though thinly populated dominion in the East, with a population of about 200,000 souls.

What is a Bishop?

"What is a Bishop?" was a question put recently by Mgr. Billard, Bishop of Carcasone, before an immense congregation assembled to witness the consecration of the new Bishop of Soissons in the Cathedral of Rouen, France. Mgr. Billard answered his own question by a splendid discourse, which has been commented on in various quarters. Before defining the role of a Bishop, he quoted to justice and humanity." earthly glory is infinitely surpassed by the greatness of the priesthood." "If," said the speaker, "these words of St. John Chrysostom apply to the simple Priest, does not their significance increase when we apply them to the Bishop, the Priest par excellence? Is he not a second Moses, and do we not see in him that sacred thing which the ages of faith called a 'second majesty,' the first being the adorable majesty of God! Woe to the sectames who do the saturic work of snatching souls from God. With them the true Bishop is no longer as gentle as a lamb. He exerts rather the strength of a lion in endeavoring to rescue from the hands of their enemies the souls dear to God. He is ready to shed his blood for these souls. The cross which he wears on his breast is a perpetual exhortation to self-sacrifice. Were there a figure in marble symbolizing the liberty of the Church it should be veiled at this hour to represent the sorrow of her Bishops and of all her true children. To use the words of the great Fenelon at the consecration of the Elector of Cologne, Oh, God, grant Thy Church other Ambroses and other Augustines—pastors who do honor to their ministry by their Apostolic courage."

Archbishop Tache.

Last Tuesday the chimes of St. Boniface tolled with a particular charm as cathedral. The day of a 39th anniversary of a glorious episcopacy was dawning upon a reverend prelate and beloved father at the same time. His Grace the Most Reverend Alexander Antonin Tache, who was the worthy object of this worthy festival, must have felt in his heart that the numerous years of apostolic labor, which he has spent in this country, were not lavished on an ungrateful generation. For the presence of both is held. At 10 a,m. a solemn High Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Al-An Oriental Prince Bishop.

ment of the poor evicted tenants, he expressed a fervent hope that the Government may, in its wisdom, adopt some means of restoring them to the homes they had themeselves created by the sweat of their brows, and which were hardly less dear to them than life itself. "Can it be questioned," asks his Lordness the Pope, with whom he had a long ship, "that it is the bounden duty of the Government of the country, by provid ing useful remunerative employment, to save thousand of our deserving poor tenants not yet evicted from the horrors of starvation, which owing to the disastrous failure of the potato crop in many districts is now staring them in the Roman Church of the East, was born the face in the near future? The Most Rev. Dr. McCormack, Bishop of Galway, writes. "Here in the West we shall, I fear, have a very anxious time during the approaching winter and spring in watching and caring for, as best we can, the thousands affected by the disastrous failure of crops, and in consequent danger of wanting the very necessaries of life. Meantime, the evicted tenants have a present and pressing claim upon us, to which we are bound to respond in the political and social interests of our country, apart from the high motive of succouring our suffering fellowcountrymen, who are the victims of a legalised land system that is entailing results ("sentences of death") so opposed

On the 4th December, Branch No. 1, C. M. B. A. of Windsor, Ont., held its election of officers for 1891. There were nearly one hundred members present. The elected are A. J. E. Belleperche, Pres.; P. E. Panet. 1st V. P.; J. DeGursey, 2nd V. P.; P.J. Keough, Rec. Sec.; J. Lucier, assistant Rec.-Sec.; S. Gignac, Fin.-Sec.; D. Cronin, marshal; A. Mittmesser; Guard, and W. J. McKee, J. Mooney and T. D. Kinsella, trustees. Grand President MacCabe's answer to the open letter of the branch of the bran was read. The Grand President states that he is gratified to find that Branch No. 1 approves of his advice to refrain from discussion on points of difference, at least publicly; as it will be time enough to do so when matters now under submitted to them. On motion of Trustee O'Brien the chair was authorized to appoint a committee to devise and report a plan of operations at the meeting for the installation of officers. The chair appointed Bros. Deare, Bourke and Meloche. The Branch adjourned at 10.30 p.m., and the members at the invitation of the officers elect proceeded to Bro. M. Rochford's new place and partook of refreshments in honor of the occasion.

A Step in the Right Direction.

Although it may not appear so at a first glance, one of the most important amendments adopted at the last Supreme convention was that instructing secretaries of Grand Councils to forward printed or type-written copies of the minutes of said Councils to each member of the Supreme Committee on Laws at least one month prior to the Supreme Council session, and for the Supreme Committee on Laws to have printed or type-written copies of their report upon the same, ready for distribution at the opening of said session. Under this amendment those who are charged with the framing and revision of our laws will have a better knowledge of what they are voting for or against than was possible under the old system. As a proper auxilliary to this amendment the Committee on Laws of Grand Councils should also have printed copies of such recommendations as in their judgment are for the welfare of the Association ready for distribution among the members of the Councils to which they belong at the opening of said Grand Council's sessions.

should make these officers feel by the way we post ourselves on all that is being done by them, that if they wish to retain our confidence they must continue to merit it. Our representatives to Councils, especially, should be held to a strict accountability for the manner in which they represent our views, and they should be also held accountable for the report they are able to make to branches of the slight. confidence they must cont they are able to make to branches of the work done by the conventions of which they are a part. the matter. WAS THIS A CASE OF FORGETFULNESS? As we rode along toward Binghampton chatting about the association in general and the convention we were about to attend in particular, we heard a prominent representative remark: "I have one object in going to this convention, and that is to ascertain why it takes the C. M. B. A. so long a time as it does to pay its death claims, and I propose to find out before I get back." During the conversation that ensued, we told the worthy brother that we had in our trunk some data on the subject that we had compiled, showing in detail the dates of death, time of paying the claims, and the number of days that had elapsed between the events, for some consideration by the executive of the months back, and that it would be at his Grand Council of Canada shall have been service at any time he might desire it, service at any time he might desire it, submitted to them. He thinks the suggestion of a conference as stated worthy of consideration, but sees two difficulties:

| After we got to our destination. The offer was accepted, but the document was never called for; First, if nothing came of it the Archbishop would be placed in a very uncomfortable position, and second, he fears that the Supreme to why we took so long, or short a time during the session of the Council, as Council would not move one step to pay our beneficiaries; but we plainly from the position it has lately assumed, remember hearing that the representative referred to was placed upon the nate by the term arbitrary, if not by a stronger word. He concludes by saying the it will always afford him pleasure to hear from Branch No. 1. After the election concluded that the terrible cares of the addresses on the good of the association office completely erased the "one obwere made by ex-Mayor Cleary, Dr. ject of his mission" from his mind and Reaume, Chancellor Walsh, H. COMMERCIAL.

General firmness has again to be recorded as having prevailed in trade circles during the past week. There is not likely to be any material change until the holidays are over. For the next week or two the principal trade activity will centre on those lines influenced by the Christmas and New Years testivities.

Grain.

The grain market continues quiet, no business being reported. We quote: No. 1 hard Manitoba, $1.00; No. 2 do. $1.03 to $1.05; peas, 73 to 74c per 68 pounds in store; Manitoba oats, 44c; Upper Canada do., 46c to 46je; corn, 72 to 73 duty paid; feed barley, 59c to 52c; good maiting do., 65@70c; rye 60.

In good jobbing demand. Choice cleaned picked turkeys have sold readily at 10c, infeolor and medium stock selling for heim and prices led fair to stiffen but farmers had better not hold too tenaciously. The best geese offering sell freely at 7c, but the bulk of the receipts are hard to move at heim job, owing to the poor condition in which they arrive and the slovenly way in which they are packed. Owing, no doubt, to the advance in turkeys there was a brisk demand for chickons to-day—better than there has been for some days—and while anything extra nice sold at 7½c, a fair quotation is 6c@7c. Ducks continue duil at Sc@8½c.

(From the Union and Times.)
What the association has done in the past is nothing compared with what it can be made to do, when members begin to realize that each and every one of them has taken an obligation that imposes duties that should be always borne in mind. Among the chief of those duties is the exercise of their best judgment in selecting men to office who are capable to satisfactorily perform its functions. Nor is it enough to feel that when we have voted for men whom we believe best itted for the office that we have performed our whole duty in this respect. We should make these officers feel by the
