

vective, or private Slander, shall ever stain his Writings. He is determined never to know any other Friends, or other Enemies, but those, who are Enemies or Friends to the best of Princes, the Protestant Succession in his illustrious House; to the Laws and Liberties and Constitution of GREAT BRITAIN.

I am,

GENTLEMEN,

Your most obedient Servant.