HEAVY SHELL FIRE ROUTED OUR ARMY

Bombardier Palmero Chased
Local Fighters to Cover
Early in Battle.

Third instalment of our great serial story, "Felled Again, or the Missing Hit." (Continued from yesterday.)

Jawn Gansel and his pirate band made another raid on the stronghold of General Clymer and his fighters at Haulan Point yesterday and again our loyal band was beaten. General Clymer has been looking for a timely shot to help drive off the enemy, but it failed to arrive in time for assault, and the raiders carried three trenches, while Clymer's counter-attack only remained one. It is reported that Gansel, drunk with his victory, has withdrawn his fighters and will attack the defenders of our stronghold at a later date. This is welcome news, for the Ganselites defeated the Leafs in all three battles.

When the two armies were arrayed for battle it was seen that each general had picked on a Cuban to fire the siege guns. Bombardier Palmero of the enemy had the range better and subdued our brave little army and carried off the honors of the desperate struggle. Gunner Luke quickly got the distance of the foe's trenches and for four sessions held them from attacking. Our band made a sortie in the fourth and dislodged the enemy from one run. Chief of the Gansel Artillery Palmero helped this along with firing his gun over the second trench. It happened this way:

Private Graham opened the assault by slinging a base hit to the enemy's right and then Demmitt carried the D.B.O. by sacrificing himself for his comrade. Corporal Parent of the French brigade picked off a hit at short range to the left of blockhouse No. 2. Parent surprised the foe by stooping to the middle post in delayed fashion and Bombardier Palmero was so flustered that when he directed his guns in this direction his aim was poor and Graham rushed in to capture a run while the shells went towards him and died bravely.

Several mistakes were the result of Gunner Luke's return fire. First, dashed to the first trench on four wide shots and Williams sacrificed himself for his side. Stevenson boomed out a trench of the home base. Bombardier Palmero was soon sent to cover. Clemens waited until the shells were over his head and trotted to the first cover. He made a daring effort to get into the second line of trenches, and he captured the attention of the Clymer forces that Stevenson dashed in to get a run before Clemens could be snuffed out.

Long Range Gunner Smith drove a shell into the enemy's line, and the right in the next engagement that allowed him a run under the rules of baseball war. This was all that the foe was able to take away from our fighters, but their defence was not so good. They could not take away from us. Four misses gave Graham a chance to gain ground in the sixth inning. Demmitt dropped a bomb in the centre of the fight and then he lost when long ones that brought him to within one of the home base. KNOTTY'S GUELPH LEAFS HEAD THE CANADIAN

At Guelph—The Guelph Maple Leafs landed on the top of the Canadian League ladder when they defeated the St. Thomas team twice, while Hamilton was dropping a game to London. The Leafs were the only team in the league to win both games. The Leafs were 5 to 1 and 3 to 2. The Maple Leaf management are finding that expenses are too high and decided to cut down. They released Ralph Hunt, left fielder, and Marty Killian, second baseman. Tom Grieve will play for or Manager Lee himself will play back to the Toronto Internationals, as he belongs to that team, while Killian will endeavor to catch on with another team in the Canadian League. Hunt was hit at a 300 clip, but Killian's batting was away below what was expected of him. The scores:
