

truthfully represented without the application of the simple laws of perspective. This you do after a time unconsciously. But before you can do this, you must understand the great general principles of the science, and we hope that this paper in conjunction with your text book, will help you to more easily accomplish this.