"CHARMING CHARMERS"

With a view to bringing a success avenue, Toronto, on Sunday, June 9, ful season to a whirlwind climax, H. H. McKague. Manager Dan F. Pierce, of the Star Funeral from residence, Tuesday, 11th, at 2 o'clock.

MAYERHOFFER—At her late residence, 198 Sherbourne street, on June 10th, 1918. Annie Maria Pollard, widow of the late Julius Mayerhoffer.

Funeral from her late residence on Thursday, at 2 p.m., to St. John's Cemetery, by motors.

Manager Dan F. Pierce, of the Star Theatre, has selected the "Charming Charmers," as the production fit to close the season. The show is of the highest burlesque order and embraces many burlesque favorites of international reputation. The two farces selected are "Mixed and Twisted," and "A Day at the Island." Both are brimful of spontaneous humor and plenty of action. The chorus is elaborately gowned, and the electrical effects are gowned, and the electrical effects are in keeping. The illuminated running board adds to the many attractions. Lou Powers and Bob Nugent still have the comedy reins in their hands, and the fun is fast and furious. Joe Lyons the Toronto boy, May Hymans, John Weber, Evelyne Sorrell, Gladys Owens, and that little soubrette Buster Thompson are included. As a special attraction the management has added Professor Mascagni's art studies.

OFF FOR PALESTINE.

Louis Gurofsky, manager of the Gurofsky Brokerage Company, 113
West Queen street, has enlisted in the Jewish Legion, to serve in Palestine with the British army. He joins the Jewish Legion as a private. He has taken this action on the understanding that Philip Cowan, his sole remaining clerk of military age, be exempted to look after his business. Last night the "Pride of Israel" Association, which numbers several thousand members in Toronto, gave 17 recruits of the legion.

Toronto lost another pioneer in the death of Frank Hillock, of 271 East Dundas street, which occurred yesterday afternoon by Mayor Church. The company of heroic Frenchmen are in Buffalo now.
