VICTORIES CLAIMED BY RUSSIAN "REDS"

Report a Complete Victory Over Fourth Army Corps of Admiral Kolchak.

London, May 1.—Along the Murmansk railway the Bolshevik troops under allied pressure have withdrawn to new positions 30 miles west of Petrozavodsk, on the western bank of Lake Onega.

A Russian wireless message reporting the withdrawal, says that the Bolsheviks have carried out an advance on the front, south of Archangel, and that on the eastern front the Siberians have been driven back 20 miles in the region east of Orenburg.

Concerning the situation on the Archangel front the Russian statement claims that the Reds have advanced on the left of the Dvina to the mouth of the River Shuvelga, east of the Vaga. A further advance has been hindered by spring floods.

In the Orenburg region the Bolsheviks claimed to have crossed the River Dnieper, and to have advanced to a line 25 miles northeast of Buzuluk (between Orenburg and Samara) and to have advanced fighting in the region of Buguruslan (east of Samara).

On the other hand, the Bolsheviks were forced to retire six to ten miles north of the Plabuga-Uspolisk railway (in the region east of Kazan).

Another Russian wireless official says that along the Salmysch river, north-east of Orenburg, the Reds "obtained a complete victory over Admiral Kolchak's fourth army corps, wiping out eight regiments and capturing more than 1,500 prisoners. The general in command of the Siberian division also was captured. The Bolsheviks also were victorious."

"The banks of the Salmysch are covered with bodies, more than 600 have been counted. Many of the enemy were hurled into the river by the onsets of the Bolsheviks."

MOST OF BOMBS MAILED

HAVE BEEN LOCATED

Washington, May 1.—Belief was expressed by postoffice officials tonight that most, if not all, of the bombs mailed from New York as part of an anarchist May Day plot against the lives of public men has been found. Checking of reports from postal inspectors in various parts of the country showed that one of the internal machines, addressed to Senator Leo S. Borah of North Carolina, got thru during the past 24 hours, although press despatches, however, said two bombs, addressed to Senator William H. King of Utah and Frank K. Nebeker, an attorney, had been intercepted in the Salt Lake City postoffice. The department tonight had received no report from Salt Lake City.

ARMISTICE INVALID

IF POLES ADVANCE

Berlin, May 1, via Copenhagen.—Mathias Erzberger, chief of the German armistice delegation, in a note to Marshal Foch, made public in Berlin, says that Germany has reliable information that the Poles are planning in the next few days an advance with large forces against German territory in Posen and Upper Silesia. He adds that, therefore, it is impossible for the German government to guarantee that the armistice between Germany and Poland will be maintained if the Poles attack German territory. After such an attack the German government could not permit the further passage thru Germany from France of the Polish troops of General Haller.

RED FLAG UNFOLDS WITHIN THE ARENA ON LABOR'S DAY

Socialists Call on Government to Release Political Prisoners.

DOMINION-WIDE STRIKE

If Request is Not Accorded to, is Unanimous Threat.

Yesterday's session of the socialists at the Arena auditorium unanimously passed a resolution calling upon the government to release all political prisoners, and failing desired action, that the workers should call a Dominion wide general strike. The meeting rose reverently at the chant of the "International" and the "Marseillaise." The national anthem was not rendered.

Nine-tenths of those present bearing the emblem of the "Workers of the World" more than 3,000 wearers of the Red held a very orderly meeting under the eagle eye of E. A. Bales, Federation, who was introduced by Dave Morgan, of the Machinists Union. Morgan expressed the opinion that the strike of the metal trades against the exploitation of the capitalist class formed the beginning of a new era in the history of Canadian labor. He believed that the propaganda distributed at the meeting would prove the influence behind the inevitable revolution.

Herbert Lewis, another machinist, also editor of The Ontario Labor News, was the next speaker. He anticipated a provincial-wide strike at the basic industries and their profiteers. The cry of liberty and democracy, he said, had sunk down into the hearts of the workers, and would no longer prove a sham and mockery. He emphasized his opinion that workers should stand shoulder to shoulder in labor and in the struggle for the industries of the country. France was in the throes of a universal strike; Germany was no better off.

Continuing, Lewis referred to the elections with their packed ballot boxes. The worker, he said, had really discovered that his greatest power lay in the force of industrial rather than political action. Orderly and prohibited freedom of the press and assembly, but it was the duty of the great mass of the people to see to it that they forced their will upon the government.

Universal Strike. said Herbert Lewis, might be a metal workers' strike. The next one would prove to be a universal industrial action.

Koshado Oshivo, addressing the gathering in a foreign tongue, expressed the opinion that the workers of all true countries of Europe, and of the workers throughout the world, were at last becoming realized, and the 1st of May, the day long revered in reverence by the workers of the world, was at last becoming an occasion of marked significance to the lovers of real freedom and democracy.

John McDonald, vice-president of the metal workers' council, was glad to see so many red flags in the audience. The federation of the employers had practically locked out the workers, but nothing could now bar the road to victory. All the talk of the capitalist press about freedom was two-edged. The fact that it there was to be any reconstruction it must be thru the workers themselves. The employers were not desirous of dealing with the metal trades council because they feared its action would result in the one-big-union ideal. The council was not influenced by any such movement, "but," said Mr. McDonald, "I wish to warn the workers that if the one-union ideal is injurious to the employers it must be beneficial to the workers."

Referring to J. M. McKenna's remarks relative to competition, Mr. McDonald ridiculed the proposition, apparently considered by the employers, that Canadian wages be leveled down to those of the lowest wage worker. In conclusion, the speaker impressed his opinion that the strike was the only weapon which could be used by the workers with success. Unions were gradually organizing into federations, and in course of time the movement would evolve into a gigantic union, which would embrace the entire world. As a result, the good things of the world would belong to those who produced them.

Need of Solidarity. the next speaker, urged the need of solidarity of all the workers throughout the world, and that those who accused the wearers of the red of a lack of patriotism did not know the real meaning of the term. Recently, at the meeting of the Brotherhood of Anglican Clergymen, he had heard much talk of brotherhood, but had noted less than half a dozen members of other nationalities present on that occasion. This had given him food for thought.

"There has been a complete revolution thruout the world," said Mr. Simpson, "and kings and princes who five years ago felt the absolute security of their position are today either no more or are awaiting trial by an international tribunal to decide as to their disposition. The animal venom of those opposed to socialism is not far to find. What have you opponents to say of the decision of a great religious body to acknowledge the ideal of socialism?" Mr. Simpson pointed out that the first Monday in September was the great national holiday of the workers, but the first day of May was the emblem of international freedom from the bonds of economic slavery. More than 5,000,000 men had sacrificed their lives on behalf of a democracy which was now rapidly being overthrown for an even grander state of economic and political freedom. Queensland and New South Wales, mainly comprising Britishers, had adopted the plan of taking over industries from private ownership. The same could be accomplished elsewhere. The quicker the worker realized that he had adequate intelligence to administer the political and economic functions of national life the better for him. The worker was in for the overthrow of capitalism in its entirety. The mental agitators were the purifiers of the world, and the

LABOR NEWS

CHARNIE ARREST STIRS CARPENTERS

Resolve to Inquire Into Reasons for Police Action.

A serious factor in the labor situation is said to be the attitude of the Brotherhood of Carpenters in respect to Charnie, the Columbus laborer who was recently arrested on the ground that he was an alleged German, and for inciting to revolution. The district council last night passed a resolution to enquire into the reasons for the arrest of Charnie. The reason for this interest in this arrest is said to emanate from those who desire to know who the many individuals known as alleged Bolsheviks are.

OPPOSES "ONE BIG UNION"

DEBATE QUESTION OF INTERCHANGING PULPITS

Rev. G. A. Kuhring at Anglican Synod Favors Opening Anglican Churches to Other Ministers.

St. John, N. B., May 1.—In the Anglican synod yesterday Rev. G. A. Kuhring, of St. John's, formerly of the Church of the Ascension, Toronto, who was a chaplain overseas, declared himself opposed to that part of Bishop Richmond's charge which advised against the Church of England clergymen opening their pulpits to ministers of other denominations and themselves preaching in other than Anglican churches. His remarks drew applause.

The bishop said he merely expressed his own convictions on the matter, the church had not finally ruled on this point. His remarks drew applause from the Anglican clergymen present, but against free and general exchange without regard to the church rules.

This matter came up on report of a committee on the bishop's charge and was disposed of finally by an amendment which did not commit the synod to any action with the bishop's interpretation of the rules.

Building Permits in Guelph

Indicate Coming of Boom

Guelph, May 1.—Guelph building permits for April took a fine jump, and give evidence that the expected building boom in this city this year will materialize. There is evidence that many new dwelling houses will be put up this year.

Queen's University Has Plan To Provide Pensions for Staff
