

MODERN MEN OF THE PAST FOUND

Strange Tribe of Southampton Island Have Never Seen Face of White Man.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 22.—On a lonely island in Hudson Bay a lost tribe of Eskimos has been found who have been without intercourse with any other representatives of the human species for centuries and never saw a white man until a few months ago. The home of this strange tribe is on Southampton Island, a mass of land almost as large as the state of Maine, and situated on the northern part of Hudson Bay. Apparently these pre-Columbian times, and today live and subsist in exactly the same way as they did then.

The houses of these peculiar people are built by putting together the great bones of whales and covering them with seal-skins sewn together. In the middle of these primitive dwellings is an elevated place, on which stands a stone lamp, employed for lighting, heating, cooking, melting snow and drying clothes. They use the walrusbone for a variety of surprising uses, making even their cups and buckets of it. By bending it into rings and shapes and sewing on the buttons. The whole tribe comprising but 35 individuals, about equally divided between the sexes, are employed in hunting, fishing, and some 30 miles broad separates Southampton Island from the western shore of Hudson Bay, along which are several other colonies of Eskimos, and once in a very long while, when this strait freezes over, a few of the most daring cross over.

On Southampton Island there is no weapons, which among the Eskimos elsewhere is the favorite material for pots and kettles. The fact that they are without weapons is the best proof of their prolonged isolation, since all the mainland Eskimo tribes without exception got it from more fortunate neighbors. The story of this isolated tribe of Eskimos parallels the traditions of the famous lost colony of Norsemen, which, as recorded in the sagas and folklore, was cut off in Greenland six centuries ago, and utterly disappeared. There was a second portion of this Eskimo tribe in existence on another portion of Southampton Island until some ten years ago, when it perished entirely of some mysterious disease. A half-century ago, a whaler, beset by a furious storm, while fast to a "fish," was first towed into unfrequented waters by the monster and later driven a long distance by the gale, being eventually flung ashore on a part of Southampton Island, never to be visited so far as it is known, by a white man. In their endeavor to make their way back along the coast to a point where they might signal a passing ship, they came upon an Eskimo village of about 40 souls, all of whom were dead except two, who still retained enough vitality to inform the newcomers that some strange disease had killed their tribe, and to express astonishment at the presence of the white men, who they had never seen before. From the character of their belongings it was now become evident that this strange and isolated tribe recently discovered.

SUFFRAGETTES CHARGE COMMONS

Champions of Franchise for Women Create Wild Scene at Opening of British House.

London, Oct. 23.—Unusual excitement in connection with the reopening of Parliament today was caused by the presence of about 100 women suffragettes, many of whom, despite the protests of the police, managed to find their way into the outer lobby of the House of Commons with the intention of buttonholing the members in support of their movement. A number of the suffragettes, as they are termed here, mounted on chairs in the outer lobby and began to harangue the few members of Parliament present in that part of the house. The police, after being reinforced, made a strategic advance against the invaders, taking the women singly, and gradually ejected them one by one. From the outer lobby the most militant of the women struggled so desperately that two officers were required to remove them. Their hysterical shouting and screaming brought crowds of alarmed members of Parliament from the House. During the height of the disturbance, a small band of staunchest suffragettes determined to attempt to break into the House itself, and charged towards the entrance of the inner lobby. Some of the women tried to climb over the barrier, and others attempted to crawl under it. For several minutes the utmost disorder, almost a riot, reigned, and the police had all they could do to eject the women.

BULLER RETIRED.

London, Oct. 23.—The retirement of General Sir Redvers Henry Buller, who conducted the operations for the relief of Ladysmith, during the Boer war, and the promotion of Lieutenant-General Sir William G. Nicholson, who was chief British military attaché with the Japanese army during the Russo-Japanese war, to rank of general was gazetted tonight to take effect immediately.

William D. Fouss, of Drab, Blair County, Pennsylvania, who is 81 years old, never wore stockings until three years ago. He has never worn underwear, gloves or mittens, never used tobacco in any form and never took a day in his life. He performs all the labor on his 40-acre farm and never stops for rain, being frequently called to the skin.

TRAGEDY IN LIFE OF A COUNTESS

Russian Troops Broke Into House and Killed Her Husband as a Nihilist.

London, Oct. 23.—The Countess Olga Sergeievna, who claims to be eldest daughter of the late Grand Duke Sergius, has given a very full and touching narrative of her recent experience last night.

The countess is, she says, the daughter, by a morganatic marriage, of the Grand Duke Sergius and Countess Fedorovna. She is a singularly beautiful woman, and last night she was wearing a costume of clinging black silk, relieved with lace. Her jewelry consisted of diamonds and pearls.

"I have been forced to escape from my own country through a terrible mistake," she said. "One evening last June my husband, Count Romanoff, who was an officer of the Preobrazhensky Regiment, of the Guards, was entertaining a few friends at our home in the Millionage-Ulica. A young literary gentleman—Nicholas Kalkavsky—had been brought by Baron Korff, one of our guests.

"It is said that he cherished a feeling of bitter revenge against an officer in the regiment which passed our house. At any rate, when they reached the house he left the card-table where we were playing, and deliberately threw a bomb among the soldiers. It fell short, and therefore the injuries inflicted were slight.

"Immediately the place was in an uproar. The soldiers entered and killed all the men in my husband, Baron Ostensacken of the Baltic Provinces, Baron Korff, and my uncle, Count Orloffski. The soldiers appropriated some £200 which was on the card-table.

"I ran and hid, but was found and handed over to the police. After a detention of twenty-four hours and a hearing before a magistrate, I was released, and went back to my home. I suppose my release was expedited by powerful relatives. I was, however, immediately rearrested by military officers and taken to a prison, where I was confined in a villa, closely guarded by soldiers. I heard that the officers said: 'If the police cannot mete out justice, we will.'

"It is preposterous to have suspected of complicity in a Nihilist plot; why, all my feelings are for the other way (the countess' eyes filled with tears); a plot that robbed me of the husband I loved.

"I do not know what I shall do. I must wait till matters quiet down in Russia. Yes, on my father's side I am cousin to the Czar; but I suppose his mind is poisoned against me by those who carried me away. I have no friends here. I have been unaccustomed to any form of work, and I can only wait, wait!"

MANITOBA WANTS MORE TERRITORY

Dominion Conference Soon to Decide Whether Keewatin Shall Be Annexed.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 23.—The conference between the Dominion authorities and the representatives of Manitoba, Ontario and Saskatchewan on the subject of the rearrangement of the boundaries of the provinces, will be held on Monday, Nov. 12. Manitoba is anxious to have her area extended by adding the former district of Keewatin, which is now included in the Northwest Territories. The total area of the different provinces at the present time is as follows: Ontario, 299,862 square miles; Quebec, 351,573 square miles. These figures do not include, as far as Ontario is concerned, the portions of the Great Lakes or the St. Lawrence within the territorial limits of Canada. Yes, on my father's side I am cousin to the Czar; but I suppose his mind is poisoned against me by those who carried me away. I have no friends here. I have been unaccustomed to any form of work, and I can only wait, wait!"

It is printed, therefore, subject to correction, most of the items being identical with those that appeared for the month preceding.

The most conspicuous charges are in the items showing the current loans and the total assets. The latter were given last month as $17,371,862. In the September returns they appear as $15,920,307. The total liabilities which were placed at $15,272,271. This means a reduction in assets in the shape of current loans of $1,457,556, and an increase of liabilities by $290,792, or a showing of $1,748,328 worse than in the previous month. This may represent the loss by speculation.

The current loans in Canada in the August statement appeared as $13,725,227. In the present statement they are placed at $12,287,691. The call loans were $38,079 in the August statement, and $38,492 according to this. The capital of the Ontario Bank is the same in both returns, $1,500,000, and the reserve $700,000. The note circulation, which stood at $1,242,627, in August, had risen to $1,531,402 last month. Deposits payable on demand were $2,918,922 in August, and $2,965,028 in September. Deposits payable after notice were $3,881,343 in August, and $5,591,264 in September.

Among the assets, the Ontario Bank return for August showed $50,000 in Government securities; $149,276 in Canadian, municipal, British, foreign, public securities, and $1,083,368 in railway and other bonds debentures and stocks. The respective figures in the September statement are as follows: $20,000; $242,317, and $917,593.

ITS POWER GROWS WITH AGE.—How many medicines loudly boasted as panaceas for all human ills have come and gone since Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was first put upon the market? Yet it remains, doing more good to humanity than many a preparation more highly vaunted and extending its virtues wider and in a larger circle every year. It is the medicine of the masses.

HEARST, A COMEDY IN ONLY ONE ACT

Mock Trial Conducted by Merchants and Commercial League.

New York, Oct. 23.—Replies such as might be expected from the Murphy-Hearst nominee for governor, were he inclined to deal sincerely and truthfully with the voters of the states, were made by one of the speakers of the Republican state committee while impersonating Mr. Hearst at a mock trial presented during the noon-day meeting of the Manufacturers, Merchants' and Commercial Travelers' League, in No. 577 Broadway, Saturday.

E. B. Brenner impersonated Mr. Hearst, while George J. Corey represented Mr. Hughes, and conducted the examination. After questions as to his age, residence and profession, the pseudonym Mr. Hearst was asked, "Are you an honest man?"

"Ask Charles F. Murphy," was the reply. Continuing, the impersonator of Mr. Hearst was asked: "Why did you come to New York City from California?"

"It was getting too warm for me there."

"Would it be safe for you to go back?"

"Only on a dark night."

"Do you employ Chinese labor in California?"

"Not at present."

"Why?"

"Because the orange picking season has not been opened yet."

"Who owns the Hearst estate at Pakenham?"

"My mother, but I take the money."

"How long has Chinese labor been employed upon the Hearst estates?"

"For many years."

"Why did you offer the Elmira Advertiser $1,000 if they could prove that Chinese labor was employed upon the Hearst estate?"

"Because the estates were sold three days before they published the statement."

"What have the Chinese been employed at?"

"Picking oranges and depriving white people of work."

"What is the reason you deny employing Chinese labor?"

"Because some foolish working people believe I am the friend of organized American labor, and one of my chief hits is crying about Chinese labor in Panama, 2,000 miles from the United States."

"Do you really think that you were counted out of the office as mayor of the city of New York?"

"No, I do not."

"Why did you not exhaust your legal remedy before going to the legislature for a special bill to open the ballot boxes?"

"I was afraid they might open the ballot boxes and show that I was bluffing."

"Do you believe you will be elected this fall?"

"No; but think of the advertisement for my newspaper."

"Why did you make a combination with Murphy to obtain the nomination of the Democratic convention?"

"Because I needed the votes and Murphy needed the money."

"Is it true that you are the Star Publishing Company?"

"Ninety-nine out of one hundred percent of it."

"Why did you incorporate your newspapers in Jersey City instead of New York city?"

A TRAINED NURSE

After Years of Experience, Advises Women in Regard to Their Health.

Mrs. Martha Pohlman of 55 Chester Avenue, Newark, N. J., who is a graduate Nurse from the Blockley Training School at Philadelphia, and for six years Chief Clinic Nurse at the Philadelphia Hospital, writes the letter printed below. She has the advantage of personal experience, besides her professional education and what she has to say may be absolutely relied upon. Many other women are afflicted as she was. They can regain health in the same way. It is prudent to heed such advice from such a source.

Mrs. Pohlman writes: "I am firmly persuaded, after eight years of experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that it is the safest and best medicine for any suffering woman to use."

"I immediately after my marriage I found that my health began to fail me. I became weak and pale, with severe bearing-down pains, fearful backaches and frequent dizzy spells. The doctors prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I would bloat after eating and frequently become nauseated. I had pains down through my limbs so I could hardly walk. It was as bad a case of female trouble as I have ever known. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, however, cured me within four months. Since that time I have had occasion to recommend it to a number of patients suffering from all forms of female difficulties, and I find that while it is considered unprofessional to recommend a patent medicine, I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I have found that it cures female ills, where all other medicine fails. It is a grand medicine for sick women."

Money cannot buy such testimony as this—merit alone can produce such results, and the ablest specialists now agree that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most universally successful remedy for all female diseases known to medicine.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the female organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating, indigestion, nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds where Others Fail.
