Joshua Ingham bought 200 selected ewe and wether lambs at $4.50 per cwt. alive.

The Harris Abattoir Co. are open to purchase several loads of live turkeys.

M. P. Mallon reports prices for dressed poultry, wholesale, as being unchanged, but deliveries of choice quality are not plentiful.

Wheat—We do not advise buying wheat on these bulges, but on all breaks it should be bought for the long side, we believe, the safest. The winter wheat outlook is growing more serious every day, dry, cold weather continues over the winter wheat states. All our Argentine news is rather bullish.

Corn—Easier at the start, rallied quickly with wheat. We believe that on fair recessions May should be bought. Cornsiderably higher prices would be seen before there is any setback.

Receipts of live stock at the city yards were again heavy, in fact the largest of any Wednesday in the history of the market. The two railways reported 144 car loads, consisting of 2306 cattle, 1501-hogs, 1686 sheep and lambs, and 45 calves. The bulk of the cattle on sale were of the unfinished class.

Trade, as a result of heavy receipts, was slow, with prices from 15c to 25c per cwt. lower for the commoner grades of cattle, and even the best loads, dealers stated, were a shade easier.

Prof. Shortt said that his topic, "The Lemieux Act," was not one which fed to very scientific or concrete conclusions, but its working threw light on the relationship of capital and labor in sions, but its working threw light on the relationship of capital and labor in the Dominion. The object of the formation of a conciliation board was two-fold: That all the facts might be thoroly brought out, and the parties to a dispute induced, if possible, to accept an agreement. In the eleven cases upon which he had sat he had been more and more astonished at the lack of similarity in the points of dispute. He was convinced that a conciliation board had little usefulness in cases in ed quotations.

While the Lemieux Act was derived from New Zealand, it differed in the essential feature of being voluntary here, while compulsory there. The machinery of the New Zealand Act was incorporated into the Canadian law relating to the swearing of witnesses, but he had never sworn a witness, as the more friendly and conciliating the atmosphere of a conference the better. When employer and employes are face to face, both familiar with the facts, nothing would be gained by mis-statements.

He was impressed by the hopefulness of the labor situation, for in many in-stances grievances had only to be stated by labor representatives to be recti-fied on the spot by the representatives of the corporations, so that the original list of complaints were usually greatly reduced in volume before the toard was called upon to suggest a basis of agreement on final divergent points.

When the representatives of the corporations and the labor oversitors. porations and the labor organizations have come to an understanding, the difficulty is by no means at an end, because the labor leaders are partly leaders and partly followers. They are less than the uniors at first demand. The capitalists say: "With the labor leaders the rights of labor absorb their whole attention, and they become experts upon it, while we have a thou-sand and one things to consider, of which labor is only one."

Leaders Reasonalle. He had found the labor representatives to be modest, reasonable and intelligent. They are often deluged with complaints which they have to smother to preserve industrial peace.
