

STREET CAR FARES

To the Editor of the Evening Times:—Sir,—In regard to the value of the five-cent piece of today and two years ago, as quoted by the N. B. Power Company, the electric lighting and the car fares cannot be compared with household supplies such as milk, bread and beans, etc., as quoted in last night's Times. For instance, take milk, which is today twelve cents a quart. It does not matter if milk was twenty cents a quart, if you buy a quart of milk you get what you pay for; and if you pay a dollar per month for light when you are out of town, which many hundreds of families are in the summer, you pay for something that you do not get. Again, if you go into a store for half a pint of milk you only pay for half a pint, but if you get on the car for half a ride, you have to pay for a whole ride. Would it not be better for the public if they were charged for the ride according to the distance that they travel? I have watched men for years taking short rides home to lunch who never get their money's worth. For instance, one man rides from the foot of King to Coburg, another from the foot of King to King street east, another from the foot of King street to Richmond street, and many others which come under my daily notice. Now if I hire a coach from the depot to the Royal Hotel I pay the fare accordingly; and if I hire a coach to the Manor House, it is certain that I won't get there for the same fare, and the same with an auto. It is true that people who ride on the cars to the Manor House or to West St. John get value for their five cents, but why should the man who rides two or three blocks help to pay for the other man? If I buy a pint of milk a day and the man next door buys a quart, I would not like to help him pay for his milk; and, even if we do get six tickets for a quarter, the man who rides two or three blocks nearer gets his money's worth. So I fail to see where the household goods can be compared with the N. B. Power Company's rates.

Yours,
CAR RIDER.

The Paris crew pulled long-pulled strong-pulled altogether and won lasting fame for itself and the province of New Brunswick. Shall our electors on December 17th, like them, pull long and strong and altogether for a greater trophy than four oared crew ever achieved themselves to attain—LIBERTY.

Build a strong parapet of ballot boxes for empire defence on December 17 and let your individual ballot represent so many grains of good Canadian sand that the parapet may be invulnerable.

For a Kicker's Breakfast!

Most men are critical about coffee. They travel around among the best hotels and taste coffee prepared by expert chefs.

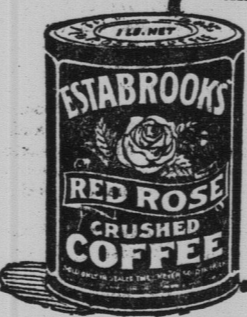

Now Red Rose Coffee was produced especially to meet the critic's keen, educated taste. It is a blend of the richest coffees, and is crushed—not ground.

Some men, whom we know to be real kickers, have been kind enough to say that the flavor is equal to that of any coffee they have ever tasted.

If you are a kicker, have your wife make you a cup and then tell us what you think of Red Rose Coffee.

The same price as it was three years ago.

History Will Repeat Itself

HISTORY repeats itself. Look back to a time when a nation was faced with a crisis similar to that which confronts us to-day. No more striking parallel could be found than the situation in the United States in 1863 and that in this country to-day. It was proposed that the Democrats and the Republicans should unite to keep the United States together. Many of the Democrats placed country above party and voted union. But the party as a whole refused.

The result was that for thirty years afterwards a loyal people refused to elect the Democrats to office.

Like Causes Produce Like Effects

New Brunswick is in exactly the same position. The call has come to Liberals and Conservatives to unite to support their men in the trenches. Leading Liberals all over the province have placed country above party and have entered the Union. Other Liberals insist on maintaining the old party strife in face of national peril. Take a lesson from the history of the United States. Opinion is growing stronger and stronger throughout this province that it is a battle between patriotism and party. Party is bound to lose in such a fight in this Loyalist province.

Vote for Union Candidates

Vote for the men who have united to support our New Brunswick men in the trenches.

"Election means just one thing—you are either going to send men to back up the Canadians, or you are not."
