NEW HAMPSHIRE'S EXPERIENCE

The Boston Herald writer, whose articles on New Hampshire have been in part reviewed in The Times, thus explains why the state has not made a success of dairying.

"In 1922 the average cow in New Hampshire yielded 3,700 pounds of milk. And I wouldn't give barn room to a cow that couldn't produce 6,000 pounds a year," commented young H. Styles Bridges, secretary of the New Hampshire farm bureau, the other day, as he explained that the New Hampshire dairy farmer, who is losing money year after year, is the victim neither of economic factors nor of profligate distributors, but of his own downright shiftlessness and unwillingness to take advice."

The writer further points out that to make a success of dairying the farmer must not only have the right stock but must go into the business on a fairly large scale. Another interesting fact is that the State does not raise enough potatoes to supply its own wants. Yet we are told:

"But potatoes will pay big in New Hampshire, and are paying big this year. D. W. Parmenter, a successful farmer in the southern part of Londonderry, is making $2 profit this year for every dollar invested in land. Farm land in that part of the state is worth from $100 to $150 an acre. The labor cost of planting and harvesting an acre of potatoes, with the incidental care, is about $150. This year he is getting nearly 800 bushels to an acre, and he is selling them on the spot to Boston buyers at $1.50 a bushel."

The Farm Bureau is helping the farmers by urging them with increasing success to use only certified seed potatoes. Sheep raising is another industry that has fallen behind. Great hope is based on the survey of the state which will be completed next year, that it will reveal to the people important possibilities which have been ignored. The success that has attended proper methods in poultry raising and the orchards is expected to attend agricultural efforts in other directions.

With regard to factories New Hampshire has immense cotton and shoe manufacturing industries. In the former it is striving to meet southern competition by the most progressive methods. In the latter it is adopting the chain factory principle, which has proved so successful in grocery and some other lines of trade.

What the Herald writer says about the lumber industry of New Hampshire is of particular interest. Lumber has been one of the major industries, and has been well sustained. We quote:

"In the first half of the 19th century, before the world had awakened to the danger of denuded forest land, New Hampshire was as careless as other states in permitting the cutting away of this great natural resource. But since the new era in forestry dawned, the men controlling the lumber business have co-operated with the state and national governments in providing for future generations. The population tables which sounded the first warnings of a decline in agriculture, are equally significant in attesting to the success of lumbering, and its allied industry, paper-making. Coos county, the spear-head which covers the northern part of the state, is for the most part a mountainous wilderness, and yet it is growing faster than any other county, with the single exception of Hillsborough, which contains the two largest cities. Within the last decade and a half the little city of Berlin has gone through all the stages of the frontier town of the West, and there is a spirit of optimism in the air there which the older communities in the southern half of the state could well afford to borrow."

In addition to the conservation policy of large operators, the Federal and State Governments are directing the attention of the farmer to the value of his wood-plot, and he is paying much more attention to it as a source of continued revenue than when carefully conserved.

Thus in every direction there is a new spirit abroad in New Hampshire, resulting from the loss of population and the conviction that unless a state-wide effort were made to improve conditions the period of decadence would continue. There is inspiration in the example of New Hampshire.

Mr. Lloyd George left London today, en route to Canada and the United States. This visit has been anticipated with very keen interest on this side of the water. Meanwhile the Prime Minister of Canada arrived in Liverpool today, en route to London and the Imperial Conference, which will now absorb a great deal of attention throughout the British Empire.

Premier Poincaré will make his usual Sunday speech on Germany tomorrow. It has become a Sunday habit with the French Premier.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

In a discussion in the League of Nations yesterday the action of Italy in regard to Greece and Corfu was indirectly but emphatically denounced by representatives of many nations, while not a voice was raised in defence. The League realizes that if it is to be ignored whenever a stronger nation desires to strike a weaker one its usefulness will cease and there will be no guarantee of safety for any state that has a powerful and aggressive neighbor. What the League seeks is to establish the reign of law instead of violence. This remark by Lord Robert Cecil goes to the root of the matter, and if the League is to function at all it must be respected by its own members, of whom Italy is one. The League is by no means discredited or helpless. It needs a clearer definition of its powers, and this is being sought by an appeal to jurists. The hope of the world today lies in the League of Nations, and lovers of peace in every country desire very earnestly that its authority may be vindicated, and dictators of the Mussolini stamp given clearly to understand they are not to have a free hand in disregard of their own pledges as members. There are those who seize upon every pretext to assert that the League has broken down or is powerless, but that is very far from the truth. It has accomplished much and will stand the present test. One of the world's troubles today is that prophets of gloom find too many eager listeners. That mood will pass.

NEXT WEEK'S SELLING EVENT.

It is always true that it is to the advantage of the readers of a newspaper to give careful attention to the contents of the advertising columns. Very special interest attaches to the page announcement in today's issue of The Times-Star, telling of the co-operative sale event in which more than forty stores will participate on the last three days of next week.

The Retail Merchants' Association has given its sanction and approval. The plan is to enable out-of-town shoppers within a radius of seventy-five miles to shop on equal terms with St. John people. An opportunity is given to do fall shopping under exceptionally favorable conditions. The merchants are making special preparations, not to unload old stock, but to present the season's new goods in the most attractive way and at prices which will convince the purchaser that St. John is a good buying centre. The leading retail stores of the city have united in this co-operative sale event, and that fact is the guarantee that it will be worth while for out-of-town people to select the last three days of next week as the time and St. John as the place for their fall shopping excursion. City people will be not less interested in this event, which has been carefully planned by the merchants to meet the requirements of all customers.

Quebec Telegraph:—"The Telegraph, for one, believes that Canada owes a duty to her winter ports. It is the dream of some among us that the island of St. John is destined to become a winter port, and it is undoubtedly true that for a very considerable portion of the winter, navigation of the Gulf and river to this port is not only possible, but commercially practicable. The meantime there is no reason whatever that winter shipments of Western Canadian grain and other freight should be routed via the ports of an alien country that has enacted hostile tariffs for the express purpose of killing our export trade. The same reasons that should operate to secure for Quebec a large share of the summer shipments of grain are applicable to similar shipments in the winter months by the ports of Halifax and St. John. Their favorable consideration is demanded alike by the just claims of our sister Maritime Provinces and by those of the Intercolonial Railway, whose financial interests are those of every taxpayer in the Dominion of Canada."

The St. John Council of Women will miss the strong and able leadership of Mrs. E. Atherton Smith. She has given seven years of faithful service. Her other services, as a former president of the Women's Canadian Club and as the head of a Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, and in connection with the Women's Hospital Aid and other organizations have been of the highest value to the community. The lives of but few women have been so filled with varied labors to promote the general welfare, and it may be taken for granted those labors in some important directions will be continued.

Sir Henry Thornton declares that the C. N. R. will do its utmost to meet the situation resulting from the refusal of some American shipowners on the Lakes to come under the Canadian tariff filling regulations. The grain must be moved.

WHEN AGE COMES BY.

(By Edmund Gosse.)

When age comes by and lays his frosty hands
So lightly on mine eyes that, scarce aware
Of what an endless weight of gloom they bear,
I pause, unstartled, and wait for his commands.

When time has bound these limbs of mine with bands,
And hushed mine ears, and silvered all my hair,
May sorrow come not, nor a vain despair
Trouble my soul that meekly girdled stands.

As silent rivers into silent lakes,
Through rush of reeds that not a murmur break,
Wind, mindful of the poppies whence they came,
So may my life, and calmly burn away.
As seas in a lamp at break of day,
The fragrant remnant of memorial flame.

IN LIGHTER VEIN.

Blue-Skied.

The artist—Have you ever been done in oil?
The sitter—Young man, that's a tender spot! I've been done in oil just once too often!

At the Ball Game.

She—Who is that man they are all quarrelling with?
Her Escort—Why, he's keeping the score.
She—Oh!—and won't he give it up?

Misfortune.

Crawford—I understand he's in very hot water these days.
She—Yes, he's headed a committee to pick twelve famous women and he forgot to include his wife.

SENDS SHERIFF TO JAIL.

Federal Judge Holds West Virginia Official in Contempt.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 29.—Sheriff Harry T. Clouse of Ohio County, W. Va., was adjudged in contempt by Judge W. E. Baker in Federal Court here and was sentenced to serve sixty days in the Upshur County Jail "or" to pay the costs. A twenty-day stay was granted to permit the sheriff to file a bill of exceptions.

The Government witnesses testified that Sheriff Clouse had permitted William Lias, a Federal prisoner, to be at liberty from the county jail.

HEALTH CENTRE NEEDS MONEY

Activities Curtailed for Lack of Funds—Glasses for Children.

The growing importance of the Health Centre was brought out in the reports submitted at the meeting of the Board of Governors, held last evening. The meeting was presided over by Chief Justice McKeown.

The need for more funds that children needing them might be supplied with glasses, was placed before the meeting. The finance committee reported a balance of $312.14 on hand and Miss McKeljohn reported having received support from several organizations which had been appealed to. Next month a tag day is to be held to raise more funds.

For the administrative committee, Dr. William Warwick reported on the work of the various clinics, well baby, at which fourteen clinics were held, with forty-four new registrations and 202 old registrations; the tuberculosis clinic where thirteen clinics were held with thirty new patients and nine-old former patients; social hygiene with twenty-five clinics, nineteen new cases and 107 old cases and 896 treatments; prenatal with three clinics; pre-school age with four clinics, eleven new patients and three old; eye clinics with four clinics held, and thirteen new and two old cases; and dental clinics with twenty-six clinics held, eighty-nine new cases and 110 old cases. Home visitations totalled 460 during the month and of these 388 were tuberculosis work, 280 child welfare and twenty-four social hygiene.

Mrs. G. Wilford Campbell gave an excellent report of the Lady Byng Day Camp, which had been the means of providing proper food and care for undernourished children and besides proving of great benefit had given good publicity to the Health Centre. She heartily thanked all who had assisted. Special thanks were given Mrs. Campbell, who had attended the camp each day throughout the season and to the Red Cross Society, which provided the services of nurses, Miss M. Eason.

The results of the health activities in the city were placed before the meeting in the form of statistics regarding the great reduction in typhoid and in the infant mortality rate. With regard to statistics for the province Dr. Roberts spoke of the great reduction in infant mortality since the Department of Health was put in operation having pioneer conditions to face. In 1920 the infant death rate was 135 for every thousand births, in 1921 it was 115 and in 1922 it was ninety-three. (He gave approximations and said he hoped this year the figure would be still lower. Dr. Warwick quoted the rate for the city of St. John in those years showing that while much remained to be done a very considerable reduction had been secured. The rate in 1920 for St. John was 152, for 1921 it was 137 and for 1922 it was 107.

Make the Future Safe

THE earning years of an active life is the time to provide for the future. The completion of premium payments in the earning years is the object of the Twenty Payment Life Certificate of the Foresters.

The Twenty Payment Life Certificate with Disability Benefits is issued by the Independent Order of Foresters promises to pay to the Beneficiary the Member the face value of the Certificate in the event of his death.

In the event of the Total and Permanent Disability of the Member at any age, the Order will pay 70% of the face value of the Certificate at that time and will pay the remaining 30% to the Beneficiary upon the Member's death.

In consideration of these Benefits, the Member pays the Order premiums for not longer than twenty years. Premium payments cease upon the Member becoming totally and permanently disabled before the expiration of the twenty years.

If a Member desires to sever his connection with the Order, he will be given a liberal cash withdrawal value under this form of Certificate.

This Certificate cannot lapse for non-payment of any premium due so long as there is a sufficient withdrawal value to meet the unpaid premium. The Order will automatically advance the unpaid premium as a loan on the Certificate and thus keep the Certificate in force for as long a period as possible.

Membership in the Order, over and above the Benefits of its Life Insurance, is full partnership in the Social, Fraternal and Benevolent activities of a Life Fraternity. Prominent among these features of the Order are the Foresters' Orphanage at Oakville, Ont., and Sanatoria at Rainbow Lake, in Adirondacks, N.Y., and at Lopez Canyon, Cal.

If you would like to have details of the many benefits of Life Insurance and Fraternity, write—Head Office, Independent Order of Foresters, Toronto, Canada.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 38 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, O. K. Johnson, 246 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

BOYS PLAYING "KU KLUX KLAN" BIND AND INJURE OHIO CHILD

Warren, Ohio, Sept. 29.—Cyril Stoddard, 10 years old, is under a physician's care suffering from shock and minor injuries and police are hunting for a gang of small boys who, wearing masks and said to be playing Ku Klux Klan, attacked the boy, tied him to a telephone pole and gagged him. He was rescued after being tied up for three hours.
