Evening Races at Fredericton

Fredericton, N. B., June 27.—Twilight horse racing may be introduced at the Meeting of the Maine and New Brunswick circuit in Fredericton this week. With daylight saving time has been suggested that with racing starting at 6 p. m. three events can be disposed of by 9 o'clock as the conditions call for the three heat plan. Not only would many local people who cannot get away from business for the afternoon before a holiday be able to attend, but people could leave St. John, Woodstock, Houlton, Chatham and elsewhere in the afternoon by motor and in some cases by train and be here in time. The consent of all drivers and owners of horses participating would be necessary. The average daily distribution among horses of $8,785 bears a favorable comparison with the daily average of other Canadian and American tracks. The stakes decided were the Kindergarten of $1,640 to the winner, won by the 2 year old filly Ogarter; the Prince of Wales steeplechase handicap, $1,500 to the winner, won by Bencher; the Windsor Hotel Cup handicap, $2,420 to the winner, won by Boniface; the Connaught Cup handicap, $1,870 to the winner, won by Billy Kelly; the Jacques Cartier selling stakes, $1,845 to the winner, won by Vice Chairman. The overnight purses represented a fifty per cent advance over the purses of any previous meeting and the competition for them was generally keen. Upward of 400 horses of various ages, American, Canadian and British in origin, participated in the racing.

Blue Bonnets

(From the Montreal Jockey Club)
Under the presidency of Commander J. K. L. Ross, now the most considerable producer of thoroughbred blood in Canada, whose principal helpers were Sir H. Montague Allen, Major McDougall, James Connors and Donnat Raymond, the Montreal Jockey Club conducted this month the most successful seven days of racing the handily appointed Blue Bonnets race course ever witnessed. Forty-nine races were decided. The total value of these races was $11,485. The average daily distribution among horsemen of $8,785 bears a favorable comparison with the daily average of other Canadian and American tracks. The stakes decided were the Kindergarten of $1,640 to the winner, won by the 2 year old filly Ogarter; the Prince of Wales steeplechase handicap, $1,500 to the winner, won by Bencher; the Windsor Hotel Cup handicap, $2,420 to the winner, won by Boniface; the Connaught Cup handicap, $1,870 to the winner, won by Billy Kelly; the Jacques Cartier selling stakes, $1,845 to the winner, won by Vice Chairman. ## THE BIG ARENA

IS COMPLETED

Is Only Twenty-five Minutes from Broadway and Will Accommodate 70,000 People—Largest on Record

New York, June 27.

The greatest arena New York has built is ready to accommodate approximately 70,000 spectators when Dempsey meets Carpenter in Jersey City on July 2.

Since April 28, more than 800 workmen have been distributed over all sections of the huge octagonal saucer which grew daily under their tutelage of hammers until today, when their labor was completed. The great reinforced structure, covering nearly a third of the tract known as "Boyle's Thirty Acres," awaits the inspection of government engineers and the installation of the telegraph wires, which will be numerically insignificant, will see the "Battle of the Century" through their minds' eyes.

Twenty-five minutes from Broadway and 42nd street, a more advantageous location for the contest could not have been found. Tube trains under the Hudson River will carry thousands of persons to stations near the arena. Ferry boats will carry more thousands across the river from Manhattan to trolley centres in Jersey City within easy reach of the battleground. More than a dozen trunk-line railroads with Jersey City as a terminal will bring their quota from distant places. Several trans-continental railroads, with yards only a few blocks away, will park special Pullman cars on convenient sidings and these enthusiasts from distant points will use for shelter during their stay here.

The arena is the largest ever built for a boxing contest. It exceeds by far the amphitheatre in which John L. Sullivan fought in 1910 at Reno, Nev., and also the one where Jess Willard lost his title to Jack Dempsey at Toledo, O., two years ago. It has been built at a cost of $200,000. Two and a half million feet of lumber, equal to 475 miles of boards, laid end to end, or about 140 varnishes, have been used in the construction. Spectators' Protection.

Better than ever before at a boxing bout, holders of reserved seats will be protected. Long experience in the psychology of "fight crowds" has taught Ted Rickard the wisdom of precaution. Fences, with barbed wire barricades, will mark the limits of the various seat sections, to which the crowd will have access through twenty entrances. Every seat, except the five-dollar general admission, has been reserved, and the holder of a $50 or a $40 seat will enter and walk to the desired point of vantage with as much ease and certainty, Rickard assures, as the purchaser of an orchestra seat in a metropolitan theatre.

Advance sales have indicated that a greater proportion of women will attend the bout than has ever been the case in a title match heretofore. Rickard has declared that nearly one-fourth of the crowd will be composed of feminine spectators. Boxes, immediately in rear of the 50 seats, have been constructed with the aid of accommodating "box parties" comfortably.

Only in the varying distance at which the different priced seats are located from the ring will they vary in desirability. Persons in every part of the arena will have a clear view of the boxers throughout. No posts, poles or obstructions will hamper the vision. From the ring, raised about five feet above the level of the ground, the seats extend in a gentle slope upward in every direction for approximately 300 feet, making the breadth of the arena, from side to side, slightly more than 600 feet. The structure, at its most distant point, is thirty-eight feet high.

PLAYFELLOW RAN DISAPPOINTINGLY

Brother of Man of War, Which Cost Rancocas Stable $115,000, Finished Last.

Playfellow, the $115,000 brother of Man of War, met his Waterloo at Aqueduct on Wednesday in his very first start as the lone colt-bearer for the Rancocas Stable, which recently purchased him. He went to the post in the Fairplay Handicap, a test at a mile, named after his own daddy, and when it was all over the newly heralded turf star was last among the three that started. J. E. Widener's Fair Gain won the race by a length from Thunderstorm, which was a neck in front of Playfellow.

The race, which was down on the card as the feature for the day was the Clover Stakes for two-year-old fillies at six furlongs. This produced a surprise when the Rancocas Stable's Budana at 12 to 1 got home in front in a field of fourteen starters, which included a number of the best fillies brought out so far. H. P. Whitney's Pent was second and Lucky Button third.
