SPORT NEWS OF THE DAY, HOME AND ABROAD

TURF.

Matinee on 24th.

The St. John Driving Club held a meeting in their rooms in Coburg street on Monday night and it was decided to hold a matinee on the 24th of May, giving three races, half-mile heats. The three eligible to the different classes are as follows: Any horses not named are requested to send names to Mr. Huggard, secretary.

First Horse Meet.
St. John will at least have one sport this coming summer if all the plans of the St. John Driving Club materialize. Several meetings have been held and plans perfected. At a meeting on Monday evening it was decided to hold the first meet this month. There has already been a large list of entries and there will be a good line up of eligible horses to start. Extensive and long needed improvements will be made to the grounds and followers of good horse racing will look forward with interest to the coming activities at Moospath.

Jackson a Perfect Man.
Philadelphia, May 11.—Joe Jackson left fielder of the Chicago White Sox, which club is playing a series of games with the Athletics, was examined here today for military service. The examining physician pronounced him 100 per cent sound.

"Stuffy" Makes First Error.
Stuffy McInnis' run of errorless fielding at third base is at an end. The former first base star of the Mackmen made a grand start in this new position with the Red Sox, going through sixteen games without being officially charged with a misplay of any kind. He handled all sorts of chances, the difficult and the easy, grounders and the twisting foul for a stretch of sixteen games. From the opening of the season until Saturday last he managed to keep out of the error column. The break came in the eighth inning of Saturday's game at the Polo Grounds, New York, when Walter Pipp bunted toward third base. McInnis made a clean pickup and had an easy play in front of him, but his throw pulled Dick Hoblit off first base and Stuffy got his first error of the season.

JOHNNY EVERS WANTS MAJOR LEAGUE BERTH
Veteran Does Not Believe Big League Days Are Over

Johnny Evers, who went south with the Boston Red Sox this spring, has turned down the offer to manage the Jersey City team of the International League. Johnny, who was in New York a few days ago, said he will not play minor league ball this season, for he does not believe his major league days are over.

Troy Johnson is keeping in shape by working out at his home in Troy, and he is unable to grab off a job in the majors he says he will play a few games with an amateur team in Troy. Johnny is puffed over the deal which he received from the Red Sox, as he figures it has cast a reflection on his playing ability.

Evers, in speaking of the matter, said: "I had no trouble with anybody. I reported in Boston and was told my services would not be required. I would like to help Jersey City, but I feel that the manner in which the Red Sox treated me has cast a reflection on my playing ability."

"I will not admit that I have reached the has-been class of the fastest company. I am not fool enough to believe myself as good as I was ten years ago. I have slowed up, but I am confident I can guard the second base as well as a whole lot of other fellows who are now getting away with it in the two major leagues. I work out daily at Troy and am in shape to accept a major league berth."

offer if any manager feels that I can help him.

"I did not accept the International League offer simply because I want to vindicate myself. My arm never felt better. All I wish is a chance to make Boston feel sorry that wilfully or unwittingly it cast a reflection upon my ability."

BENNY KAUFF NOT PHYSICALLY FIT FOR MILITARY SERVICE

It appears that, after all, the Giants are not to lose the services of Benny Kauff as soon as had been generally expected. According to Benny himself, the local board physician in Marlin, who examined him for the army, found that he was not physically fit for use as a fighting man and recommended that he be given special classification as an automobile mechanic. Kauff thoroughly understands the mechanism of a gasoline engine and has long expressed the wish that if Uncle Sam calls him to the colors he may be assigned to an ambulance driver, as he feels that he is better suited to this sort of work than for ordinary soldiering. As the list last present conducted these given special classification are not included with a district's regular quota, but are called only when there is a demand for their special services.

NEW YORK FANS ARE RIDING "ZIM"

Giant Third Baseman Can't Make a Misplay

New York, May 10.—It has come to a point where the fans just can't keep off Heinie Zimmerman.

The example set by the rapid bleachers of Chicago is being well followed in New York. Heinie is made to feel at home every time he figures in a play that works with reverse English on his glory.

Memories of the famous play in which Heinie pursued Eddie Collins across with a run during the last world's series must rankle in the breasts of the New York fans, for they certainly have picked him out to ride, and everyone is a jockey.

A short time ago Heinie gave the fans a chance, and they went after him strong. Ivy Olson was the brilliant bird in this play, which took place in Ebbets field, Brooklyn, during the Giants' string of opening victories.

Ivy popped up a dinky fly over second base which Kauff started after. George Burns also had an idea he could take care of it, so he beat it after the ball.

Arthur Fletcher and Larry Doyle also decided to horn in and they went after the ball. The four of them, shouting for the play, suddenly stopped to let George do it, and George wasn't handy. The ball fell safe. Olson had reached first by this time, and, noting that second base was unprotected because Fletcher and Doyle had gone out to chase the fly, he beat it for second. Heinie Zimmerman was the only member of the Giants to take note of the situation, and he dashed for second base, yelling for the throw. No one threw, so Olson discovering that third base also was denuded of a protector, kept on and made that hassock without any trouble.

And the crowd rode Heinie Zimmerman. Zim was the goat. He was no more to blame for what had happened than he was when Bill Riden stepped out of the way and let Heinie chase Collins with the ball in his hand. Fletcher was the man to blame, for he, as captain of the team, should have called the play on the fly ball. Thus either himself or Doyle would have been left to protect the middle leg.

But Heinie Zimmerman wouldn't be the Great Zim and all the rest of the things they call him if he didn't break out occasionally with something to give the fans a chance to ride him for. His disposition invites the attack of the spectator, even though his misstep is one that would be totally overlooked in any other player.

The CRUCIAL TEST

An enthralling story of the Russian secret service. The plot is clear, logical and effectively constructed. It is an exceptionally good offering for all kinds of patrons. Spectators watching it in the open might put umbrellas up; but we think they'd stay till it was done, in spite of the rain. It is one of the most human pictures we have ever had the good fortune to screen.
