

Business Notices.

The ADVANCE office is open for business from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. every day. It is not open for delivery of papers on the evening. Town and local country subscribers will, therefore, please call for their papers at the delivery place before 6 p. m.

Advertisements can only be inserted each week by their reaching the office before 6 p. m. on Tuesday.

Miramichi and the North Shore, etc.

Clothes are advertised at low rates by Mr. Peterson, Merchant Tailor, Chatham.

THE FARM, FIELD AND FIRE INSURE, whose advertisements appear in another column, will be back by 6 months for 50 cents. It is a reliable, established and valued journal.

CHATHAM RINK, to-night, Grand Promenade Concert and Go-as-you-please contest. See advt.

NEW BOAT.—A very neat little boat has just been finished by Thomas Thompson, some say intended for the Miramichi Regatta. He is the builder of another little boat which has proved itself to be quite speedy, named "White Wings."—Times.

DEAR CHATHAM.—Messrs. Chas. McLaughlin & Son have chartered the ship "Nette Murphy," 1,373 tons, now due at Sydney, to lead at Miramichi for Cork, Dublin, Belfast, Barrow, Liverpool, Cardiff or Newport, direct port at 70s.—Globe.

No. 9 DISTRICT.—C. M. Hutchinson, Esq., late of St. Stephen High School, and formerly Principal of the Newcastle High School, has been engaged as Principal of the School in No. 9 District, Chatham, in place of Mr. Cunningham who has moved to Chicago.

PURPORT.—J. L. Stewart, Esq., of the Chatham, N. B., was in town yesterday on his way to Charlottetown, to attend the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of the I. O. O. F. of the Lower Provinces of N. B. A. He was accompanied by Mrs. Stewart.—Moncton Times.

BRANDY.—A man named Royal, who has been living at Nelson for some time, was arrested the other day, for bigamy, at the instance of his daughter, his lawful wife being in Boston, and he living here with a second "wife" which he took to himself a few years ago.

NEW WAREHOUSE.—We understand that Messrs. T. Wm. Bell & Co. propose to build a large warehouse in Newcastle for the storing of direct importations to Miramichi of wines and liquors. This will be a great accommodation for their large wholesale trade at the North.

MAIRIE EXAMINATIONS.—The following persons have passed the municipal examination before the Mairie Board: Joseph T. Rogers, St. John, master; Wm. Dumas, Bridgewater, Eng., master; Theo. G. Russell, Chatham, mate; Michael Roy, Shelburne, N. S., mate; Chas. H. Finch, England, mate.—Globe.

THE SAILING RACE in today's regatta will be started in the day river district instead of down. The boats will sail up one mile and round a stake and then pass down river to the turning post below Chatham, thus affording the spectators on the Regatta grounds a fine opportunity to witness the contest.

FROM ST. JOHN.—Mr. Elijah Ross, who was a member of the famed Frier Owl of St. John, being desirous of seeing the Miramichi and witnessing the Regatta, arrived at Newcastle yesterday with three other St. John crewmen. They will compete in the four-oared race at the Regatta, to-day. We understand the four never rowed together before Saturday last.

STILL SUCCESSFUL.—Mr. William M. Tweedie, of Sackville, College, who, last summer, won the Gilmartin Scholarship, has been pursuing his studies in University College, London. At the close of his first year he has won the first prize in Latin and the prize in English Literature. It will be remembered that last summer he stood second among the whole number of matriculants at the London University.

GONE WENT.—An obliging correspondent informs us that Mr. Fred Cameron of Newcastle, whose disappearance was alluded to in last week's Advance, went as far North as Rivers du Loup with the writer on Tuesday morning of last week and said he was going "out west." We understand Cameron's liabilities are considerable and that there is or will, soon some sharp work between creditors over the same.

GRAND PROMENADE AND BAZAAR.—The R. Catholic of Campbellton will open their Pic Nic at 8 o'clock on the morning of the 21st inst., followed in the evening and the following day by their annual Bazaar. Excursion tickets at one first class fare will be issued from Chatham Junction and intermediate stations to Campbellton, good to return on the same day or the day following.

SIC. OF COMMITTEE. Campbellton, N. B., Aug. 16, 1883.

THE WEEKEND "MARIO POLO," which was bought the other day at Cavendish Cape, P. E. I., by Messrs. Lantaulm, had a cargo of 600 standard Quebec pine deals and ends for it. It will, with some rigging and cargo, brought $6,000. The total proceeds of the sale were about $8,000. There was keen competition. Mr. McLeod, who was interested with Messrs. Lantaulm in the purchase, is landing the deals at this port.

LOST IN THE WOODS.—Mr. John Kenna who is about 80 years of age, started from the residence of his son, Michael Kenna, north side of the Batture river, on Thursday morning last, after breakfast, to look for the cows, and has not been seen or heard of since, at least accounts. Search has been made faithfully for the missing man, and his trail has been followed as far as the head of Barnt Church river. It is feared that he will never be found alive.

PERSONAL.—G. Ernest Fairweather, Esq., of St. John, was in town yesterday, inspecting the Benson Division, of which he is the architect.

We regret to hear that Principal Palmer of the Chatham High School, is ill of fever at his residence in Queen's County.

M. DeBolis, Esq., of St. John, paid a visit to the Miramichi last week, and his many friends there were delighted to see him.

Wm. Lawler, Esq., the popular ex-Warden of Northumberland and well known as a public contractor, spent a few days of the past week with his Miramichi friends.

Rev. Mr. Padfield, of Halifax, has been visiting Chatham during the past week as the guest of Rev. Mr. Forsyth, the Rector of the Parish. He assisted in the services and preached at St. Mary's, on Sunday morning and evening.

ANOTHER FATAL ACCIDENT ON THE I. C. R.—Another fatality has occurred on the I. C. R., but only a few feet of the sad event had been reported at the time of our going to press. It seems that a lad named Beck, of Wolford, had been sent out by his parents to catch a cow off the track. At the time a special train in charge of Conductor Evans came along, but the driver of the locomotive did not notice, until too late, that the boy was on the track. It was afterwards discovered that the engine had struck the lad, and on subsequent inquiry it was learned that the injuries proved fatal. It is said the accident occurred about midnight.—Moncton Transcript.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Monday, August 6th, ten men who were returning home from the Fugate held in Newcastle on that day, started with a trolley. One of the men, James Aharan, (who lives two or three miles from town) was sitting in front, with his legs hanging over, and when only a short distance from town, his feet struck a plank lying on the sleepers, and he was thrown upon the track in front of the trolley, which passed over his body. The unfortunate man was conveyed to Mr. James Fogarty, a messenger was dispatched for Dr. Fish, who pronounced the injuries internal. Aharan's sufferings were intense. He lingered until the morning of the following Sunday, when death came to his relief. The remains were interred on Sunday afternoon, the funeral being largely attended.—Advocate.

A RICHMOND dispatch of Monday last to the St. John Globe says:—

"The meeting held on Saturday evening to consider the advisability of inviting Sir Hector Langvin and party to visit Richmond was attended by a number of seventy persons. It was resolved to appoint a committee to ascertain if Sir Hector and party would visit the shiretown and in that event to prepare an address to be submitted to a meeting to be held this evening. The committee consists of Gordon Livingston, Caleb Richardson, John Brat, John C. Brown, Henry O'Leary, Dr. Landry and Robert Hutchison. Sir Hector will not visit Richmond."

RAILWAY EXCURSION.—The railway employees at Moncton and Campbellton and between these points held their annual excursion on Saturday last. They came in two trains from Moncton, and one from Campbellton, numbering fully two thousand persons. They had dancing and other amusements on the beautiful "Hamill" field in rear of the Station, in which a large number participated; others enjoyed a trip on the river on board the "Andover." The day was fine, and the enjoyable proceedings were made the more so by the excellent music of the Moncton Cornet Band, led by Prof. White. Messrs. Lester and Macmillan, of Moncton, did good work in making the necessary preparations for the various amusements on the grounds. The excursionists were much pleased with the day spent so enjoyably on the Miramichi.—Advocate.

A SALMON AND AN EEL.—A very curious but possibly, for a wonder, strictly fish story comes from Wedport. On Tuesday a fine salmon, weighing about twenty pounds, leaped about two feet out of the water and landed high and dry on the wharf where the men were working, but the most curious part of it is, that a large eel came out of the water and on to the wharf with it, but whether the salmon had held out of the sea, or the eel was clinging to the tail of the salmon, is not clear. Mr. John Keith was the first to see it at the time and took the salmon home and ate it yesterday morning for breakfast. He says it was in prime condition.—Windsor Mail.

The eel was, no doubt, a lamprey, the habit of which is to attach itself to salmon and other fishes for the purpose of sucking their blood, and the leap of the salmon, in the above-mentioned case, was, in all probability, made for the purpose of breaking the lamprey's hold.

Church Opening.

The Lower Napan Church was duly opened on Sunday afternoon last, with Divine service conducted by Rev. E. Wallace White, of St. Stephen, and assisted by Rev. John Robertson of St. Stephen's, Rev. Robert. The attendance was very large and great interest was manifested throughout the service. The 100th Psalm being sung. Rev. Mr. White read the 6th Chap. of 2nd Chronicles and preached an appropriate sermon from the 17th verse of the 22nd Psalm. Rev. Mr. Robertson also addressed the congregation. The collection amounted to $25.82. We are requested by the committee to return their sincere thanks to those who so liberally contributed to their funds on the occasion.

Change of Tune.

"Where the people in the county make the great mistake is, when on reading the Advance, they imagine that it is Smith who is so abusive. It is not Smith at all. He is a decent enough fellow in his own right, but he has written what he has written in the Regatta every other and other matters of common public interest.—Chatham World.

The Death of William Falconer. At a meeting of Caledonian Division S. of T., Douglashead, held on Tuesday 7th inst., the following was unanimously adopted:—

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God in his wisdom to remove from our midst, and take to himself our worthy brother William Falconer.

Resolved that a letter of sympathy be written to the parents, and also inserted in the local papers.

The following letter was prepared pursuant to the above:—

To the Bereaved, Douglashead, N. B., Aug. 1883.

We, the undersigned, in behalf of the Members of Caledonian Division No. of Temperance, would offer our sympathy in this your great trouble.

We know that little can be said to stay that sorrow of heart, as the heart knows only his own sorrow, yet we know that he who has given can take away, and as a kind father He chastens and can heal. Life at the longest is short in this world, yet you can make it so much more so by the carrying out of justice on men who through ignorance or partiality, defeat the ends of justice and make a mockery of the high and honorable duties of their position. I cannot imagine anything more calculated to incite people to take the law into their own hands and introduce Lynch law and other lawless practices than such forces as was enacted on Saturday last and which resulted in the defeat of the ends of justice.

Yours truly, J. P. BURCHILL.

Centennial Exhibition, 1883.

The following circular is of interest to a good many of our readers:—

The New Brunswick Historical Society propose to make a collection of articles which were used formerly in the houses and the daily business of our Loyalist Fathers, and to display such articles at the Centennial Exhibition which is to be held in the City of Saint John, October next.

They also desire to bring together from different parts all the old portraits, paintings and other works of art which can be obtained, for the purpose of further illustrating the lives and manners of that venerable race of men. A Committee has been appointed by the Society to whom will be specially delegated the work of collecting all these valuable and interesting relics, and who will take every possible precaution to ensure the safe handling, the security and the prompt return of everything entrusted to them for the Exhibition. They will be happy to receive and respectfully solicit your aid and co-operation in the discharge of their duties. All communications on the subject, stating the character and location of any such memorials of the past, with the name and address of the owner, or possessor, will be thankfully received by the Secretary to the Committee, at No. 101, King Street, Saint John, N. B.

W. P. DOLY, Chairman of Committee.

CLARENCE WARD, Secretary.

Saint John, N. B., 2nd July, A. D., 1883.

Correspondence.

Attack on Supervisor Ducey Answered.

To the Editor of the Miramichi Advance. Sir.—I observe in the weekly World of August 2nd, a correspondence signed "St. John Duke," dated July 26th, in which Duke states, that in Mr. Ducey's absence two members of his family took up with themselves to engage me to perform a job of work on the Great Road between Haysden's and South River, promising to pay me with potatoes, etc. I am ready to prove at any time that no member of Mr. Ducey's family ever engaged me to do any such work, and I declare that John Duke's statement published in the weekly World is a most abominable falsehood.

I took a job of work on the Great Road from the present Supervisor, Donald Ducey, Esq., and when I performed it to his satisfaction he paid me the money as he had agreed to do.

CHARLES X. GLIDDEN, mark.

Witnessed by J. J. CAMPBELL, P. Kemoche, N. B., August 6th, 1883.

A Singular Case.

NELSON, August 13th, 1883. To the Editor of the Miramichi Advance. DEAR SIR.—A striking evidence of the security afforded the people by the law of the country when dispensed by some of the gentlemen holding the commission of the peace in this County was afforded at the trial of a prisoner before the Police Magistrate of Newcastle and Justice Street and Lawlor on Saturday last, and a few facts in reference thereto. Burdock Blount, a young man, was charged with a warning as well as prove quite interesting. Several places of business in Nelson were forcibly entered during the month of May last and goods mislaid from each. Amongst these was the shop of Geo. Burchill & Sons, from which place a watch was missing. As I was aware of the No. of the watch and maker's name, it was the first and only case we had, and in order to secure, if possible, the punishment of the guilty party as well as to remove suspicion from others, I determined to follow it up. The watch being out of repair I concluded a watch-maker's shop would be the most likely place to find it and on visiting the places found the missing article at Mr. Moss' shop where it had been left the day after the robbery. I made arrangements with Mr. Moss and Mr. Blair, the Police Magistrate of Chatham, to have the party arrested when he called for the watch, and which was carried into effect about six weeks after.

An examination was held before Mr. Blair and the prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all this, without any witness for the defence at all to show how he came by the property, the prisoner was acquitted. The prisoner was sent for trial at the County Court. At the opening of that Court objection was made to the being tried before Judge Wilkinson as he had advised to prosecute before the three Justices of the Peace. The case came up on Saturday last before the three Justices named above and evidence was produced to prove the watch, having been in the store on the night of the robbery, and Mr. Moss' testimony proved that the watch was in possession of the prisoner, and in the face of all