ANNOUNCED - Messrs. Burpee, Thomas & Co. of St. John, N. B. have announced that they are going to do business for a limited time in their former office in the city of St. John. It was known as Clark, Kerr & Thomas for some time, and was the firm of J. P. Burpee & Co. when it was in existence. It took over the business, which was exclusively a wholesale one.

When Clark, Kerr & Thomas divided the firm between Burpee, Thomas & Co. and Messrs. Burpee, Thomas & Co. were left with the business. They are now doing a general business, and are doing a very good business.

PERSONAL - The Farmer only expresses the feeling of the entire community, when it regrets the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Raoy from Fredericton. Mr. Raoy has been promoted to the position of Inspector for the Merchants' Bank, the third most important office in the city of that institution, and in future will reside in Halifax. He has made himself popular in both business and social circles, and his departure will be a loss to the community. He will be missed by his friends, who will part from him with sincere regret. Mr. Raoy will probably assume his new position the first of April, and will leave his family to Halifax the 1st of May. He will be missed by his friends, who will part from him with sincere regret. BYWATER LEAGUE.

J. L. Stewart, Esq., editor of the World entertained a large audience in the vestry of St. Luke's Methodist Church, on Monday evening the 27th inst., by a lecture, subject, "Children of Genesis."

The lecture was very interesting and well attended. The lecturer introduced the audience to Macaulay, Byron, Shakespeare, Milton, Miller and other standard writers as well as to writers of fiction, dwelling especially on some prominent characters of Dickens and George Eliot.

Many of the characteristic sketches closed with a moral and others with sarcastic remarks to the first home of those who disbelieve the moral law.

The lecture throughout was made unusually interesting and amusing by well arranged anecdotes and the lecturer's well known dry humor; interspersed with graphically described incidents of the advantages of personal acquaintance with men of letters.

A strong appeal was made to parents to cultivate in their children a taste for good reading.

At the close of the lecture a vote of thanks was moved by W. B. Snowball, Esq., seconded by Rev. Thomas Marshall and unanimously carried.

Mr. Stewart may always feel sure of a full house to hear his excellent lectures, this being the second one he has so kindly favored the League with.

Meeting closed with benediction.

uring their consistency and commend their zeal. They were the enthusiasts, from whose ranks came the temperance cranks and fanatics, of whom he (the speaker) was, he supposed, one. The second class, too, he could get along with, as they had sense enough to control themselves before indulgence became a habit.

For the third class, however, he had the most utter contempt. They were absentees because they were too mean to be sought after; and they were not only mean in pocket, but small in mind; who would drink all the rum on the sly that someone else would pay for, who became members of temperance societies in order to secure place and position, who generally managed to get themselves elected to the best office, and if there was any money going contrived to direct most of it into their own pockets. They were the ones who do the shouting, while they let someone else do the real work.

A very money is wanted that is not only a sly further than they can help. Luce, however, they cling to temperance and impede its progress, and are doing us no harm to the temperance movement, less any other cause. Why, someone has said, "The only way to get rid of Mr. Stewart is to send him to the other side of the world."

Mr. Stewart is a man of great energy, and so small-minded that they won't read the ADVANCE newspaper, because it dares to criticize their methods and while I would not recommend that paper to my family as the only thing they should read, yet it is the medium through which the views of the other side were expressed, as is asserted, how we know that they are or how to meet them, unless we consult so good an authority.

It must, said Mr. Merceuson, have been some of that class from whom emanated a letter in the Advocate of February 8th, made up largely of misrepresentation and falsehood, because the courts of this country are not run in the same narrow groove as they were in the days of the grog, as they are decided by the jury, having sworn testimony, which they had not sworn they would do at the sheriff, they and everybody connected with it.

Some of them are finding fault with the sheriff did not put the whole Conway family in the lockup, after their arrest and kept them there for some days, or until an examination was had. Why, the lockup was not a fit place to keep a pig in for any length of time.

Mr. L. Robinson - It is a good thing for a rascal to be (See an issue and applause.)

Mr. Merceuson continuing said he was not there to defend the Conway, or to plead their cause. That had been settled by the proper court, but he was there to point out their rights and the wrongs of the law for everyone, whether it were a rascal, an Indian, a temperance man or woman, or an officer of the law, and he failed to see why an officer should be justified in violating one law while attempting to punish the violation of another.

Again, although a man who professes temperance may be dishonest in his business, or immoral, or anything else that was bad, yet, because he is "a temperance man" the ordinary citizen is expected to look on him with respect, and to do up to everything he says or does. For his part, he was not made of that kind of material, but felt bound to say what he believed to be true, no matter who disagreed with him; although he knew that the man who had thought him up and picked enough to express them and refused to be run on the narrow groove of these same people they sat upon and endeavored to discredit him in every way.

If the Scott Act was not the success it ought to be, whose fault is it? Is it the temperance people themselves? Four fifths of all the assistance the inspector has received has come from persons who are not allied with the temperance party at all, and who sometimes indulge themselves moderately. As some of those temperance people who they don't assist the inspector by collecting evidence for him, and the almost invariable assurance that it would injure their business.

"And, yet," said the speaker - "we do not like to tell that we are temperance people from police just 'till the sun sets.'" Were there more of principle and less of policy, there would be a more vigorous enforcement of the law at the present time.

The foregoing is not, by any means, a report of Mr. Merceuson's whole speech. He said all this and much more, and it is needless to say that the temperance people of the "third class" are denouncing him, while those of the first and second class, while saying they might have put a little more sugar around the pill, think it cannot be too good.
