

A WOMAN'S FACE

PLAINLY INDICATES THE CONDITION OF HER HEALTH.

Brady's... Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People... A young woman with a pale face, a yellowish tinge to the skin, and a general air of weakness...

Another thought occurred to her one day. What if her future? Had any provision been made for it? Or, when the quarter was over, would Dr. Lester send him away? In all conscience and in all honor she was bound to provide for him; he wished to do so. She would have shared her fortune with him; she would have given him all she had—all save Lancelwood.

She pondered over this long and anxiously. She had no wish or desire to be imprudent; perhaps her seeming immunity from all danger made her reckless. She resolved upon seeing Dr. Lester himself. Amongst the number of people whom the master of Lancelwood had seen, she had never seen Dr. Lester before.

The doctor had asked one or two questions about the boy, and Gerald had answered them, and so he knew nothing either of his friends or of his presence. Hearing, therefore, that a very beautiful lady, who had been a friend of his mother's, often came to the school, he went to see her.

Dr. Lester was a man of science. He was not able to do so; he knew nothing either of his friends or of his presence. Hearing, therefore, that a very beautiful lady, who had been a friend of his mother's, often came to the school, he went to see her.

Through Storm and Sunshine

"Evidently a poor relation," thought the doctor. "I thought he was a protegee," he said aloud. "Perhaps he is related to you, my lord? He will be a clever man some day."

"My dear doctor," returned Lord St. Just, "you will think me very obtuse, but I have not the faintest idea of what you mean."

"Dorman," repeated the peer; "why, he is dead, I attended his funeral some time ago." "Ah," said the doctor, "that would be the elder Dorman; this is the younger."

"There is no younger. I have heard Lady St. Just say that there were two brothers. One is a solitary book-worm who has an appointment as librarian on the Continent somewhere."

"I am very glad to hear that," said Lord St. Just. "I have heard your lordship mentioned in connection with my father's name."

"I am very glad to hear that," said Lord St. Just. "I have heard your lordship mentioned in connection with my father's name." "I am very glad to hear that," said Lord St. Just.

A GREAT TRAVELER

Dr. George E. Morrison, Fellow Correspondent of the London Times...

His next adventure was a 1,900-mile walk across the Australian continent...

He took up medicine in 1887, and received his M.D. in 1888...

In 1893 he traveled through China, Japan and the Philippines Islands...

People are growing more incredulous each year, remarked the man who... ALWAYS BELIEVED.

Intense Heat and Many Deaths.

Dreadful Sufferings Among the Poor and the Weak—Low Vitality Unable to Hold Out Against High Temperature—Safety in the Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (Pills), the Great Blood and Nerve Builder.

The very old, the very young, and many in middle life, whose health was at a low ebb, met an untimely death...

In this not an emphatic warning against allowing the system to become run down in the summer time?

"I am exalted to say, doctor," said Lord St. Just, laughing, "that I do not believe I have a protegee, in your sense of the word."

The enormous sale of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (Pills) attests its popularity...

By its wonderful invigorating, strengthening and life-sustaining qualities, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (Pills) makes life worth living even in the summer time.
