

King Manuel II. Takes Refuge at Gibraltar While Loyalists Do Battle in Lisbon Streets

Spain Has Not Recognized Republicans and Canalejas Professes to Believe Provisional Government is Not Firmly Established--Royal Family at Gibraltar Under British Protection.

Gibraltar, Oct. 6.—King Manuel of Portugal is now under British protection. The Portuguese royal yacht Amelie having on board the king, the queen mother, the dowager queen, and the Duke of Oporto, entered this harbor at 11 o'clock this evening. Shortly afterwards the king and the queen mother came ashore and drove to the summer residence of the governor, Sir Frederick Forestier-Walker, at Europa Point. Judging from the appearance of the crew which manned the Amelie they were gotten together hurriedly.

That King Manuel is safe out of Portugal is disclosed by despatches from Gibraltar which say that he landed there Thursday night in company with the queen mother, the dowager queen and the Duke of Oporto. The royal family of Portugal is therefore now under British protection. A rigorous censorship still prevents the details of occurrences in Lisbon from becoming known, but despatches that have come by way of the frontier and direct, indicate that the fighting in the Portuguese capital was of longer duration and of a more severe nature than at first reported.

Nothing is known of Thursday's events at Lisbon, and this in connection with the statements made by Premier Canalejas to the Spanish chamber of deputies, that the government was not cognizant of the establishment of a provisional government at Lisbon, and that reports had come to him that fighting in the streets had been renewed, together with the Lisbon despatch that a portion of the entrenched troops had refused to adhere to the republicans shows that the provisional government has been obliged to take precautions against a loyalist attack.

The situation in the provinces also is very doubtful. A delayed despatch from Oporto gives brief details of demonstrations held there on the day after the rising occurred at Lisbon. Since then, however, word from Oporto indicates that quiet had been restored.

Notification has been sent to the foreign governments by the provisional government of the proclamation of the republic.

Rome, Oct. 6.—Although the papal nuncio at Lisbon has not yet been able to communicate to the Vatican the opinion prevailing there concerning the revolutionary movement, the opinion is held at the Vatican that the last word on the Braganza dynasty has not been spoken.

Hope is expressed at the Vatican that the events in Portugal may prove a lesson to Spain where, according to the church authorities, King Alfonso is making the mistake of relying on the progressive elements which are unfaithful, while at the same time he is alienating the loyalty of the conservative Catholics.

Lisbon, Oct. 6.—While the city of Lisbon is in the hands of the republicans, the king and queen are at Gibraltar under British protection.

CONNOLLY CASE TO JURY TODAY

Crown Closed Unexpectedly at Noon Yesterday and Defence was Not Ready—Nothing New in Evidence.

Moncton, Oct. 6.—Good progress was made in the Connolly case today. The Crown unexpectedly closed its case shortly after noon and Mr. Fowler, for the defence, announced that owing to this fact, all the witnesses expected for the defence were not on hand.

The jury selected were—George W. Barbour, William H. Brewster, Samuel T. Stevens, Manning Steeves, Norman L. Smith, Amos F. Turner, Noble Steeves, Harry J. Steeves, Walter Parkin, Rufus P. Palmer, Edmund A. Hawkes and Mariner T. Steeves.

After the solicitor general had briefly reviewed the facts of the case the following witnesses gave evidence for the Crown, Chief of Police Rideout of Moncton; Mrs. Jeannette Beecham; Annie McDonald; Jeanette Powers and Frank C. Mitton.

The evidence was practically the same as that given at the preliminary examination telling of what took place at the dance at the McDonald farm.

None of the witnesses were very clear as to what occurred, though several of them said the two men engaged in a fight and a blow was struck.

William Trites and Mrs. Howard had been called for the defence when the court adjourned at 5 o'clock yesterday. It is likely the case will go to the jury tomorrow.

FREE BAPTISTS FOR PROHIBITION

Portland, Me., Oct. 6.—Most emphatically did the Maine Free Baptist association declare itself in favor of the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of liquors in Maine and unqualifiedly opposed to high or low license today at the closing business session of the annual convention.

The resolution adopted pledges the denomination to unite with the "brethren of other denominations and all other friends of temperance, to perpetuate and enforce our principles of prohibition."

The officers were re-elected including the present state secretary Carl E. Milliken, of Island Falls; Prof. A. W. Anthony, of Lewiston, was chosen a member of the interdenominational commission for three years. Rev. J. E. Mr. Partridge left for New York today declaring that he was going to put the matter before officials "high or up."

REPUBLICANS CHOOSE DRAPER TO HEAD TICKET

Convention was Uneventful and Candidates were all Re-nominated—Democrats Divided on Second Ballot.

HAMLIN SUPPORT THEN WITHDRAWN.

Boston, Oct. 6.—Following the announcement of the first ballot at the Democratic convention, a tumult fully as noisy as any that took place at Springfield, occurred. Martin Lomasney, of Ward 8, Boston, a Fox supporter, was elected.

EUGENE N. FOSS, Retained on the Second Ballot by the Democrats.

porter urged a second ballot immediately and urged all delegates to remain.

Congressman John A. Kellher of Boston, a supporter of Hamlin, threw what seemed a firebrand by a denunciation of some of the methods used in the convention, and while he said that the convention should be congratulated on being a deliberative one up to this point, there were elements who wanted to turn it into a Springfield affair.

Mr. Kellher's remarks stirred the entire hall. There were yells, shouts, and cheers, and cries for a vote.

Senator Jas. H. Doyle, of Boston then jumped on the platform and said he was a supporter of candidate Hamlin, and he urged all Hamlin men to vote for candidate Vahey. This was the first intimation of any weakening on the part of the supporters of any of the candidates.

Following a moros of years the second ballot was introduced at 9 o'clock, the method being the same as observed in the first ballot, although two ballot boxes were used instead of one.

Republicans' Choice. Boston, Oct. 6.—Precedent ruled the Republican State Convention, and Governor Eben S. Draper was named by acclamation for a third term today.

It has been many years since a Republican governor has been re-elected in this state. At the first nomination in this state, other officers selected today were re-nominated with the same unanimity, the name of Jas. M. Swift, of Fall River, which was introduced for the attorney generalship, and the present holder, Dana Malone had declined to be a candidate, being accepted by the prevailing method.

The full ticket follows—For Governor, Eben S. Draper, of Hopdale; for Lieutenant-Governor, Louis A. Frothingham, of Boston; for secretary of State, William N. Olin, of Boston; for Treasurer and Receiver-General, Elmer E. Stevens, of Somerville; for Auditor of Accounts, Henry E. Turner, of Malden; for Attorney General, James M. Swift of Fall River.

There was not the slightest jar to the smoothness and precision with which the programme of the convention was carried as arranged by the leaders last night, after the insistence of Speaker Joe Walker, of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, had prevailed with the committee on resolutions and a plank favoring a permanent tariff commission, and revision by schedule when conditions warrant the step, had been accepted.

GLOUCESTER ORE AWAITS SHIPMENT

First Trainload Arrives at Newcastle and Steamer Will Go Forward on Monday--New Pocket Will Accommodate 13,000 Tons and Shipping Facilities Are All on Large Scale.

Special to The Standard.

Newcastle, Oct. 6.—That the development of the iron ore of Gloucester county—one of the most valuable assets of the natural resources of New Brunswick—has attained an immense proportion, was unquestionably demonstrated here today with the arrival of one thousand tons at the terminals to await the initial export on Monday next. The much talked of Drummond enterprise is no longer in its infancy.

Five thousand tons of ore will mark the first shipment from Newcastle, the ore being taken to Pennsylvania.

Engineer W. P. C. Parsons, the man who was chiefly instrumental in the success of the present project, was very optimistic when greeted. The Standard correspondent at the Miramichi Hotel.

The trainload of ore, which arrived at the terminal yesterday comprised twenty-two cars. A similar consignment arrived today, and one thousand tons will come daily from Nepisiguit Junction until Monday next. The unloading of the train into the pocket was quickly dispatched.

The pocket is an immense one with a capacity of 10,000 tons, but in emergency cases 13,000 tons may be stored there. It is impossible to estimate the future extent of the local terminals and docks. The machinery itself placed in position by the Brown MacCallum Company, Ltd., of Trenton, U. S., at a cost of several thousands of dollars, has a loading power of 3,000 tons of ore per hour. When the first shipment is made the machinery will, however, not be worked to its fullest capacity, the 5,000 tons being loaded in approximately two hours.

The first shipment of the ore to the terminals on Wednesday attracted several officials from Newcastle, including H. H. Bray, chief train dispatcher; Percy Harrimund, Gideon Payne and Peter McEachern and Trackmaster McPherson.

Altogether the Drummond proposition is entertained very favorably in Gloucester and Northumberland counties, and with more extended developments, still greater results will be achieved in bringing the natural resources of the province more prominently to the forefront.

NEW OIL WELL RECORD GUSHER

5,000,000 Feet of Gas the Product of Well Tapped in Stoney Creek Area Yesterday.

Moncton, Oct. 6.—A report from the Stoney Creek area of the Maritime Oil fields states that Well No. 15, bored to a depth of 1440 feet is the largest gas producer yet struck, the capacity being placed at over five million feet daily.

The third sands were struck at 1375 feet, and further boring showed an increased pressure. This well is some distance from the others, north and west, in the direction of Moncton.

The officials of the company are highly elated with the results as indicating that the Stoney Creek area alone will be equal to the supply of the city of Moncton for fuel and power as well as lighting. The daily capacity of wells already struck is about fifteen million feet.

TEMPLEMAN TAKES PART IN A FIST FIGHT

Minister of Inland Revenue a Party to Disgraceful Scene in Victoria Post Office—Floored by Opponent

VICTOR LIBERAL MEMBER IN B. C.

Special to The Standard. Victoria, B. C., Oct. 6.—The spectacle unique in Canadian politics of a stand up fight between a Dominion cabinet minister and a Liberal member of a provincial legislature was witnessed in the local post office today.

The participants being Hon. Wm. Templeman and John J. Jardine, M. P., P. P. for Esquimalt. Jardine objected to the allotment of federal posts in his district without the assent of the Liberal executive having any say in the matter.

Templeman refused to entertain the objection, whereupon Jardine sprang over the counter of the office and struck the cabinet minister a resounding blow in the chest. Templeman stepping back swung a blow at his opponent but missed, and Jardine with a straight left to the face sent the minister to the floor.

The scrap was continued on the ground until other persons separated the contestants. Mr. Templeman is confined to his house recovering from his injuries.

ONE DAY MORE FOR CONTEST

Too Bad Now if Lack of Little Extra Effort Would Rob you of Prize After Many Hopes and Fears.

As the last day of the contest draws near, only a matter of hours, one can but "work and wait." All things, says the adage, come to those who wait. An improvement is suggested that "all things come to those who hustle while they wait." The day for miracles has passed and we can only rely upon our own efforts with confidence. Lots of people will help us if we show a spirit of self helpfulness. We must be interested ourselves to enable us to interest others—and so it is with our former contestants. Those who have been fired by a strong desire to win the great tour are pretty near to getting there. Dozens of subscriptions have come from friends of the girls which would never have been heard of but for that enthusiasm which suggested to the girls that they call on so and so.

The call, disappointing at the moment, because the man was busy or unable to see the force of subscribing just then—was not unproductive. The little talk set the subscriber thinking and remembering the enthusiasm displayed by the girls, the evident desire Continued on page 3.
