

CHURCH OF ENGLAND IN ANNUAL SESSION HERE

vain attempt to bolster up a tottering cause. Not to such things as these do we look alone or even chiefly in substitution of our claims that Germany intended war, but to the tortuous trend of German politics for twenty years and more, to the destructive text of German teaching from platform and from press, to the mass machinations of the German secret service to Germany's wholesale subsidizing of a foreign press, to the mad ambitions of Pan-Germanic lust, to the constant menace of the German war machine, to the open challenge of her ambitious navy, to the brutal arrogance of mailed fist and "shining armor," to the things we look for and in these things we find, the overwhelming evidence that Germany wanted war.

That Great Britain's national honor was involved. That is the second argument against which Germany appeals in vain to the judgement of the world. Again I ask you: Where lies the proof? But this time, my friends, in every speaking of it. The proof is stated in a single sentence. Nay, it is written in a single word—Belgium. There was the irresistible appeal to British honor—the pledged neutrality of Belgium. That neutrality to which more than seventy years ago the great powers of Europe set their solemn seal. That neutrality to which Germany, together with France, assented in the Franco-Prussian war. And that neutrality, which, with a shameful cynicism, Germany violated under the specious plea that necessity knows no law; that the urgency of military purposes absolve a nation from the keeping of its word. Pledged to protect the neutrality of Belgium, Great Britain could only have escaped war at the price of national dishonor.

That the safety of the Empire was at stake. That was the third clear conviction, under whose pressure Great Britain drew the sword. Had there been no such clear conviction, war there must still have been. Had there been no considerations of the Empire's safety, Great Britain would still have played her part. But it is none the less true that she played it on her arm in the sober consciousness that she was fighting for her life. "The Day" had dawned at last: "The Day" for which the Germans had looked so long. "The Day" to which they had so often drunk in solemn silence. "The Day" of onslaught on an Empire whose success they envied, and whose people they despised. "The Day" for the testing of ties, not forged as fetters in the fires of armed force, but woven as silken threads in the looms of liberty and love.

Herein, then, lies the Empire's vindication for this war. The war was made in Germany. Great Britain's national honor was at stake, the safety of the Empire was at stake.

What is the duty of the Church in this great crisis of our national history—in this great peril epoch of our country's life? That is the question to which I want to address myself in the moments that remain. What is the Church's duty? The first duty of the Church is to be superficial duty, it may be, but certainly the first—is to send her sons to fight for our heritage of liberty. There might be delicate, which the church would hesitate to take her part. There might be wars upon which the Church could not set the seal of her approval. There might be wars to which she could not refuse to send her sons. But this is no such war. Here is no war under taken for the purpose of robbing aggression. Here is no war directed against the pomp and panoply of pride. Here is no war led on by and waged only for the extension of an Empire's commerce. But here is a war, whose manifest issues are those of truth and righteousness, and from such a war the Church need never shrink,—she dare not shrink,—no matter what the pains and penalties.

"Mammon, the least erected spirit that fell from heaven,"

My fellow-Churchmen, in many a respect this Church of ours has failed to do her duty. But here is her aim and efforts she has missed the mark. Her history has been one of frequent failure. Her duty compels her to confess it. But, at least, we may well rejoice, that when the war trumpet sounded, and there came to Canada the call to arms, the sons of England's Church, here no less eagerly than in the Mother Land, were ready with their instant answer. Always will it be for us a cause for honest pride—aye, and for those who tremble and low us—that of the first contingent which Canada sent across the sea, fully sixty-two per cent, worship as we worship, and believe as we believe, as Bishops of the Diocese, I rejoice to know that members of this Synod,

UNSTRUNG, UNSTEADY SHAKY NERVES

MAY BE TONED UP BY USING MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. John Harper, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for the heart and nervous system. I was confined to a grocery store for twelve years, and had to give up business, as I became terribly run down and nervous, and had heart trouble. I am sure I am gaining very much now. I feel that nothing did me any good until I tried your Heart and Nerve Pills, and I am positive they will cure me. The nerves of one hand were trembling, and then seem to numb so that I could not write or sew. Now my hand is quite steady, as you can see by my handwriting. This is a big change, which delights me so much for I thought all was done that could be done. I was about to give up in despair when I tried this last remedy, and after, I had only taken half a box the change started to come."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will restore the enfeebled, enervated, exhausted, overworked system to full constitutional power.

Price, 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

clergy and laity alike, have not hesitated to lay their best and bravest on the altar of the Empire's need. It is a cause for satisfaction, also, that the ranks of our own clergy there are going forth those, whose priceless privilege it is to preach the Gospel of the Prince of Peace even on the field of battle. Let them take up their task strong in the assurance that they, and those who, in deadlier danger, are fighting in the ranks, will everywhere and always be followed by our prayers. To the faithful, then, throughout the Diocese I give this solemn charge—The Empire calls for men; let not the Empire call in vain. It is the call of duty. It is the voice of honor that we hear. It is the cry of a mother to her children. What shall be the answer?

But the duty of the Church is not alone to give her sons. There remains a deeper duty—a duty still more difficult—a duty of even greater moment. Not alone to give her sons to fight for freedom, but to give herself—to give herself in a more earnest effort to strengthen and sustain the Empire in its relationship to God. Who does not know that she is not sure—there is need of such a strengthening and sustaining? Never before has there come to the Empire such a challenge. Never before have such deep dangers been made upon the nation's manhood. Never before was the nation's heart so deeply stirred. Never before have been so great the possibilities of good and evil. It is in this time, in this time, that I speak of the Church's duty to sustain and strengthen. I am not one of those who speak lightly of this awful war as being God's scourge upon a nation. I am not prepared to hold Providence responsible for every outbreak of war and pestilence upon the earth. dare not look upon the ruined cities of Belgium, upon its ruined cities, upon its desolated fane, upon its weeping women, and say,

"SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR CONSTIPATED CHILD

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste, and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without gripping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breathless, look at the bottle of "Fruit Laxative," and in a few hours all the food, constipated waste, sour bile, indigestion, colds, coughs, croup, and all the troubles of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, cold, remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child a troublesome ailment. Beware of counterfeiters sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine and only "California Fig Syrup Company."

CUTHBERT TOUR TO PANAMA EXPOSITION

There will be no Cuthbert-Shaffer tour to Europe during 1915, but one of their old time private trains will leave Toronto early in July to make the tour of the West, including San Diego and San Francisco Expositions, returning via Canadian Pacific, Vancouver and Winnipeg, enabling the party to view the magnificent Rocky Mountains scenery and visit the palatial Canadian Pacific hotels, which have a world-wide reputation for the high standard of service offered to the travelling public.

The hundreds of patrons who have made this trip under their management will testify that there is no cheaper, jollier, more comprehensive or comfortable way to go. Write for particulars up to February 15th to E. J. Cuthbert, Pasadena, Calif., R. R. No. 1, after February 15th to 321 Jarvis street, Toronto, Ont.

FUNERALS.

J. T. Allan Dibbles.

Woodstock, Feb. 2.—The funeral of J. T. Allan Dibbles was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of the deceased. The remains were taken to St. Luke's church, which was filled to the doors. The choir sang the hymns, "Lead Kindly Light" and "Nearer My God to Thee." The funeral procession then reformed headed by the Knights of Pythias and followed by the Masons members of the School Board and town council. All the stores on Main street had the blinds down as the funeral passed. The pall bearers were two sons of the deceased, W. Jack, and George and two sons-in-law, H. R. Bruce and R. N. Leane. The burial was in the Church of England burying ground.

Wm. Charleston.

Newcastle, Feb. 2.—The funeral of late Wm. Charleston, who died on Sunday afternoon, aged sixty-five, was held in the Anglican Church this morning. Rev. W. J. Bate officiating. Deceased was born in several months. He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Allison of Chapin Island Road, a brother, Samuel, and sister, Mary, in Campbellton, a sister, Mrs. Wm. Houston, in Williamsburg, and two daughters, Mrs. Cornelius McCafferty, Newcastle, and Miss Elizabeth at home.

Votes for Women.

At the meeting of the Anglican Synod yesterday, Rev. Archdeacon Raymond gave notice of motion by which he hopes to have the women of the diocese given the privilege of voting in the election of delegates to the Synod. The matter will come up more fully later.

This hath God wrought. I will not look upon the pitiful graves of little children, slain by an assassin's stealthy hand, and say, it is thus that God punishes England for her sins. I will not place upon the Almighty the responsibility for devil's deeds. I cannot do these things. This is not God's war. It is a war whose seeds were sown in hell. It is the devil's war.

Yet we may well believe that God will use this war, hateful and hideous as it is, for the furtherance of his own great ends—the Empire as well as for the world. We may believe that in the furnace of this affliction there is a fire to purify and purge the Empire from its sins. We may be sure that the war is a crucible of national character, from whose horrors we may pass, if we will to triumph.

What, then, is the duty of the hour for the Church? It is to deepen her own spiritual life, so that more effectively she may minister to the nation's needs. It is to buy up the opportunity before it passes. It is to pass through the door of grace while it is still open. It is to give the Empire an example of prayer and intercession. It is to make much of prayer and intercession. It is to cultivate habits of self-sacrifice. It is to exercise a wise control, and from whom alone we can get help. Let us turn, then, to this task, let us set ourselves. To this duty let us humbly turn. Let us put away all boastful confidence, and look to Him for help, who holdeth the nations in the hollow of His hands, and from whom alone we can get a righteous and abiding peace.

"God of our fathers, known of old, Lord of our far-flung battle line, Beneath whose awful hand we hold Dominion over palm and pine; Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget, lest we forget."

GOOD EVIDENCE SUPPLIES ARE SHORT IN GERMAN EMPIRE

Over 500 Belgians, held Prisoners since beginning of war, sent back to their own country.

Amsterdam, Feb. 2.—(via London, 4.50 p. m.)—The Tjif, in its issue of this afternoon, describes the return to Maastricht, Belgium, of 500 Belgians who have been interned and held in Germany as hostages since the beginning of the German invasion of Belgium. Although there has been no explanation of why the Belgians have been sent back, the opinion generally held, the Tjif says, was that Germany, unable to feed all the prisoners in her hands, was seeking the opportunity to send some of the Belgians back home. The correspondent says the returning Belgians were all ragged and dirty.

Washington, Feb. 2.—President Wilson said today that while he was looking definite toward the making of a peace in Europe at this time, there was a strong growing hope and sentiment for peace all over the world. The President was asked if there was anything definite in sight, but said he was sorry to say there was not.

An Easy Way to Increase Weight. Good Advice for Thin Folks. The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or insist on eating too much. The result is no gain in weight, but a weakening of the system. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called "Sargol." It has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol assists through its regenerative, re-constructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders, any bony disappearance, and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient.

All leading druggists of St. John and vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

Caution—While Sargol gives excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

EXPECTS CANADIANS WILL GIVE A GOOD ACCOUNT OF THEMSELVES

London, Feb. 2.—Presiding at a lecture on "Canada and the War," given by Mr. Hayden of the Canadian Northern at Staines on Saturday, Sir Edward said that he had witnessed a Labor Day demonstration of lumbermen and his instinctive remark had been, "what would not a general give for a regiment of such men."

The war, he said, had now brought many of these men to Britain in the ranks, and with such men there could be no doubt that the Canadian troops would soon be heard of.
