Crew of Annie M. Parker Deserted The Acadia at Halifax After Battling Her With All Sails Set After She Ran Aground-Cook Swept Overboard from Dory to Death.

Including those of the Alette, there were 78 all told on board the Acadia and there were only provisions sufficient for a month. Large pans of ice twenty to thirty feet thick were encountered at the western entrance to the atraits. The ship was hemmed in all round by the ice and those on board began to grow anxious. Captain Anderson decided to take the risk of damaging his vessel by bucking the ice to remaining where he was and allowing the ship to be frozen in for the winter. Butting into the thick ice at full speed, backing and butting again tracks were gradually made and the ship of Cruiser Including those of the Alette, there were 78 all told on board the Acadia FOR FISHERMEN Tuesday, Nov. 4. F. S. McLaughlin, George E. Dalzell, Lawton C. Guptill and P. Dixon, who have fishing interests in Grand Manan, were in the city yesterday, as well as J. F. Ehrgott, of Yarmouth, and Edward lawn, of New York, whose hoats handle much M. the coastwise fishing trade. Mr. McLaughlin said the fishing industry had had a prosperous season in Grand Manan, good catches of herring and cod being made. Sardines were not very plentiful, he added, but were fetch-

A THRILLING TRIP

Ice in Hudson Straits-Has Crew of Abandoned Steamer, Deal Laden, for Hudson Bay Railway Terminal.

Portland, Nov. 5—The death of the cook, and the probable loss of their captain, Vincent Nelson, and three of their mates form part of a tale of the sea brought here tonight by the survivors of the crew of the Gloucester fisherman Annie M. Parker.

The fact that their abandonment of the stranded schooner near Nantucket and the loss of life was unnecessary, was not known to the crew until word reach.

Halifax, Nov. 5—The sturdy little government survey ship Acadia arrived in port today from Hudson Bay with tales of shipwreck, fierce struggles with ice in the Far North, and a new island formed of sand off Sable Island itself.

The Acadia has on board the shipwrecked crew of the freighter Alette, twenty-eight all told, who were with great difficulty taken off that vessel by the lifeboats of the Acadia, when the
